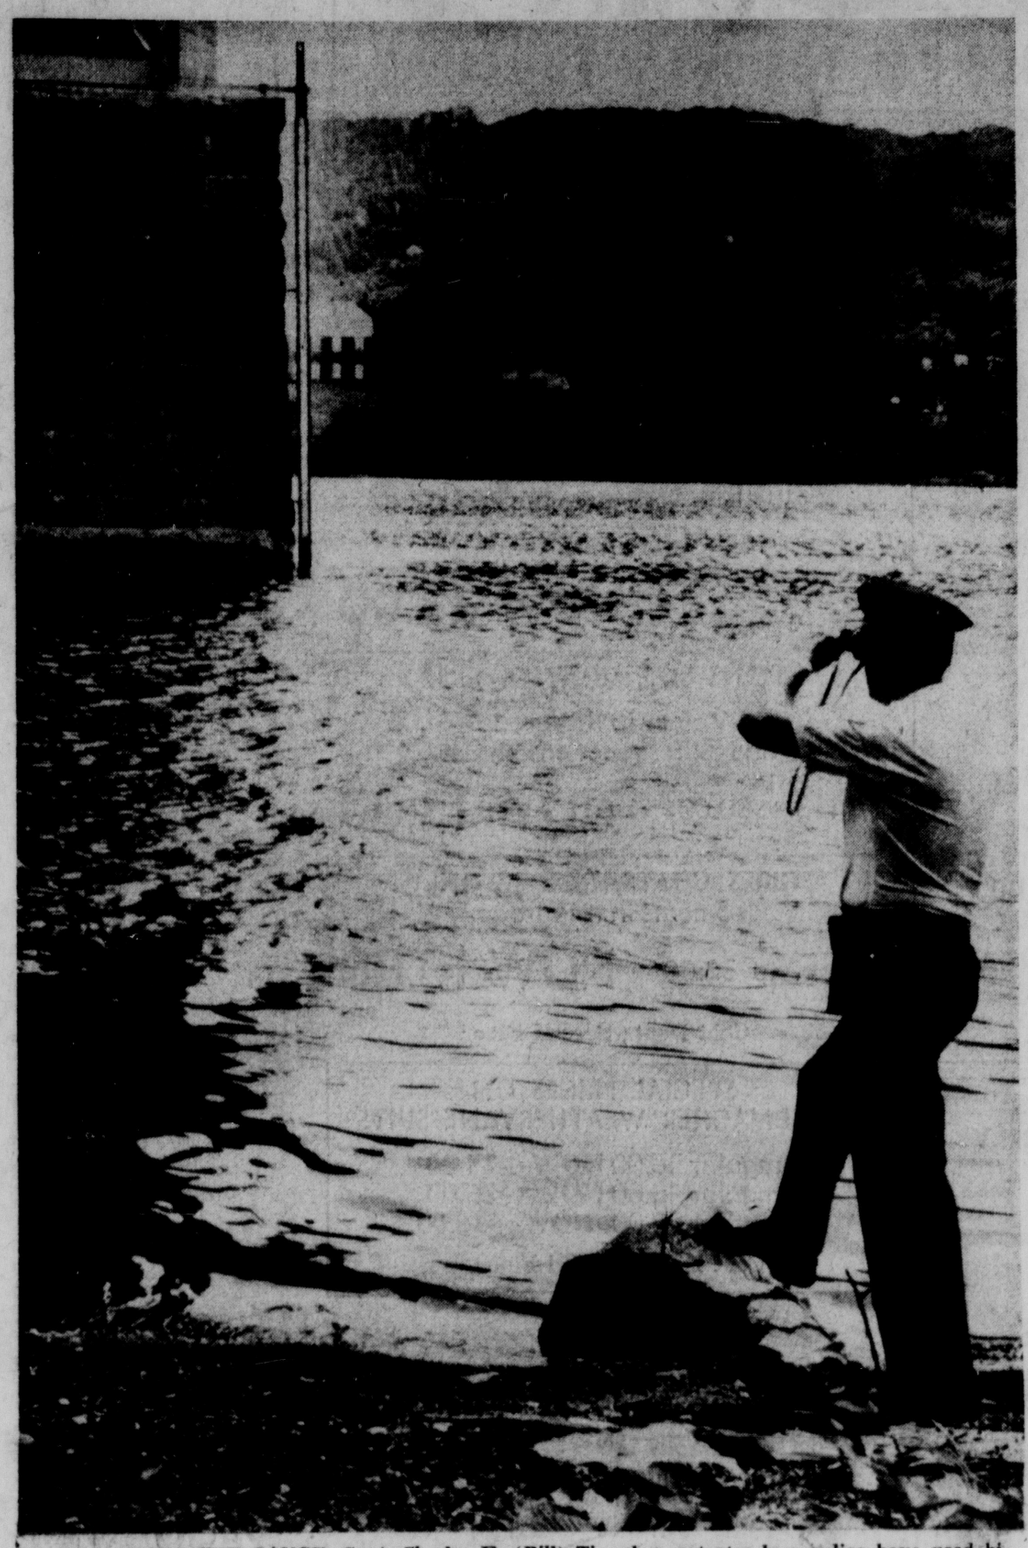
Flood Device To Be Moved

River Gauge Home Sought



CHECKING THE GAUGE. Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice demonstrates how police have used binoculars for the last five years to check figures on the river gauge on a pier on the condemned Chester Bridge, reporting the data to Pittsburgh authorities during times when the stream was on a rampage. With the bridge scheduled to be dismantled, the gauge needs a new "home."

By ROBERT POPP

East Liverpool's flood gauge, mounted on a pier of the Chester Bridge, is due to be "dispossessed" when the Ohio Highway Department lets a contract for razing the condemned span.

No one has found a new home for the gauge, which is unneeded for most of the year when the Ohio River lies quietly at pool stage. But it becomes closely watched for a few days every spring when melting snows and heavy rains send the stream surging upward.

The river watcher's guide apparently will need only a temporary home — a spot where it can gauge the stream for the interval of two years or more between razing of the old Chester span and the erection of the new bridge just upstream. When West Virginia builds a new four-lane toll bridge across Babb's Island, the gauge is expected to find a permanent spot on one of the piers.

A CANVASS of available riverfront locations shows a pier of the Newell Bridge probably offers the best temporary location for the gauge.

The privately - owned span is closed to the downtown area, which is a major factor because the police department has the task of taking regular readings during high water and relaying the information to the Federal-State Flood Forecasting Service at Pittsburgh.

The forecasting service uses the data relayed from all the river points — both upstream and downstream from Pittsburgh — to issue its predictions of the expected crests all along the Ohio.

The predicted crests then are reported to a public agency in each city which has the responsibility of relaying the information to all other affected groups —municipal officials, news media, the Civil Defense office the Red Cross and others.

There are a couple more riverfront locations that might serve to hold the gauge 'em-

Hundreds Of Cubans Pour Across Border At Mexico

MIAMI (AP) — By boat, barrel and bravado, hundreds of Cubans are illegally entering the United States from Mexico.

About 500 are known to have crossed the border at points from Texas to Arizona during the first four months of 1969. Concerned U.S. officials have stepped up enforcement, and at the same time loosened other regulations, in a bid to stem the tide. They think they're succeeding.

A change last year in immigration law has spurred the illegal entries by lengthening the time Cubans who try to come legally from Mexico must wait for a visa.

The law imposed a 120,000-person annual limit on the number of immigrants who can come to the United States annually from other western hemisphere nations. Previously there was no limit.

The rate of legal Cuban immigration has dropped by more than 80 per cent in the last year, but this does not include the more han 3,000 Cubans a month who come on direct refugee flights from Havana.

Most Cubans get to Mexico City legally. But once here,

Autopsy Slated In Death Of Exiled African Leader

ALGIERS (AP) — Moise Tshombe, known as the "rubber man" of African politics, died Sunday of an apparent heart attack, The Algerian Press Service reported today. He was 49.

A communique signed by 10 Algerian doctors said the former premier of the Congo and leader of the breakaway state of Katanga appeared to have died in his sleep. It said an autopsy was to performed today.

The announcement of Tshombe's death came two years to the day after a French plane hijacker brought him to Algeria at gunpoint. The plane had been chartered to take Tshombe from Spain, where he had been living in exile, to Palma de Majorca.

After a deal fell through between Algeria and the Congo to extradite Tshombe to Kinshasa (formerly Leopoldville to face a death sentence. Tshombe's status became veiled in official silence. He was kept in solitary confinement for two years, well treated but denied contact with the outside world.

Seven Battalions Thrown Into Fight Against Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — Seven battalions of fresh South Vietnamese troops launched a new drive around Ben Het during the weekend, government headquarters announced today. It followed a 20-day sweep in which government soldiers claimed killing 254 North Vietnamese.

The first operation was launched June 8 and ended Saturday. Spokesmen said it was entered 6 miles south of the Special Forces camp in the Central Highlands and they reported 21 South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and 107 wounded.

Government headquarters said about 25 per cent of the enemy dead were killed by massive American air and artillery strikes.

Spokesmen said the battalions participating in the new drive—named "Will Win"—were flown in by helicopter from other bases in the Central Highlands to replace battle-weary troops. So far they have reported no significant contact with the enemy, but North Vietnamese gunners hit on of their night camps with 50 rockets and mortar shells Sunday night.

Field reports said one South Vietnamese soldier was killed and one was wounded. They indicated the North Vietnamese troops got within 100 yards of the camp but launched no ground assault and were driven off by U.S. planes and artillery.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese gunners eased pressure on Ben Het itself, giving the surrounded camp its calmest weekend since May 1.

U.S. officers at Ben Het estimated that 1,000 - 3,000 North Vietnamese troops around the camp had pulled back, apparently hurt by the massive U.S. bombing.

Officers said the enemy force estimated at two regiments apparently had pulled out, leaving

FAA Offers New Flight Plan System

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed a new technique of handling air traffic to relieve congested air lanes, improve safety and reduce flying times by allowing more direct flights between airports.

The new program, called area navigation and made possible by better computerized navigation equipment, would gradually replace a system that restricts airplanes to narrow routes between navigation stations, in effect making them fly dogleg paths from one radio beacon to the next.

It would allow them to fly through vast areas now unuseable because they are not directly between radio beacons.

In a notice of proposed rulemaking last week, the FAA set out its plan to establish new area navigation routes, or multiple flight paths. Instead of flying from beacon to beacon, airplanes would, in effect, be able to generate their own phantom beacons in a straighter line.

William M. Flener, chief of the FAA's air traffic service, said the agency has a broad development program aimed at putting area navigation equip-

8 Big Steel Coils Roll Off Trailer

Two nearby properties were damaged Saturday night when eight coils of stainless steel weighing 600 to 800 pounds apiece rolled off a tractor-trailer as it rounded the turn on Pennsylvania Ave. at Boyce St. and Park Way.

The coils rolled from a 1968 model rig driven by James D. Rawson, 27, of Joliet, Ill., damaging a sidewalk and wire fence at a property at 1099 Pennsylvania Ave. owned by Dale White and a picket fence and blacktop driveway at the Petrosol Service Station owned by Jay Roberts of 717 Alton St., police ssaid.

The falling coils also damaged the pavement on Pennsylvania Ave. and a city - owned route marker standard.

The mishap was timed at 7:20. Rawson told Patrolman Charles Coen the rig's load shifted as he rounded the turn. He was driving a truck owned by William L. Pease of Lisbon RD 2. Rawson was cited on a charge of operating a vehicle with an insecure load.

A 6-YEAR-OLD Pleasant Heights boy apparently escaped serious injury in a collision between his bicycle and an auto Sunday at 8:25 p.m. on Belmar Ave. at Idaho Ave., officers said.

Randy J. Mathias, son of John Mathias of 701 Belmar Ave., was taken to City Hospital after the mishap that involved his bike and a 1966 sedan operated by Carl L. Smith, 36, of Chester RD 1. The boy was released to see his family physician today, officers said.

Smith told police he was driving on Belmar Ave. when the boy on the bicycle emerged from Idaho Ave. and hit his car on the right front door. The boy was taken to the hospital by his father.

Extension Of Surtax Due Crucial Test In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican political arithmetic is pointing toward House approval of President Nixon's proposed surtax extension, but party discipline must hold and supporters concede their margin is narrow.

The extension bill, facing a crucial House test today, has Democratic as well as Republican leaders supporting it. But a large block of Democrats has opposed any long extension until the broader issue of tax reform has been settled.

Nixon forces have given top priority to extending the surtax at 10 per cent through Dec. 31 and then at 5 per cent through June 30, 1970 as part of the administration's anti-inflation moves.

House passage doesn't assure the extension since Senate Democrats are determined to write some meaningful tax-law changes. They call it closing loopholes, and insist the people back home won't stand for any delay.

Passage of the surtax at Nixon's proposed level would bring in an estimated $7.64 billion in the first year and contribute to a $6.3 billion surplus in the unified government budget.

The administration contends such a surplus is desperately needed to dampen inflation, reduce the government's competition for scarce credit and bolster confidence in the dollar abroad.

If Congress fails to approve, an administration spokesman predicted, the psychological effect would be devastating — more inflation with businesses and individuals rushing to buy and borrow, thus feeding the inflation.

The opposition contends the FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. AP — Anybody want to buy a nice morgue?

What about 1,876 lids for 20-gallon garbage cans? Or 10 electric potato peelers?

Better yet, how about 29 mail boxes with 54 holes each? Or nine mail boxes with 80 holes?

19 Surfacing Jobs Planned For Summer

Nineteen street segments were listed in all for the city's annual summer low-cost surfacing program when the deadline for property owners' petitions passed Saturday at City Hall.

Nine petitions were filed in the 24 hours prior to the deadline, as Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey reported 10 jobs had been requested as of Friday morning.

The new petitions covered these stretches:

The north side of Etruria St. from Palissey St. to Wedgewood St.; upper Allison St. between an unknown alley and Gardendale Ave.; an unnamed alley from Allison St. to Smithfield St.; North St. from Jennings Ave. eastward to the end.

Ridge Alley from Sylvan St. to Central Ave.; Waterloo St. from Peake St. to a deadend; Mahoning Alley between Belmar St. and Sanford Ave.; Ridge Alley from Cuba Alley to Central Ave., and Burford St. from Hubbard St. to a deadend.

The previous petitions, listed Saturday, covered stretches of Vinton St., Carson Alley, Cuba Alley, Cone Alley, Laura Ave., Illinois Ave., McKee St., Riley Ave., Ajax Alley and Montana Ave.

The administration is scheduled to open bids July 11 on the annual program, as well as a separate blacktop project for surfacing of six streets.

The city splits the cost of the low-cost surfacing with property owners on a 50-50 basis. All streets previously surfaced in the low-cost program are due for seal-coating this summer without cost to the property owners.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I clean straw matting?

A. — Wash with a cloth dampened in hot salt water, using a handful of salt to a bucket of water. Wash only a small area at a time, wiping dry at once. This also prevents the matting from yellowing.

Q. — How can I brighten up the bricks around my fireplace?

A. — You can do a good job of this by scrubbing the bricks with hot soapsuds, then coating them with hot linseed oil applied with a paintbrush. Many other such easy-to-do hints for use in and around the home are contained in my household manual.

Q. — How can a wood - carving hobbyist harden the wood that has been cut and sculptured into desired shapes?

A. — By boiling the pieces in pure olive oil for from eight to ten minutes.

Q. — How can I deal with banana stains on fabrics?

A. — Cover the stains liberally with a paste made of fuller's earth and water and, after this has dried, brush it off.

Q. — How can I fill in and smooth off the normally rough edges of plywood?

A. — Use ordinary linoleum paste. Most brands of this shrink very little in drying, and can be sanded to a smooth finish. However, if the plywood is to be finished in a natural color, apply the cement carefully, since it possibly might stain the wood.

Q. — How can I clean corrosion from a shower head in my bathroom?

A. — Just by removing the head and soaking it in vinegar overnight will restore it to a new-like appearance.

A Dependable Newspaper Serving the Tri-State District

A War Grows In The Middle East

The smoldering fires of conflict in the Middle East, watched apprehensively by the world for quite some time, are blazing up regularly now and the prospect of a raging full-scale war becomes more probable almost day by day.

Aerial clashes, artillery duels and more audacious guerrilla raids with increased sabotage clearly reveal the escalation under way. Each hostile acts provokes retaliation in a still higher range of destructiveness.

MEANWHILE THE BIG FOUR nations talk about setting the dispute but seemingly get nowhere.

Actually there is cause to suspect that one of the Big Four, the Soviet Union, may actually be fanning the fires while pretending to help extinguish them.

The recent intensification of the fighting seems to have started about the time of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's urgent visit to Cairo.

Russia has the power to defuse the explosive Middle East situation if it wishes for it is the supplier of the massive volume of armaments with which Cairo rebuilt its armed forces. A cutoff of these supplies would quickly cool the war ardor of the Arabs.

But in the absence of this peace-promoting action, spokesmen on both sides are predicting a step-up in the fighting.

DEFENSE MINISTER Moshe Dayan of Israel has warned the Israelis to prepare for increased hostilities and the editor of the influential Arab newspaper Al Ahrm, Mohamed Hassanein Heykal, has predicted a "hot and explosive winter."

The Israelis understandably are suspicious of the Russians' moves and have charged them with conspiring with the Arab nations.

The increasing tempo of the fighting in he Middle East tends to give credence to their contention that the manipulating hand of the Soviet Union is behind the scenes there as well as in the Vietnam fighting.

Back To Nature

Summer is not necessarily the most pleasant season for city dwellers who annually discover how much concrete sidewalks retain the heat and the buildings block the cool breezes.

Residents of the tri-state area communities are overlooking a real relief from the sweltering sun if they are not taking advantage of some of the natural resources provided in the area.

Parks and streams and woodsy dells abound in our three counties, along with a wide variety of sports from fishing and boating to tennis or just plain sittin' in the shade.

Harry Stewart, Review outdoors sports editor, last week told the Kiwanis Club only a small percentage of our residents are really taking advantage of the facilities at our state parks in Columbiana County. Further, much more effort could be expended on developing the present facilities for everyone's benefit.

If you haven't been out to Beaver Creek for a while, drive out to this scenic valley—to which hundreds of other Ohioans and Pennsylvanians travel each week — and renew your acquaintance with one of the delightful assets of our own locale while you're cooling off. . .

Royal Pomp And Circumstance

Prince Charles passes a milestone on his journey to the British throne July 1 with his investiture as Prince of Wales.

The English are at their best in royal pomp and circumstance and the pageant at Caernarvon Castle in Wales promises to be the biggest show since the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

PLANNING THE SPECTACULAR is the Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshall, Chief Butler of England, who planned the funerals of Winston Churchill, George V and George VI as well as Queen Elizabeth's coronation.

The ceremonies, a year and a half in the planning, will reach a high point when Charles, with an estimated television audience of half a billion people watching around the world, kneeling in front of his mother, takes the ancient oath of allegiance:

"I, Charles, Prince of Wales, do become your liege man of life and limb and earthly worship and faith and truth I will bear unto you to live and die against all manner of folks."

The whole affair, including the plumed Household Cavalry, the robed Welsh Druids, State Trumpeters, an orchestra of 60 musicians and a 200-member Welsh choir, will cost $480,000.

At first, the government had set aside a larger amount but British economics being what they are, it was decided to reduce the budget for the occasion to a more modest level.

SINCE 1307 there have been 21 princes of Wales, all of them heirs apparent, but none enjoyed the publicity Prince Charles is getting.

In honor of the ceremony, five special postage stamps have been issued, silver and bronze medals have been struck, souvenir programs are being sold all over England and the British press is doing its part by covering the fanfare in detail.

The usually staid Englishmen can be excused for doing this affair up big, after all they haven't had much to cheer about the past few years.

Politicians Take Note

If the future of relations between the United States and Russia was in the hands of the captain of the first Soviet ship to unload cargo in America in 19 years and a Seattle longshoreman, everyone could breathe a little easier.

Capt. Arkady Tabakar said Friday there should be closer ties between the nations "so that we might live in peace together."

While his crew was unloading 900 tons of sponge titanium which is important to U.S. defense and aerospace programs, the captain told reporters he hoped the "misunderstandings between our country and America will be melted by our presence."

The longshoreman, who asked not to be identified, bought postcard packets depicting Seattle landmarks out of his own pocket and distributed them to the 48-man Russian crew.

He told reporters he did it "just to show them that we are their friends."

Feelings demonstrated by the captain and the longshoreman are exactly like those shared by millions of Americans and Russians who can't understand why there cannot be peace between the countries.

'One If By Day, Two If..'

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON —Everyone is trying to come up with a face-saving solution for the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. There have been many proposals and I hope no one minds if I throw another one on the round table.

Art Buchwald

It is named the Freeman Peace and Face-Saving named Peter Freeman Plan, after a young man from Hollywood, Calif., who thought of it one day when he was stuck on a freeway for two hours and was listening to news reports from Vietnam.

The plan hinges on the fact that vast parts of South Vietnam are controlled by the Saigon government forces in the daytime and by the Viet Cong at night. This fact is well known to everyone and cannot be disputed.

IT ALSO IS KNOWN that the South Vietnamese government, under President Nguyen Van Thieu, is adamant about participating in a coalition government with the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

At the same time, the NLF wants nothing to do with the Saigon government.

Therefore, the Freeman plan suggests that South Vietnam have two governments: a "day" government and a "night" government.

During the day, the peasants would pledge their allegiance to President Thieu. They would sell their goods to Saigon and receive whatever aid is available from the Americans.

Posters of President Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and President Nixon would be hung in each village square, and the American and South Vietnamese flags would hang side by side from the district town halls.

But as night falls the posters would all come down and be replaced by photographs of Ho Chi Minh, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap and Mao Tse-tung, and the flags of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong would fly from the town halls.

THE "NIGHT" GOVERNMENT of the NLF, or Hanoi, depending on who's running the show, could buy goods from the peasants in the evening. At night, the peasants would swear their devotion to Ho Chi Minh.

Of course, there would have to be some ground rules so that the "night" government does not undo all the good work of the "day" government. By the same token, the "day" government couldn't institute laws that would sabotage the "night" government.

There would have to be a tax-sharing plan worked out and the draft in South Vietnam would have to be abolished so neither side could take advantage of manpower situations in the villages.

But I'm certain that once they discover how well the "day" and "night" governments work, the two might even start co-operating together on an unofficial level.

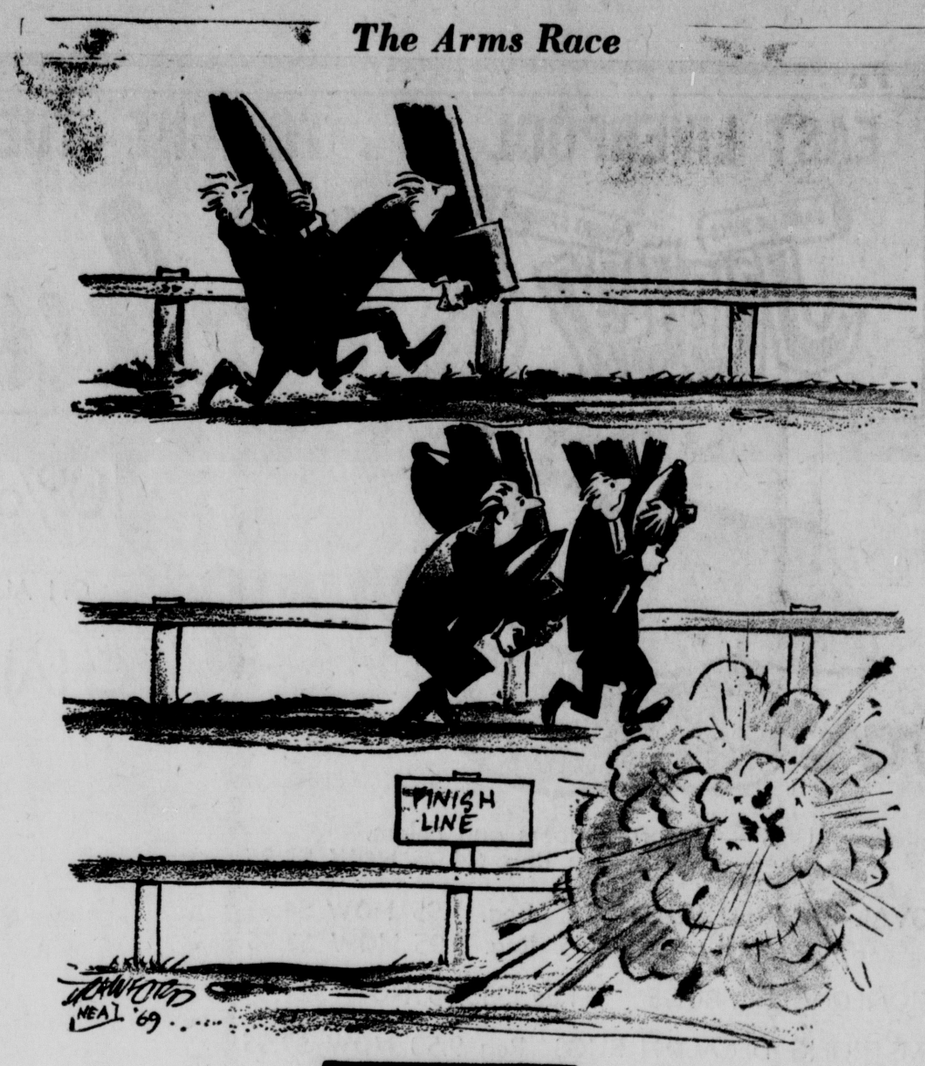
The beauty of the Freeman plan is that neither side has to give up anything. Both the NLF and Saigon government could say they are in control of the country (as they are saying now), and both would be right.

PRESIDENT THIEU would not have to allow any Communists in his government and, if President Nixon can remove American troops from Vietnam, Thieu knows he'll have access to all the money in the U.S. Treasury.

Ho Chi Minh, on the other hand, will benefit by governing at night, since he'll have the use of all the facilities the Americans build for the people in the daytime, as well as revenue from the bars and movie theaters.

As for the South Vietnamese peasant, he probably couldn't care less who governs him at this stage. In that beleaguered country, if you've seen one "liberating" army, you've seen them all.

The Arms Race



VICTOR RIESEL

Air Controllers Taken Ill

WASHINGTON — Airports are not for sleeping. Yet, the other night thousands of children, Europe-bound vacationers and pre-ulcer businessmen hit the benches, floors and even washrooms as improvised-bedding places. In New York, airline executives tore at receding hairlines as they learned that 1,000 flights were being delayed, 300 were not taking off at all and losses were running roughly at $5 million daily.

Victor Riesel

There was what commercial aviation experts described as "chaos" backlashing from delays in the port of New York right on through Europe and Asia as well as the U.S.

This resulted from the 'strike' that wasn't. This was the creeping paralysis caused by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, (PATCO) a union which says it isn't. And, PATCO is counseled by that instant labor lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, specialist in murder trials.

THERE'S MORE HERE than the melodramatic F. Lee Bailey and his clients, who talk continually about all of America's commercial aviation sitting on "a time bomb." There's more here than even Secretary of Labor Shultz sitting in an airplane shuttle on a New York airstrip for almost three hours.

The critical issue here is woven into the fact that the 240 radar room specialists who called in "sick" are federal employes of the Federal Aviation Administration. If they or their 6,000 other colleagues strike they commit a felony. They can be fined. They can go to prison. They can be deprived of considerable civil rights, if convicted, under the felony laws.

The "sick" traffic controllers apparently acted in concert. And as one of the nation's three or four authorities on the federal labor laws, Dave Cole, said the other day, "acting in concert also is a violation of the federal anti-strike laws." Let s hold this for a moment. Let's see why they struck — or rather "went sick."

I talked with PATCO's board chairman, Mike Rock, an intense man obviously angered and obviously dedicated to his followers. He and counselor Bailey are the strategists. Mr. Rock said quite firmly that the nation's air traffic controllers (Men who guide commercial planes in and out of the airports) have been working 10 hours a day, six days a week for the past three years. They're tired. They want heavy recruitment to supply relief staffs.

Mr. Rock says that instrument room equipment is of hoop skir vintage Some of the radar and insruments, says he, now in use were taken off aircraft carriers after the second world war. The control towers and their equipment, adds he, are for yesterday's DC-3's and are being used in the 340-seat Boeing-747 craft soon to be launched by Pan American World Airways. The DC-3 can make a top "speed" of 200 miles an hour. Today's commercial jet can wing at 700 miles an hour.

AND, SAYS HE, there is no back-up system. If the radar goes dead, "we lose those planes flying in at 500 to 600 miles an hour. We have been asking for modern radar frequencies that work. And here we are working in 1940 tempo."

And when FAA chief John Shaffer testified that the government and the PATCO fellows (and members of other federal employes unions) were not as pressed as they made it sound, some of the men. "got plain sick" says Mr. Rock. Kennedy International Airport accepted but 17 arrivals an hour instead of the usual 45 to 50. Some Pan-Am flights were diverted to Canada.

Now from the FAA comes word that the government is working on computerizing, recruiting and remunerating swiftly. The controllers are the only federal employes who get time and a half for overtime says FAA. The Academy at Oklahoma City is turning out men as quickly as they can be enlisted. Higher pay now can run to $22,000 annually.

There is a budget problem. Certainly there is an air controller personnel problem. But as the respected Dave Cole — to whom U.S. presidents have turned for advice for two decades — puts it: what of the public interest? And he asks what of the critical problem of strikes against the federal government?

Mr. Cole recalls no other "federal sector" stike action. Thus this PATCO action is the first such job action on record (except for a handful of meteoroligists or postman or two).

"THE LAW STIPULATES," says mediator Cole "that an individual may not accept or hold a position in the government of the U.S. . . . if he advocates overthrow of the constitutional form of government, or if he participates in a strike or even asserts the right to strike against the government, or if he is a member of an organization which makes such an assertion. Whoever violates the provisions of section 7311 shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year and a day or both."

Apparently F. Lee Bailey is not one of Mr. Cole's favorites, nor of the New Jersey Supreme Court either, for it has sharply chided him.

"What does Mr. Lee Bailey say about this," asks Mr. Cole, who believes that the instant illness and instant recovery were concerted actions and thus in violation of the federal law.

"What is the responsibility of a lawyer advising federal employes in the face of this law?' asks Mr. Cole. "There has been no previous violation of this law. I ask what is the responsibiliy of the federal employe? What is the responsibility of an attorney advising such employes?

"And what about the public interest as reflected in these laws? How do you balance the inequities of the employes with the inequities heaped on the public by such action?"

Commitment

WASHINGTON — What is a "national commitment" by the United States in the conduct of foreign policy? The Senate, by a vote of 70 to 16, passed on Wednesday a resolution trying to define the term.

But only a few days before on television, Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and one of the authors of the resolution, voiced approval of President Nixon's expressed "hope' that all American combat troops would be withdrawn from Vietnam by the end of 1970.

Mr. Fulbright, in referring to Mr. Nixon's remark, said: "I think it is a commitment."

The resolution, on the other hand, insists that "affirmative action taken by the legislative and executive branches of the United States government by means of a treaty, statute or concurrent resolution of both houses of Congress specifically providing for such commitment."

b IF IT IS THE PURPOSE of the senators who backed the resolution to insist that certain processes be followed before American military forces are used in foreign countries, then the blame must be placed upon Congress and not the President for any such 'commitments" made in the last several years.

The Senate, for example, by a vote of 82 to 1, ratified on Feb. 1, 1955, a pact known as the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty. It was under the comitents specifically made in this document that Presidents Kennedy, Johnson and Nixon have acted in maintaining our military forces in Vietnam and Southeast Asia.

If there are any doubts as to whether a president has authority as commander-in-chief to utilize American troops in a particular instance, Congress can always express itself by adopting a resolution.

Indeed, the so-called "Gulf of Tonkin" resolution — which was passed overwhelmingly by both houses of Congress in August 1964, when the Vietnam conflict began to expand — is the real basis for the President s authority today to continue to help South Vietnam repel aggression.

Congress has the right, under the 1964 resolution, to terminate it at any time by a concurrent resolution and call for a withdrawal of all troops.

It wil be recalled that, when North Korea invaded South Korea in 1950, President Truman ordered American forces to go to the aid of South Korea. Almost simultaneously, the United Nations took upon itself the task of forming a collective military force from various countries, including the United States, to thwart the invaders.

Action was taken promptly by Mr. Truman because of a belief that, under the United Nations charter, there is an obligation for members to come immediately to the assistance of countries which are the victims of aggression. man did not ask for any resolution of approval from Congress. Silence by Congress was regarded as acquiescence.

National commitmtnts sometimes begin with informal conversations between diplomats of foreign countries and American ambassadors.

It would be difficult to carry on effective negotiations with foreign secretaries or representatives of foreign governments if the spokesmen for the United States hadto get permission from Congress before they could make proposals to other governments on ways and means of preserving peace in the world.

Again and again secret information becomes available to our own government through intelligence sources, and the txecutive branch finds it necessary to prepare for contingencies and to act in emergencies in view of the confidential data it has received.

USUALLY THE PRESIDENT or the secretary of state confers privately on such matters with the foreign relations committees of both houses if such consultation is deemed necessary by the chief executive.

The resolution just adopted by the Senate has been opposed by both President Nixon and Secretary of State Rogers as likely to interfere with the normal processes of diplomacy.

Despite the fact that the new resolution is not binding upon the executive branch but advisory, and merely expresses "the sense of the Senate," it is not constructive.

It could do more harm than good in the conduct of our relations with other countries, which has always been considered the prerogative of the president of the United States.

A War Grows In The Middle East

The smoldering fires of conflict in the Middle East, watched apprehensively by the world for quite some time, are blazing up regularly now and the prospect of a raging full-scale war becomes more probable almost day by day.

Aerial clashes, artillery duels and more audacious guerrilla raids with increased sabotage clearly reveal the escalation under way. Each hostile acts provokes retaliation in a still higher range of destructiveness.

MEANWHILE THE BIG FOUR nations talk about setting the dispute but seemingly get nowhere.

Actually there is cause to suspect that one of the Big Four, the Soviet Union, may actually be fanning the fires while pretending to help extinguish them.

The recent intensification of the fighting seems to have started about the time of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's urgent visit to Cairo.

Russia has the power to defuse the explosive Middle East situation if it wishes for it is the supplier of the massive volume of armaments with which Cairo rebuilt its armed forces. A cutoff of these supplies would quickly cool the war ardor of the Arabs.

But in the absence of this peace-promoting action, spokesmen on both sides are predicting a step-up in the fighting.

DEFENSE MINISTER Moshe Dayan of Israel has warned the Israelis to prepare for increased hostilities and the editor of the influential Arab newspaper Al Ahrm, Mohamed Hassanein Heykal, has predicted a "hot and explosive winter."

The Israelis understandably are suspicious of the Russians' moves and have charged them with conspiring with the Arab nations.

The increasing tempo of the fighting in he Middle East tends to give credence to their contention that the manipulating hand of the Soviet Union is behind the scenes there as well as in the Vietnam fighting.

Back To Nature

Summer is not necessarily the most pleasant season for city dwellers who annually discover how much concrete sidewalks retain the heat and the buildings block the cool breezes.

Residents of the tri-state area communities are overlooking a real relief from the sweltering sun if they are not taking advantage of some of the natural resources provided in the area.

Parks and streams and woodsy dells abound in our three counties, along with a wide variety of sports from fishing and boating to tennis or just plain sittin' in the shade.

Harry Stewart, Review outdoors sports editor, last week told the Kiwanis Club only a small percentage of our residents are really taking advantage of the facilities at our state parks in Columbiana County. Further, much more effort could be expended on developing the present facilities for everyone's benefit.

If you haven't been out to Beaver Creek for a while, drive out to this scenic valley—to which hundreds of other Ohioans and Pennsylvanians travel each week — and renew your acquaintance with one of the delightful assets of our own locale while you're cooling off. . .

Royal Pomp And Circumstance

Prince Charles passes a milestone on his journey to the British throne July 1 with his investiture as Prince of Wales.

The English are at their best in royal pomp and circumstance and the pageant at Caernarvon Castle in Wales promises to be the biggest show since the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II.

PLANNING THE SPECTACULAR is the Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshall, Chief Butler of England, who planned the funerals of Winston Churchill, George V and George VI as well as Queen Elizabeth's coronation.

The ceremonies, a year and a half in the planning, will reach a high point when Charles, with an estimated television audience of half a billion people watching around the world, kneeling in front of his mother, takes the ancient oath of allegiance:

"I, Charles, Prince of Wales, do become your liege man of life and limb and earthly worship and faith and truth I will bear unto you to live and die against all manner of folks."

The whole affair, including the plumed Household Cavalry, the robed Welsh Druids, State Trumpeters, an orchestra of 60 musicians and a 200-member Welsh choir, will cost $480,000.

At first, the government had set aside a larger amount but British economics being what they are, it was decided to reduce the budget for the occasion to a more modest level.

SINCE 1307 there have been 21 princes of Wales, all of them heirs apparent, but none enjoyed the publicity Prince Charles is getting.

In honor of the ceremony, five special postage stamps have been issued, silver and bronze medals have been struck, souvenir programs are being sold all over England and the British press is doing its part by covering the fanfare in detail.

The usually staid Englishmen can be excused for doing this affair up big, after all they haven't had much to cheer about the past few years.

Politicians Take Note

If the future of relations between the United States and Russia was in the hands of the captain of the first Soviet ship to unload cargo in America in 19 years and a Seattle longshoreman, everyone could breathe a little easier.

Capt. Arkady Tabakar said Friday there should be closer ties between the nations "so that we might live in peace together."

While his crew was unloading 900 tons of sponge titanium which is important to U.S. defense and aerospace programs, the captain told reporters he hoped the "misunderstandings between our country and America will be melted by our presence."

The longshoreman, who asked not to be identified, bought postcard packets depicting Seattle landmarks out of his own pocket and distributed them to the 48-man Russian crew.

He told reporters he did it "just to show them that we are their friends."

Feelings demonstrated by the captain and the longshoreman are exactly like those shared by millions of Americans and Russians who can't understand why there cannot be peace between the countries.

'One If By Day, Two If..'

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON —Everyone is trying to come up with a face-saving solution for the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. There have been many proposals and I hope no one minds if I throw another one on the round table.

Art Buchwald

It is named the Freeman Peace and Face-Saving Plan, after a young man named Peter Freeman from Hollywood, Calif., who thought of it one day when he was stuck on a freeway for two hours and was listening to news reports from Vietnam.

The plan hinges on the fact that vast parts of South Vietnam are controlled by the Saigon government forces in the daytime and by the Viet Cong at night. This fact is well known to everyone and cannot be disputed.

IT ALSO IS KNOWN that the South Vietnamese government, under President Nguyen Van Thieu, is adamant about participating in a coalition government with the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong.

At the same time, the NLF wants nothing to do with the Saigon government.

Therefore, the Freeman plan suggests that South Vietnam have two governments: a "day" government and a "night" government.

During the day, the peasants would pledge their allegiance to President Thieu. They would sell their goods to Saigon and receive whatever aid is available from the Americans.

Posters of President Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and President Nixon would be hung in each village square, and the American and South Vietnamese flags would hang side by side from the district town halls.

But as night falls the posters would all come down and be replaced by photographs of Ho Chi Minh, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap and Mao Tse-tung, and the flags of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong would fly from the town halls.

THE "NIGHT" GOVERNMENT of the NLF, or Hanoi, depending on who's running the show, could buy goods from the peasants in the evening. At night, the peasants would swear their devotion to Ho Chi Minh.

Of course, there would have to be some ground rules so that the "night" government does not undo all the good work of the "day" government. By the same token, the "day" government couldn't institute laws that would sabotage the "night" government.

There would have to be a tax-sharing plan worked out and the draft in South Vietnam would have to be abolished so neither side could take advantage of manpower situations in the villages.

But I'm certain that once they discover how well the "day" and "night" governments work, the two might even start co-operating together on an unofficial level.

The beauty of the Freeman plan is that neither side has to give up anything. Both the NLF and Saigon government could say they are in control of the country (as they are saying now), and both would be right.

PRESIDENT THIEU would not have to allow any Communists in his government and, if President Nixon can remove American troops from Vietnam, Thieu knows he'll have access to all the money in the U.S. Treasury.

Ho Chi Minh, on the other hand, will benefit by governing at night, since he'll have the use of all the facilities the Americans build for the people in the daytime, as well as revenue from the bars and movie theaters.

As for the South Vietnamese peasant, he probably couldn't care less who governs him at this stage. In that beleaguered country, if you've seen one "liberating" army, you've seen them all.

Air Controllers Taken Ill

WASHINGTON — Airports are not for sleeping. Yet, the other night thousands of children, Europe-bound vacationers and pre-ulcer businessmen hit the benches, floors and even washrooms as improvised-bedding places. In New York, airline executives tore at receding hairlines as they learned that 1,000 flights were being delayed, 300 were not taking off at all and losses were running roughly at $5 million daily.

Victor Riesel

There was what commercial aviation experts described as "chaos" backlashing from delays in the port of New York right on through Europe and Asia as well as the U.S.

This resulted from the 'strike' that wasn't. This was the creeping paralysis caused by members of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, (PATCO) a union which says it isn't. And, PATCO is counseled by that instant labor lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, specialist in murder trials.

THERE'S MORE HERE than the melodramatic F. Lee Bailey and his clients, who talk continually about all of America's commercial aviation sitting on "a time bomb." There's more here than even Secretary of Labor Shultz sitting in an airplane shuttle on a New York airstrip for almost three hours.

Critics Of ABM System Attacked By Sen. Russell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, a key supporter of President Nixon's missile defense program, says critics are taking a "fantastic" position by contending deployment of the Safeguard system would endanger Soviet-U.S. arms talks.

The Georgia Democrat, head of the Senate Appropriations Committee and long regarded as an expert on military mattres, said in an interview:

"It seems fantastic to me that the opponents of ABM contend that the Russians will refuse to negotiate if we deploy safeguard."

"We have been working on the ABM and on MIRV (multi-warhead-carrying missiles) for several years. That didn't keep them from agreeing to the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

"You can be certain that the Soviets are going to go ahead with their development of their own MIRVS and their own ABM system. It is ridiculous to say that they won't talk because we go ahead."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said in a separate interview that there was no serious attempt made within the Senate Armed Services Committee to strike the MIRV authorization from a military procurement bill.

Stennis, chairman of the committee, said the program of perfecting missiles that could carry a cluster of independently targeted nuclear warheads is linked closely to the development of the Poseidon replacement for the Polaris on U.S. submarines.

Safeguard critics have said there is no need for such a defense system to protect land-based U.S. missiles so long as the Polaris fleet is capable of delivering a devastating retaliatory strike.

A wedding of MIRV with Poseidon presumably would at least triple the striking power of American underseas craft while increasing the range of their retaliatory weapons.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has urged MIRV critics to shelve this issue when the closely divided Senate debates Safeguard deployment.

As of now, 41 senators have signed an appeal to the administration to seek an agreement with the Russians for a moratorium on MIRV development, which they say might otherwise make impossible any arms reduction agreement.

Their contention is that once both nations have multitargeted missiles it will become impossible to tally each other's striking power, short of on-site inspection to which neither will agree.

Russell said he doesn't believe the Soviets would agree to a halt in testing which he said both nations have been carrying on in this field.

Within Laird Guidelines

Military Influence Seen Growing In Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military's influence in administration decision making is climbing in the wake of Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's efforts to loosen the intensive Pentagon centralization imposed during the McNamara years.

However, officials say, Laird has no intention of letting his authority slip or allowing the military to run unrestricted.

"Laird is not a man to give up power," said an associate who has worked closely with the Nixon administration's defense chief.

"He and Dave Packard (Laird's deputy secretary) have laid out firm guidelines."

And, a top official said, "Anybody who gets the idea that we're going back to the old 'wild west' days of service rivalries is all wrong."

By "wild west" days this official meant the years before Robert S. McNamara became Defense Secretary in 1961 when the services fought uninhibitedly over budget shares, weapons systems, and roles and missions.

Within the Laird guidelines, the military and civilian heads of the armed services and the various assistant secretaries of defense are given considerable responsibilities for developing programs and dealing with problems.

Associates noted Laird has permitted the Air Force to handle the dispute over the C5A super transport and the Army to resolve the controversy over disposal of surplus war gas.

In the McNamara era, the defense secretary and his top aides called the detailed shots.

According to Laird's associates, the defense secretary believes that if he has a good man in a job, that official should handle his job without close supervision from the top.

Laird also means it when he says field commanders should not be second-guessed, these sources said.

During the Johnson administration, the U.S. commander in Vietnam sometimes received streams of messages from Washington with "guidance," suggestions and utright orders.

This no longer happens, officials said.

Gen. Creighton Abrams, the man running the Vietnam war, has full knowledge of broad administration policy and it is left to him to operate within that policy.

In the Democratic years, senior military leaders here complained they were consulted by McNamara only after decisions were made.

Under Laird every member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff have been invited at one time or another to sit in on consultations of the National Security Council, President Nixon's top policy-making body.

During the Johnson administration, Gen. Earl Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, represented all the chiefs at the "Tuesday luncheons" in the White House where courses of action were considered.

Now, too, all reservations and objections by the individual service chiefs are noted on position papers forwarded to the National Security Council, sources said.

January was not officially made the first month of the year until 1752, when the British Parliament decreed it so.

School Finance Plan Defended By Gov. Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes, defending his education-finance package now before the Ohio General Assembly, said Saturday the program would up state support of education to $1.6 billion in the next two years.

The state spent $1.2 billion in education from kindergarten through college in the present biennium.

The House leadership announced last week that the permissive county income tax would be dropped and that new money for education would come from higher cigarette, liquor and utility taxes.

"Under this bill," Rhodes said in a news release, "every boy and girl will have a chance to obtain meaningful job education."

But the Ohio Education Association said the package proposed by Rhodes would barely cover the cost of living increases over the next two years. And it warned that many school districts would have to close unless they received more money.

Rhodes stressed that the education package earmarked $75 million of last November's State issue No. 1 bond money for construction of vocational education facilities.

He said the program also calls for $5.5 million in construction funds to expand Ohio's educational television network and provides assistance to nonpublic schools for salary supplements to lay teachers.

Ice cream was in its early days known by various other names such as "milk ice," "cream ice" and "butter ice."

Brewery Workers End 47-Day Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Anheuser-Busch Co. plant here resumed production today after striking brewery workers in Houston and Jacksonville, Fla., accepted a new contract with the company.

Some 400 workers here did not strike, but honored picket lines set up by out of state strikers. The strike lasted 47 days.

Just about 90 per cent of all American adults are coffee drinkers, with the general average about three to four cups per day per person.

Your Question:
Some day I must make a decision concerning a mortuary or funeral home. How do I go about it?

Our Answer:
There are several ways. You might ask your clergyman, your attorney or your friends. Or, you might look for the member of National Selected Morticians. Still another way is to get answers to these questions — (1) Do they operate a complete funeral establishment? (2) Are their prices marked in plain figures? (3) Do they stand well in the community? (4) Do they have the reputation of being helpful to those they serve?

ANN LANDERS

Rags-To-Riches Gripe

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away three months ago at the age of 67. We were married 37 years and, I must confess, they were not happy years.

We were always poor. Our three children wore hand-me-downs. It was nothing for me to walk three miles to save 3 cents on a can of soup or a nickel on a can of beans.

We never owned a car. The only trips we ever made were to funerals. Whenever I think of my husband I picture him turning off lights or turning down the heat "to save."

Now all of a sudden I'm a rich widow. Three days before my husband died he told me to look in his tool box for some papers. I was shocked to find a life insurance policy, payable to me for $78,000. A week later I found a bank book taped under a kitchen chair and discovered he had $11,000 in a savings account.

That very day I began to look in all kinds of crazy places. I found stock securities in a leather pouch nailed to a beam in the attic. I found another savings book under a rug in our bedroom. (He had started it in 1949 and saved $8,200.)

Instead of being happy I'm becoming hateful and bitter. I feel that his whole life was a lie. Why did he make us live like paupers when we could have had a decent home, college for our children and vacations? Please answer this question and help me enjoy what years I have left.—RAGS-TO-RICHES WIDOW.

Dear Friend: Your husband was mentally ill. In a strange way he enjoyed saving money in secret far more than most people enjoy spending it. Of course it was unfair to you and the children — a cruel game, to put it gently.

But the past is over and done with so forgive him, dear, and go on from there. I sincerely hope that you and your children will enjoy the comforts so long denied you.

Child Neglect

Dear Ann: Kenneth and I were married a year ago this month. His ex-wife remarried the same week.

I'm writing about their children, 3 and 7. Kenneth's ex-wife has custody. She's left the children alone on numerous occasions. Last week, Kenneth went over there and found the kids alone again. It was 7:30 p.m.

When he asked, "Where's Mommy?" the boy replied, "She went to get Tom (her new husband). He's drunk again." (How's that for a 7-year-old?)

I hate to see these two lovely children raised in such a crummy environment. My husband is furious. We have no money for lawyers and court action. Who can we turn to?—COLOR US BLUE.

Dear Blue: You can turn to Legal Aid. Look in the phone book. And if you don't find it listed, you can turn to the juvenile authorities the next time your husband finds the kids alone. If your letter is an accurate report it shouldn't be difficult to obtain custody of the children.

Confidentially

To Sick of This Anemic Relationship: I'm not surprised. It sounds as if the money in his blood is eating up the red corpuscles. I promise you that marriage will not improve the deficiency. It probably will make it worse. Please read the first letter in this column. How interesting that your letter and hers should arrive on the same day!

Action Slated On 'Dead End'

Liverpool Township trustees, meeting Friday night, agreed to confer with residents of 5th Ave., LaCroft, relative to opening the dead-end section of the avenue and intersect it with Spring St.

Guy Digman, chairman, reported that the summer program in the township is well under way, with the Shadyside area completed and equipment now in the LaCroft area. Work in the eastern section of the township will follow, he said.

Fire Chief William Smit was authorized to purchase 200 feet of 1½-inch fire hose for the East station in Dixonville.

If sufficient signatures are obtained on petitions to warrant action, trustees said they will consider placing on the ballot in the November general election a levy for police protection in the township.

The 1969-70 budget will be presented for approval during the July 11 meeting preparatory to submission to the County Budget Commission at Lisbon.

Richard Sanford of the trustees led prayer Friday night during a moment's silence in memory of Mr. Frank (Pop) Gray, a former trustee.

Assault Injures Beaver Countian

A 30-year-old Beaver County man locked himself in his auto Sunday morning to escape assault by another man after an argument at a River Rd. service station, but the other man smashed a window of the auto and then struck the Beaver Countian in the face, police reported.

Thomas F. Jones of Aliquippa RD 2 reported the assault to Patrolman David Huffman. He said the stranger fled in his own auto after hitting Jones on the right cheek with his fist. The incident was timed at 6:43.

Jones told Huffman he was talking with several other men at the Humble Service Station on the River Rd. when a man driving a white auto stopped at the station. When the argument broke out, Jones got into his auto and locked the doors, he related. When the unidentified man threatened he was going to "get him," Jones took a hammer from the glove compartment and placed it underneath the seat of his car.

The other man went to his car, got a tire tool and then returned and smashed a window in Jones car, unlocked the door and struck Jones, he related. The other man then fled west on State Route 39, Jones told the officer. There was no indication what caused the argument.

Thief Takes $30 In Home Entry

An intruder escaped with $30 after ransacking a Gardendale home over the weekend, police reported.

Clifford Plummer of 1620 Allison St. reported the burglary to officers Sunday at 6 a.m. He said the intruder forced the basement door on the south side of the home. The burglar ransacked clothing in the basement and a bedroom upstairs and then took a $20 bill and a $10 bill from a jewel box on a dresser, he said.

Another theft and two vandalism incidents also were reported to police.

Harold Dopler of Palissey St. told officers a license plate, L-194-E, was stolen from his auto while it was parked near his home between 1 and 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Pat Bonventuno of 685 Lincoln Ave. told officers the radio antenna was broken off his 1968 model auto while it was parked in front of his home between 6 p.m. and midnight Saturday. Dorothy Allison of 1534 Globe St. reported Saturday afternoon a vandal used a sharp object to scratch the paint on her 1967 model auto while it was parked on W. 5th St. late Friday night.

Remove the skins from baked apples and cut each in half. Top the halves with cream cheese mixed with minced chutney and garnish with parsley sprigs. Serve the apples as an accompaniment to pork or poultry.

ANN LANDERS

Rags-To-Riches Gripe

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away three months ago at the age of 67. We were married 37 years and, I must confess, they were not happy years.

We were always poor. Our three children wore hand-me-downs. It was nothing for me to walk three miles to save 3 cents on a can of soup or a nickel on a can of beans.

We never owned a car. The only trips we ever made were to funerals. Whenever I think of my husband I picture him turning off lights or turning down the heat "to save."

Now all of a sudden I'm a rich widow. Three days before my husband died he told me to look in his tool box for some papers. I was shocked to find a life insurance policy, payable to me for $78,000. A week later I found a bank book taped under a kitchen chair and discovered he had $11,000 in a savings account.

That very day I began to look in all kinds of crazy places. I found stock securities in a leather pouch nailed to a beam in the attic. I found another savings book under a rug in our bedroom. (He had started it in 1949 and saved $8,200.)

Instead of being happy I'm becoming hateful and bitter. I feel that his whole life was a lie. Why did he make us live like paupers when we could have had a decent home, college for our children and vacations? Please answer this question and help me enjoy what years I have left.—RAGS-TO-RICHES WIDOW.

Dear Friend: Your husband was mentally ill. In a strange way he enjoyed saving money in secret far more than most people enjoy spending it. Of course it was unfair to you and the children — a cruel game, to put it gently.

But the past is over and done with so forgive him, dear, and go on from there. I sincerely hope that you and your children will enjoy the comforts so long denied you.

Child Neglect

Dear Ann: Kenneth and I were married a year ago this month. His ex-wife remarried the same week.

I'm writing about their children, 3 and 7. Kenneth's ex-wife has custody. She's left the children alone on numerous occasions. Last week, Kenneth went over there and found the kids alone again. It was 7:30 p.m.

When he asked, "Where's Mommy?" the boy replied, "She went to get Tom (her new husband). He's drunk again." (How's that for a 7-year-old?)

I hate to see these two lovely children raised in such a crummy environment. My husband is furious. We have no money for lawyers and court action. Who can we turn to?—COLOR US BLUE.

Dear Blue: You can turn to Legal Aid. Look in the phone book. And if you don't find it listed, you can turn to the juvenile authorities the next time your husband finds the kids alone. If your letter is an accurate report it shouldn't be difficult to obtain custody of the children.

Confidentially

To Sick of This Anemic Relationship: I'm not surprised. It sounds as if the money in his blood is eating up the red corpuscles. I promise you that marriage will not improve the deficiency. It probably will make it worse. Please read the first letter in this column. How interesting that your letter and hers should arrive on the same day!

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Tschombe

come premier of the Congo in July 1964. The man with the moon face and toothy grin inspired no in-between emotions among Congoless. He was either loved or hated.

Moise-Kapenda—which stands for "Moses Beloved"—Tshombe was born in Musumba Nov. 10, 1919. His father was a rarity, a wealthy African businessman in an economy controlled by Belgians.

Raised as a Methodist with a high school education, Tshombe toured Europe before coming home to run the family's interests, marry the daughter of a tribal chief and father 10 children.

He served on several tribal and provincial councils in the 1950s, and when Belgium was ready to grant its colony independence, Tshombe was premir of its richest province.

Independence came July 1, 1960, and the Congolese army mutinied soon after. Tshombe waited 10 days for President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba to restore order, then declared independence for Katanga.

Backed by Belgian mining firms and an army led by whit mercenaries from South Africa and Rhodesia, Tshombe withstood worldwide pressure and United Nations' efforts to end his secession for 30 months.

It was during the first outbreak of violence, in September 1961, that U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was killed in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia, now Zambia. Hammarskjold was flying to a border town for cease-fire talks with Tshombe.

While a U.N. investigating committee said it found no proof to support rumors the plane had been shot down, it added it was unable to determine the cause of the crash.

Six months after Hammarskjold died, the Katanga government announced the death of Lumumba, who then became a hero many African youths. Some Congolese said Tshombe was responsible for Lumumba's assassination, but Tshombe maintained Lumumba had escaped after being taken into custody in January 1961 and was shot by villagers.

Five months after Tshombe capitulated in January 1963, he left the Congo to go into exile in Europe for the first time, living mostly in Spain. But he returned triumphantly as premier in June 1964 after Simba tribesmen rebelled in the northeast provinces.

Tshombe's troops, again led by white mercenaries, succeeded in crushing the Simba rebellion, but in the fall of 1965 a simmering feud between Kasavubu and his premier broke into the open. Again Tshombe went into exile, never really returning to the limelight until he was kidnaped to Algiers.

Immediately after the hijacking, President Joseph Mobutu asked for Tshombe's extradition. Algerian President Houari Moumedienne—surprised and embarrassed by Tshombe's presence—agreed to the extradition request, but only on condition that the Congo sever relations with Israel.

Israel has an influential embassy in Kinshasa and its army officers train Congolese partroopers. Mobutu refused, the deal fell through and Tshombe became a permanent "guest" of Algeria.

Cubans

they are faced with the increasing delays plus the problem of paying living costs while being prohibited by the Mexican government from working. Some are quick to accept offers of help in crossing the border.

One Cuban woman recalled her stay in Mexico City with her two daughters: "In the hotel some Cuban asked me if we want to cross the border. I said 'Yes.' We moved to the border in a bus. There, we went to a hotel and a Mexican came to the group and he says, 'you are Mrs. . . .' I said, 'Yes, I am.' "

Then, after paying $600 the mother and daughters were escorted to a hole in the fence at the border town of Nogales Ariz., and stepped through it at noon on a dark, rainy day.

The trip was more laden with intrigue for a former Cuban dentist who first had to buy his way out of a Cuban prison where he was serving time for currency violations, The dentist, like other Cubans questioned about their border crossings, asked to remain anonymous.

He said he made his smuggling arrangements two days after arriving in Mexico City, but it was six weeks before he got into the United States.

He traveled with five other persons in a chauffer-driven new car to Monterey, Mexico, was hidden in a motel until night and then was taken by the same driver—this time in an old car—to a farm near the border.

The group met a young man and an old man under a tree, were led single file 400 yards to the Rio Grande and were ferried across two at a time on a wood and canvas raft which had been hidden nearby. The cost to the dentist: $300.

Once inside the United States, the Cubans are safe because they cannot be deported to Mexico and are not sent back to Cuba. But the government is increasingly refusing entry to any who are caught or turn themselves in right at the border.

During April, when officials said 175 Cubans were known to enter illegally, 31 others were turned back. One woman who was turned back said she succeeded in getting across two weeks later, hidden in a lard barrel.

Immigration Service Officials said nearly all the illegal entrants turn themselves in once they are well past the border since no penalties are imposed and they are allowed to remain in the United States.

The service also has eased regulations to make it easier for Cubans in Mexico City to skirt immigration quotas if they can prove they have relatives already in the United States.

ment into use as rapidly as possible.

"Area navigation gives us a chance to relieve some of the current air congestion on heavily traveled routes and provide better service to the air traveler," he said.

In the early years of aviation pilots followed light beacons, effective only when visibility was good. They gave way to the low frequency radio, which gave courses in four directions from each station.

In the early 1950s a more reliable method of radio navigation came along—the very high frequency stations that provided pilots with courses over a full range of 360 degrees instead of the old four-beam technique. Later distance measuring equipment was added to provide greater flexibility and position fixing accuracy.

It is a great improvement, the current system's major limitation is that airplanes must navigate courses either directly toward or away from a VOR station. This funneling of traffic leads to congestion that has become extreme at peak hours on some airways.

Vietnam

only small units behind to harass the camp.

Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan reported from Ben Het that only four mortar rounds landed in the camp today. Enemy gunners plastered the camp with 445 rounds on Friday.

South Vietnamese forces claim to have killed more than 1,800 North Vietnamese soldiers with the help of American bombers and artillery around Ben Het since May 1, government casualties in that period were reported as 350 men dead and 1,600 wounded.

The U.S. Command views the Ben Het-Dak To campaign as a test of the South Vietnamese army against the North Vietnamese. No regular American infantry forces are involved in the campaign, but the Americans have offered artillery, engineer and air support.

U.S. artillerymen and a dozen Special forces advisers are based inside Ben Het along with 700 South Vietnamese civilian irregulars. American advisers also are working with South Vietnamese troops sweeping between Ben Het and Dak To, 10 miles to the east.

The U.S. Command will not disclose American casualty figures, but by unofficial count about 60 Americans have been killed and another 250 wounded in the campaign.

Air Force tactical fighter-bombers flew 81 Sorties—one flight by one plane—Sunday in support of the Ben Het camp. Spokesmen said it was a record for the past two months.

SAIGON Viet rdup bjt take 2: months.

Spokesmen said the shelling of Ben Het itself dropped off sharply over the weekend. Twenty-five mortar and recoilless rifle shells hit the Special Forces camp Sunday, one of the lightest attacks since it came under daily bombardment early in May.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

U.S B52 bombers kept up around-the-clock strikes on the outskirts of the camp, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Twelve Stratofortresses dropped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese base camps and bunkers three miles east and three miles southwest of Ben Het.

Despite the sudden decrease in attacks on Ben Het military spokesmen said they had no firm indications that the 1,000 to 3,000 North Vietnamese surrounding the camp had withdrawn. They speculated the North Vietnamese had either pulled back temporarily, leaving small units to harass the camp, or were simply lying low, waiting for supplies and replacements from Laos and Cambodia six miles to the west.

"It's very quiet," said one spokesman. He added hundreds of South Vietnamese troops were sweeping the hills around the camp every systematically," and were unable to explain the lack of contact.

But other observers said the bulk of the enemy strength appeared to be centered on the western side of the camp between Ben Het and the border, while the South Vietnamese sweeps were centered on the eastern and southern sides.

Only light and scattered action was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam, and the U.S. Command said seven rocket and mortar attacks hit allied bases overnight.

In one of the attacks, Viet Cong gunners fired two 10-pound rockets at the headquarters of the South Vietnamese Airborne Division three miles northwest of Saigon. The rounds landed in a populated area, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding nine others, spokesmen said.

In other war news, authoritative informants said Sunday the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville has replaced the Ho Chi Minh Trail as the major channel for enemy war material slipped into South Vietnam from the North.

The informants said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces in the Mekong Delta, the war zones around the northwest of Saigon and the southern portion of the central highlands get all their supplies through Sihanoukville.

They added military intelligence indicates the enemy still uses the Ho Chi Minh Trail to send all troops to South Vietnam and to send supplies to troops in the north.

Traffic

2:37 p.m. on Broadway at E. 3rd St.

The mishap involved a 1967 pickup camper driven by Donald H. Meckley, 37, of Glenville, Pa., a 1967 model station wagon driven by Dave Kennedy, 36, of RD 3 and a truck driven by Roy H. Murphy, 55, of Thompson in Geauga County.

Meckley and Kennedy told police their vehicles were halted or Broadway for a traffic light when Murphy's truck, turning north off E. 3rd St. onto Broadway, bumped Meckley's truck and shoved it backward into Kennedy's station wagon.

Murphyy told officers the left rear of his truck bumped the front of Meckley's vehicle. He said he was intent on watching the right-hand curb as he made the turn and did not see Meckley's vehicle. Murphy was driving a rig owned by Zeiffiro Transfer and Storage, Inc., of Donora, Pa.

TWO MISHAPS were reported on the parking lot at Al's Atlantic Service Station at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts.

Edward D. Broderick of 609 Broadway, Wellsville, told officers the left front fender of his 1969 two-door sedan was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car while parked on the lot Sunday at 11:17 p.m.

Witnesses said Broderick's auto was struck by a young girl with blonde hair who was operating a 1966 model auto. She failed to stop after hitting Broderick's car, the witnesses said.

Another mishap at the same site was reported Saturday at 10:16 p.m. It involved a parked 1965 model car owned by James Adkins of Minerva and a 1969 two-door hardtop operated by Ray Crubaugh, 42, of 1254 Oakwood Ave., officers said.

Crubaugh said he was backing from the lot and watching a car behind him when his auto bumped the Adkins car, which was parked to his right.

Lawrence R. Stitler, 22, of the Marshall Apartments on St. Clair Ave. told police the left rear fender of his 1969 sedan was damaged in a hit-skip mishap Saturday at 10:56 p.m. on Broadway at E. 5th St.

Stitler told police he was halted on Broadway at a traffic signal waiting to make a right-hand turn onto E. 5th St. When the light changed, the other car crossed from the left-hand lane, also attempting a right turn, and hit the side of his auto, he said. The offending auto fled with Stitler in pursuit, but he soon lost sight of the other car, he told officers. He told police it was a blue car carrying West Virginia license tags.

Surtax

surtax has not been effective against inflation.

Democratic liberals argued, moreover, unless the surtax is tied closely to substantial tax reforms, the chance to ram these through the present Congress may be lost. If the reforms are not written directly into the bill, they said, the extension should be held to a few months while a reform package is worked out.

Storm warnings already are up in the Senate.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield armed with the unanimous backing of the Democratic Policy Committee, said Sunday the Senate will insist on tax reform before agreeing to the full surtax extension.

"There is a feeling of uneasiness about taxes in the country," Mansfield said. "There is increased grumbling from home. The people want reforms now, not later."

The Senate and House have voted to keep withholding rates on the surtax in effect for 31 days after its scheduled expiration today.

The bill pending before the House would combine the year's extension of the surtax with repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit for business and an increase in deductions which would remove 2.2 million families in the lowest income brackets from the tax rolls.

come premier of the Congo in July 1964. The man with the moon face and toothy grin inspired no in-between emotions among Congoless. He was either loved or hated.

Moise-Kapenda—which stands for "Moses Beloved"—Tshombe was born in Musumba Nov. 10, 1919. His father was a rarity, a wealthy African businessman in an economy controlled by Belgians.

Raised as a Methodist with a high school education, Tshombe toured Europe before coming home to run the family's interests, marry the daughter of a tribal chief and father 10 children.

He served on several tribal and provincial councils in the 1950s, and when Belgium was ready to grant its colony independence, Tshombe was premir of its richest province.

Independence came July 1, 1960, and the Congolese army mutinied soon after. Tshombe waited 10 days for President Joseph Kasavubu and Premier Patrice Lumumba to restore order, then declared independence for Katanga.

Backed by Belgian mining firms and an army led by whit mercenaries from South Africa and Rhodesia, Tshombe withstood worldwide pressure and United Nations' efforts to end his secession for 30 months.

It was during the first outbreak of violence, in September 1961, that U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was killed in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia, now Zambia. Hammarskjold was flying to a border town for cease-fire talks with Tshombe.

While a U.N. investigating committee said it found no proof to support rumors the plane had been shot down, it added it was unable to determine the cause of the crash.

Six months after Hammarskjold died, the Katanga government announced the death of Lumumba, who then became a hero many African youths. Some Congolese said Tshombe was responsible for Lumumba's assassination, but Tshombe maintained Lumumba had escaped after being taken into custody in January 1961 and was shot by villagers.

Five months after Tshombe capitulated in January 1963, he left the Congo to go into exile in Europe for the first time, living mostly in Spain. But he returned triumphantly as premier in June 1964 after Simba tribesmen rebelled in the northeast provinces.

Tshombe's troops, again led by white mercenaries, succeeded in crushing the Simba rebellion, but in the fall of 1965 a simmering feud between Kasavubu and his premier broke into the open. Again Tshombe went into exile, never really returning to the limelight until he was kidnaped to Algiers.

Immediately after the hijacking, President Joseph Mobutu asked for Tshombe's extradition. Algerian President Houari Moumedienne—surprised and embarrassed by Tshombe's presence—agreed to the extradition request, but only on condition that the Congo sever relations with Israel.

Israel has an influential embassy in Kinshasa and its army officers train Congolese paratroopers. Mobutu refused, the deal fell through and Tshombe became a permanent "guest" of Algeria.

Cubans

they are faced with the increasing delays plus the problem of paying living costs while being prohibited by the Mexican government from working. Some are quick to accept offers of help in crossing the border.

One Cuban woman recalled her stay in Mexico City with her two daughters: "In the hotel some Cuban asked me if we want to cross the border. I said 'Yes.' We moved to the border in a bus. There, we went to a hotel and a Mexican came to the group and he says, 'you are Mrs. . . .' I said, 'Yes, I am.' "

Then, after paying $600 the mother and daughters were escorted to a hole in the fence at the border town of Nogales Ariz., and stepped through it at noon on a dark, rainy day.

The trip was more laden with intrigue for a former Cuban dentist who first had to buy his way out of a Cuban prison where he was serving time for currency violations. The dentist, like other Cubans questioned about their border crossings, asked to remain anonymous.

He said he made his smuggling arrangements two days after arriving in Mexico City, but it was six weeks before he got into the United States.

He traveled with five other persons in a chauffer-driven new car to Monterey, Mexico, was hidden in a motel until night and then was taken by the same driver—this time in an old car—to a farm near the border.

The group met a young man and an old man under a tree, were led single file 400 yards to the Rio Grande and were ferried across two at a time on a wood and canvas raft which had been hidden nearby. The cost to the dentist: $300.

Once inside the United States, the Cubans are safe because they cannot be deported to Mexico and are not sent back to Cuba. But the government is increasingly refusing entry to any who are caught or turn themselves in right at the border.

During April, when officials said 175 Cubans were known to enter illegally, 31 others were turned back. One woman who was turned back said she succeeded in getting across two weeks later, hidden in a lard barrel.

Immigration Service Officials said nearly all the illegal entrants turn themselves in once they are well past the border since no penalties are imposed and they are allowed to remain in the United States.

The service also has eased regulations to make it easier for Cubans in Mexico City to skirt immigration quotas if they can prove they have relatives already in the United States.

ment into use as rapidly as possible.

"Area navigation gives us a chance to relieve some of the current air congestion on heavily traveled routes and provide better service to the air traveler," he said.

In the early years of aviation pilots followed light beacons, effective only when visibility was good. They gave way to the low frequency radio, which gave courses in four directions from each station.

In the early 1950s a more reliable method of radio navigation came along—the very high frequency stations that provided pilots with courses over a full range of 360 degrees instead of the old four-beam technique. Later distance measuring equipment was added to provide greater flexibility and position fixing accuracy.

It is a great improvement, the current system's major limitation is that airplanes must navigate courses either directly toward or away from a VOR station. This funneling of traffic leads to congestion that has become extreme at peak hours on some airways.

Mother Of 9 Children Gets Court's Leniency

An East Liverpool woman, mother of 9, was granted leniency today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when she pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge on which she had been held in jail 36 hours, unable to post bond.

She was identified as Bernadine L. Ott of East End, cited Saturday at 8:58 p.m. after a Pennsylvania Ave. tavern operator complained she had gone to sleep in a booth. Questioned by the court, she said she did not notify her husband of her arrest and consequently spent the weekend in jail, unable to post bond. She told the judge she was "drinking with some friends."

The judge suspended both the $10 fine and the costs in her case.

only small units behind to harass the camp.

Associated Press photographer Oliver Noonan reported from Ben Het that only four mortar rounds landed in the camp today. Enemy gunners plastered the camp with 445 rounds on Friday.

South Vietnamese forces claim to have killed more than 1,800 North Vietnamese soldiers with the help of American bombers and artillery around Ben Het since May 1, government casualties in that period were reported as 350 men dead and 1,600 wounded.

The U.S. Command views the Ben Het-Dak To campaign as a test of the South Vietnamese army against the North Vietnamese. No regular American infantry forces are involved in the campaign, but the Americans have offered artillery, engineer and air support.

U.S. artillerymen and a dozen Special forces advisers are based inside Ben Het along with 700 South Vietnamese civilian irregulars. American advisers also are working with South Vietnamese troops sweeping between Ben Het and Dak To, 10 miles to the east.

The U.S. Command will not disclose American casualty figures, but by unofficial count about 60 Americans have been killed and another 250 wounded in the campaign.

Air Force tactical fighter-bombers flew 81 Sorties—one flight by one plane—Sunday in support of the Ben Het camp. Spokesmen said it was a record for the past two months.

Spokesmen said the shelling of Ben Het itself dropped off sharply over the weekend. Twenty-five mortar and recoilless rifle shells hit the Special Forces camp Sunday, one of the lightest attacks since it came under daily bombardment early in May.

Two South Vietnamese soldiers were killed and two were wounded.

U.S B52 bombers kept up around-the-clock strikes on the outskirts of the camp, 280 miles northeast of Saigon. Twelve Stratofortresses dropped 360 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese base camps and bunkers three miles east and three miles southwest of Ben Het.

Despite the sudden decrease in attacks on Ben Het military spokesmen said they had no firm indications that the 1,000 to 3,000 North Vietnamese surrounding the camp had withdrawn. They speculated the North Vietnamese had either pulled back temporarily, leaving small units to harass the camp, or were simply lying low, waiting for supplies and replacements from Laos and Cambodia six miles to the west.

"It's very quiet," said one spokesman. He added hundreds of South Vietnamese troops were sweeping the hills around the camp every systematically," and were unable to explain the lack of contact.

But othr observers said the bulk of the enemy strength appeared to be centered on the western side of the camp between Ben Het and the border, while the South Vietnamese sweeps were centered on the eastern and southern sides.

Only light and scattered action was reported elsewhere in South Vietnam, and the U.S. Command said seven rocket and mortar attacks hit allied bases overnight.

In one of the attacks, Viet Cong gunners fired two 10-pound rockets at the headquarters of the South Vietnamese Airborne Division three miles northwest of Saigon. The rounds landed in a populated area, killing one Vietnamese civilian and wounding nine others, spokesmen said.

In other war news, authoritative informants said Sunday the Cambodian port of Sihanoukville has replaced the Ho Chi Minh Trail as the major channel for enemy war material slipped into South Vietnam from the North.

The informants said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces in the Mekong Delta, the war zones around the northwest of Saigon and the southern portion of the central highlands get all their supplies through Sihanoukville.

They added military intelligence indicates the enemy still uses the Ho Chi Minh Trail to send all troops to South Vietnam and to send supplies to troops in the north.

Traffic

2:37 p.m. on Broadway at E. 3rd St.

The mishap involved a 1967 pickup camper driven by Donald H. Meckley, 37, of Glenville, Pa., a 1967 model station wagon driven by Dave Kennedy, 36, of RD 3 and a truck driven by Roy H. Murphy, 55, of Thompson in Geauga County.

Meckley and Kennedy told police their vehicles were halted on Broadway for a traffic light when Murphy's truck, turning north off E. 3rd St. onto Broadway, bumped Meckley's truck and shoved it backward into Kennedy's station wagon.

Murphyy told officers the left rear of his truck bumped the front of Meckley's vehicle. He said he was intent on watching the right-hand curb as he made the turn and did not see Meckley's vehicle. Murphy was driving a rig owned by Zeiffiro Transfer and Storage, Inc., of Donora, Pa.

TWO MISHAPS were reported on the parking lot at Al's Atlantic Service Station at E. 3rd and Walnut Sts.

Edward D. Broderick of 609 Broadway, Wellsville, told officers the left front fender of his 1969 two-door sedan was damaged when struck by a hit-skip car while parked on the lot Sunday at 11:17 p.m.

Witnesses said Broderick's auto was struck by a young girl with blonde hair who was operating a 1966 model auto. She failed to stop after hitting Broderick's car, the witnesses said.

Another mishap at the same site was reported Saturday at 10:16 p.m. It involved a parked 1965 model car owned by James Adkins of Minerva and a 1969 two-door hardtop operated by Ray Crubaugh, 42, of 1254 Oakwood Ave., officers said.

Crubaugh said he was backing from the lot and watching a car behind him when his auto bumped the Adkins car, which was parked to his right.

Lawrence R. Stitler, 22, of the Marshall Apartments on St. Clair Ave. told police the left rear fender of his 1969 sedan was damaged in a hit-skip mishap Saturday at 10:56 p.m. on Broadway at E. 5th St.

Stitler told police he was halted on Broadway at a traffic signal waiting to make a right-hand turn onto E. 5th St. When the light changed, the other car crossed from the left-hand lane, also attempting a right turn, and hit the side of his auto, he said. The offending auto fled with Stitler in pursuit, but he soon lost sight of the other car, he told officers. He told police it was a blue car carrying West Virginia license tags.

Surtax

surtax has not been effective against inflation.

Democratic liberals argued, moreover, unless the surtax is tied closely to substantial tax reforms, the chance to ram these through the present Congress may be lost. If the reforms are not written directly into the bill, they said, the extension should be held to a few months while a reform package is worked out.

Storm warnings already are up in the Senate.

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield armed with the unanimous backing of the Democratic Policy Committee, said Sunday the Senate will insist on tax reform before agreeing to the full surtax extension.

"There is a feeling of uneasiness about taxes in the country," Mansfield said. "There is increased grumbling from home. The people want reforms now, not later."

The Senate and House have voted to keep withholding rates on the surtax in effect for 31 days after its scheduled expiration today.

The bill pending before the House would combine the year's extension of the surtax with repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit for business and an increase in deductions which would remove 2.2 million families in the lowest income brackets from the tax rolls.

Gauge

porarily, but they are not situated as centrally as the Newell Bridge.

—:—

FOR INSTANCE, there's the familiar old concrete tower near the east end of the River Rd. that once served as the water intake for an electrical generating plant operated by a traction company.

And there's the intake valve of the city water pumping plant, located about 200 yards offshore in the Klondyke area.

Water Supt. Harold Peterson said the plant's intake valve might serve as a temporary base for the flood gauge. But it would pose the same problem as the present location on the Chester Bridge. It would be so far from shore that police would be required to use binoculars to read the figures.

Not only do officers require field glasses to read the present gauge, but since it's alighted, they must turn a spotlight from a cruiser or a flashlight on its surface to discern the river's level after dark.

THERE ALSO was an intake valve of the city's old water works plant along the River Rd. close to the former Harker Pottery Co. site, but it virtually has disappeared.

The intake valve was used for the water plant prior to the erection of the present facility in 1916. At that time, the water was chlorinated, but was not filtered.

The mechanical filtering process went into use with erection of the present plant. The pumping plant on the river bank moved the water to the Thompson Hill reservoir and a seam-powered booster station relayed some of the supply to the high service reservoir on Pope Ave.

The flood gauge has been located on the Chester Bridge pier since 1965. For three generations, East Liverpool relied on river readings from a gauge at former Dam 8 near Newell. But completion of the Stratton "super dam" and razing of the Dam 8 structure forced authorities to look for a new spot for the gauge.

The Federal - State Flood Forecasting Service picked the Chester Bridge as the most likely spot. The gauge was erected as a three - way project that involved the federal agency, the city government and the Ohio Highway Department, since the span was state - owned. The state gave permission for erection of the gauge and sent a crew to install angle iron support in the pier to hold the heavy piece of lumber containing the numerals.

THE CHESTER Bridge gauge is set to read zero at the normal pool stage at 664.5 feet above mean sea level. When the river climbs to the 9-foot point, it's flood stage for East Liverpool.

The 9-foot stage on the new gauge is equivalent to a 32-foot reading on the former Dam 8 scale, which was referenced to the overall level of the river, not the height above pool. The former pool level was at 655.4 feet above mean sea level, 9.1 feet lower than the present figure.

The general 9-foot rise in the pool level still is evident all along the riverfront. For instance, almost nothing remains of what was once a wide brick pavement at the city wharf at the foot of Broadway. The change in the pool sent the water climbing even closer to the River Rd.'s pavement. Spots that once were a tree-lined shore where fishermen sat or boats were moored now are slime - covered stumps well beneath the water level. Trees within reach of the rising waer were whacked down with power saws before the "super dam" went into service.

BABB'S ISLAND also offers a possible site for a new river gauge, but it would require erection of some sort of structure to support it. The figures would be readily vsible from the River Rd., but again the problem of providing lighting at night would pose another drawback.

The highest river reading ever recorded in this area in modern times was shown on the old Dam 8 gauge. It crept up to 51.2 feet on March 19, 1936, the peak of the infamous "St. Patrick's Day Flood." Because of the change in reference points, the 1936 flood would have read 29.9 feet on the present gauge.

Federal authorities claim that the new system of flood control dams upstream on the Ohio and its tributaries has cut at least 10 feet from the crest of any future floods. They say that never again will the Ohio Valley be subject to a disaster of the proportions of the flood of 33 years ago.

But the spring spell of high water still comes almost as regularly as spring. Records show the Ohio hit flood stage or better 21 times in the 25 years between 1936 and 1960. The spring of 1945 was the worst from the standpoint of frequency. The river went out of its banks here on Feb. 28, March 4, March 7 and March 23.

EVEN THE traditional 32-foot flood stage (or 9-foot by the newfangled gauge) may become old - fashioned as a result of changes in the east end of the River Rd. with the construction of the Freeway extension.

Anticipating closing of the junction of State St. and the River Rd. at the Ralston's Crossing underpass may allow construction of a fill of eight feet or more that would put the River Rd. that much more above flood stage.

The 32-foot (or 9-foot) stage now sends the water backing up through an outfall of the culvert through which the East End Run drains into the river. It's the only point in East Liverpool affected by such a low stage.

If the River Rd. is raised eight feet by building an earthen ramp across the low point, it would require a river stage of at least 40 feet (17 on the new gauge) to cause any inconvenience at that spot.

Little England and Jethro, the other two low - lying spots in East Liverpool, are not affected until the river hits close to 40 feet.

Wellsville, Port Homer, Stratton, Empire and Toronto get their river readings from the "Super Dam." Steubenville and Mingo Junction watch the water levels with a flood gauge on the Market St. Bridge at Steubenville.

On Cigarette Ads

Federal Agencies Ready To Try For Restrictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key section of the cigarette labeling law expires tonight, opening the way for federal regulatory agencies to try to impose stringent restrictions on smoking ad-advertising.

The section of the law dying at midnight prohibits federal agencies from modifying current regulations to toughen the current health warning required on cigarette packages or limit adverisingt.

With the modificaion ban lifted, the Federal Trade Commission can go on with hearings on an extremely strong package warning, while the Federal Communications Commission can consider the proposed prohibition of all smoking advertising on radio and television.

Although the ban, or pre-emption, part of the law loses effect tonight, the House has passed a bill extending that section for another six years, although with a tougher warning required displayed on each pack:

"Warning: The Surgeon General has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to your health and may cause lung cancer or other diseases."

But the outlook for the extension is cloudy in the Senate, where Utah Democrat Frank E. Moss is reported working through his Commerce subcommittee on consumer affairs to pigeonhole the House-passed bill.

Although the FCC announced some time ago it would consider the prepared TV-Radio advertisment ban, the agency has extended until Aug. 17 the time for submitting comments on the

The FTC's proposed wording —to be explored in hearings beginning Tuesday—would require all forms of advertising to state clearly and prominently:

"Cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death resulting from cancer, coronary heart disease, chronic bronchitis, pulmonary emphysema and other diseases."

The tobacco industry had wanted the FTC hearings put off until Congress takes some action one way or the other on the smoking-health controversy.

Tobacco companies are reported to be buying network television advertising at an undiminished rate for next season despite the uncertain situation.

The industry spends 226.9 million annually in broadcast advertising, about 10 per cent of the income of networks and stations.

Gauge

porarily, but they are not situated as centrally as the Newell Bridge.

—:—

FOR INSTANCE, there's the familiar old concrete tower near the east end of the River Rd. that once served as the water intake for an electrical generating plant operated by a traction company.

And there's the intake valve of the city water pumping plant, located about 200 yards offshore in the Klondyke area.

Water Supt. Harold Peterson said the plant's intake valve might serve as a temporary base for the flood gauge. But it would pose the same problem as the present location on the Chester Bridge. It would be so far from shore that police would be required to use binoculars to read the figures.

Not only do officers require field glasses to read the present gauge, but since it's alighted, they must turn a spotlight from a cruiser or a flashlight on its surface to discern the river's level after dark.

THERE ALSO was an intake valve of the city's old water works plant along the River Rd. close to the former Harker Pottery Co. site, but it virtually has disappeared.

The intake valve was used for the water plant prior to the erection of the present facility in 1916. At that time, the water was chlorinated, but was not filtered.

The mechanical filtering process went into use with erection of the present plant. The pumping plant on the river bank moved the water to the Thompson Hill reservoir and a seam-powered booster station relayed some of the supply to the high service reservoir on Pope Ave.

The flood gauge has been located on the Chester Bridge pier since 1965. For three generations, East Liverpool relied on river readings from a gauge at former Dam 8 near Newell. But completion of the Stratton "super dam" and razing of the Dam 8 structure forced authorities to look for a new spot for the gauge.

The Federal - State Flood Forecasting Service picked the Chester Bridge as the most likely spot. The gauge was erected as a three - way project that involved the federal agency, the city government and the Ohio Highway Department, since the span was state - owned. The state gave permission for erection of the gauge and sent a crew to install angle iron support in the pier to hold the heavy piece of lumber containing the numerals.

THE CHESTER Bridge gauge is set to read zero at the normal pool stage at 664.5 feet above mean sea level. When the river climbs to the 9-foot point, it's flood stage for East Liverpool.

The 9-foot stage on the new gauge is equivalent to a 32-foot reading on the former Dam 8 scale, which was referenced to the overall level of the river, not the height above pool. The former pool level was at 655.4 feet above mean sea level, 9.1 feet lower than the present figure.

The general 9-foot rise in the pool level still is evident all along the riverfront. For instance, almost nothing remains of what was once a wide brick pavement at the city wharf at the foot of Broadway. The change in the pool sent the water climbing even closer to the River Rd.'s pavement. Spots that once were a tree-lined shore where fishermen sat or boats were moored now are slime - covered stumps well beneath the water level. Trees within reach of the rising waer were whacked down with power saws before the "super dam" went into service.

BABB'S ISLAND also offers a possible site for a new river gauge, but it would require erection of some sort of structure to support it. The figures would be readily vsible from the River Rd., but again the problem of providing lighting at night would pose another drawback.

The highest river reading ever recorded in this area in modern times was shown on the old Dam 8 gauge. It crept up to 51.2 feet on March 19, 1936, the peak of the infamous "St. Patrick's Day Flood." Because of the change in reference points, the 1936 flood would have read 29.9 feet on the present gauge.

Federal authorities claim that the new system of flood control dams upstream on the Ohio and its tributaries has cut at least 10 feet from the crest of any future floods. They say that never again will the Ohio Valley be subject to a disaster of the proportions of the flood of 33 years ago.

But the spring spell of high water still comes almost as regularly as spring. Records show the Ohio hit flood stage or better 21 times in the 25 years between 1936 and 1960. The spring of 1945 was the worst from the standpoint of frequency. The river went out of its banks here on Feb. 28, March 4, March 7 and March 23.

EVEN THE traditional 32-foot flood stage (or 9-foot by the newfangled gauge) may become old - fashioned as a result of changes in the east end of the River Rd. with the construction of the Freeway extension.

Anticipating closing of the junction of State St. and the River Rd. at the Ralston's Crossing underpass may allow construction of a fill of eight feet or more that would put the River Rd. that much more above flood stage.

The 32-foot (or 9-foot) stage now sends the water backing up through an outfall of the culvert through which the East End Run drains into the river. It's the only point in East Liverpool affected by such a low stage.

If the River Rd. is raised eight feet by building an earthen ramp across the low point, it would require a river stage of at least 40 feet (17 on the new gauge) to cause any inconvenience at that spot.

Little England and Jethro, the other two low - lying spots in East Liverpool, are not affected until the river hits close to 40 feet.

Wellsville, Port Homer, Stratton, Empire and Toronto get their river readings from the "Super Dam." Steubenville and Mingo Junction watch the water levels with a flood gauge on the Market St. Bridge at Steubenville.

The DOCTOR Says

Child will Outgrow Nose-Picking

Dr. Brandstadt

Two mothers who have the same problem ask why their sons, 6 and 7, pick their noses, then put the crusts in their mouths. The boys are of normal intelligence but the mothers understandably want to know how to break this habit.

Don't look now, but girls do this, too. In normal children it is a part of learning about their bodies. In a very few it may even indicate a nutritional deficiency. The boys will undoubtedly outgrow the habit.

Meanwhile, the mothers should gently but firmly insist that, if the children want to do this, they must do it in the privacy of their own rooms and not where it may sicken a squeamish onlooker.

Q—I am a boy, 9, and I get frequent nosebleeds. How can I prevent them?

A—Nosebleeds are common in children our age, especially in winter when the dryness of the indoor air favors the formation of hard crusts. Using just enough mineral oil or petrolatum jelly to coat the inside of your nostrils once or twice a day will help to prevent this.

Avoid blowing your nose hard and, when washing your face, don't press on the sides of your nose because this may force a hard crust through the delicate mucuous lining of your nose. If these measures, don't stop your nosebleeds, you should see a nose and throat specialist.

Q—My daughter, 15, has a deviated nasal septum. When she gets a cold, she gets very little air through her nose. Can this be corrected?

A—The only satisfactory treatment is a submucous resection of the cartilage in the septum.

Q—My daughter, 2, was born with Horner's syndrome. Could she outgrow it? Would an operation correct it? Will she develop amblyopia?

A—Horner's syndrome is characterized by a slight drooping of the upper eyelid and a small pupil on the same side. It is caused by a paralysis of the nerves that control the eye. Your daughter will not outgrow the condition but in some cases an operation helps the appearance and lessens the danger of amblyopia (blindness from disuse).

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Meanwhile, the mothers should gently but firmly insist that, if the children want to do this, they must do it in the privacy of their own rooms and not where it may sicken a squeamish onlooker.

Q—I am a boy, 9, and I get frequent nosebleeds. How can I prevent them?

A—Nosebleeds are common in children our age, especially in winter when the dryness of the indoor air favors the formation of hard crusts. Using just enough mineral oil or petrolatum jelly to coat the inside of your nostrils once or twice a day will help to prevent this.

Avoid blowing your nose hard and, when washing your face, don't press on the sides of your nose because this may force a hard crust through the delicate mucuous lining of your nose. If these measures, don't stop your nosebleeds, you should see a nose and throat specialist.

Q—My daughter, 15, has a deviated nasal septum. When she gets a cold, she gets very little air through her nose. Can this be corrected?

A—The only satisfactory treatment is a submucous resection of the cartilage in the septum.

Q—My daughter, 2, was born with Horner's syndrome. Could she outgrow it? Would an operation correct it? Will she develop amblyopia?

A—Horner's syndrome is characterized by a slight drooping of the upper eyelid and a small pupil on the same side. It is caused by a paralysis of the nerves that control the eye. Your daughter will not outgrow the condition but in some cases an operation helps the appearance and lessens the danger of amblyopia (blindness from disuse).

Mrs. Esther DeTemple 424-5965

LISBON — The David Anderson High School class of 1944 held its 25th reunion in the McKinley Room of the VFW home. Eighty were present, 45 of whom were class members.

A social hour was enjoyed from 6 until 7, followed by dinner.

The class colors of green and gold featured the decorations. The tables were centered with floral arrangements of green tinted carnations with fern and vases sprayed in gold. Candelabra flanked each centerpiece at either side.

Harold Armstrong of Columbiana served as master of ceremonies.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Sexton, Mrs. Marie Parry, Miss Lucille Bennett, Miss Dorothy Cameron, Mrs. Aubrey Blocksom and Earl McClintock.

Awards were made to Miss Veloise Loudon of Florida traveling the farthest; Mrs. King Strudthoff (Ona Mae Dillon), for the most grandchildren; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ward of Elkton, for the cutest couple of the four couples of the class who had married, and Mrs. Walter McDevitt, for having the youngest child.

Durelle McCamon and Miss Bennett received prizes.

Each member received a scroll bearing the names and addresses not only of graduates but of members of the class through the grades. There were 74 in the graduating class.

The committee included Armstrong, Mrs. Robert Hodge, Mrs. John Altomarse, Mrs. Henry Borch, Mrs. Murial Ward and Tom Gallo.

Gallo will head a committee to plan another reunion in five years.

Bethany Class Meets

A nominating committee appointed includes Miss Helen Gillis, Mrs. Carl Armstrong and Mrs. Charles Carlisle. A slate of officers will be presented when meetings resume in September.

Mrs. Welsh was presented a gift in appreciation of her six months as a substitute teacher.

Miss Esther Stackhouse led devotions on the theme "Waiting On God."

The Sept. 19 meeting will be at the home of Miss Goldie Carlisle of Lower Elkton Rd., with Mrs. Armstrong devotional leader.

Rockefeller Guarded In Latin Talks

CAERNARVON, Wales (AP) — All police reserves were called up and a bomb alert was broadcast across Wales after a time bomb exploded in the Cardiff post office today, the day before Prince Charles is to be sworn in as sovereign of the Welsh.

Police blamed the explosion on Welsh nationalist extremists who have threatened to disrupt the investiture Tuesday. They said the bomb blew a three-foot hole in the wall of the Cardiff post office, 150 miles south of here.

Prince Charles, 20-year-old heir to the British throne, is to visit Cardiff Saturday after a four-day tour of the country following his investiture as Prince of Wales at historic Caernarvon Castle.

Commenting on the reserve callup, a police spokesman said: "It wouldn't surprise me if we have as many as 3,000 men in Caernarvon alone."

President Nixon's daughter, Tricia, who will attend the most elaborate royal ceremony since the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953, is bringing her own small army of Secret Service agents. Spokesmen wouldn't say how many security men would accompany her, but one said: "We have no fears for her safety in Wales."

The Welsh security force in Caernarvon was beefed up by English policemen, specially briefed to look out for known Welsh extremists.

"We have to memorize 40 or 50 faces of people regarded as suspicious," said one officer. "Nevertheless we look on the investiture as just another job. We will be tolerant with demonstrators, but anyone who gets out of hand will receive tough treatment."

The ceremony will be viewed by an estimated television audience of 500 million around the world. Weathermen forecast a cloudy day.

Program Marks School's Close

The Daily Vacation Bible School of the Newell United Methodist Church concluded with program Sunday at 7 p.m. at the church.

Mrs. Penny Arnott was director. Total enrollment for the school was 78. The theme was "Jesus Leads Me."

Crafts made by the children were displayed in Fellowship Hall. Refreshments were served.

Teachers were Mrs. Barbara Jones, Mrs. Susan Gonzales and Mrs. Betty Cox, nursery; Mrs. Linda Perkins and Mrs. Mary Crago, beginners; Mrs. Mary Anderson and Mrs. Marilee Triplett, primary girls; Mrs. Merle Scott and Sharon Radeski, primary boys, and Mrs. Coleen Addir and Mrs. Donna Stevens, juniors.

Aides were Mrs. Gerry Coen, Mrs. Jean Lowers, Mrs. Carol Booker, Mrs. Jody Simcox, Mrs. Pat Baccha, Mrs. Mary McGown and Mrs. Catherine Hull.

Newell Driver Unhurt In Route 30 Accident

A 24-year-old Newell man was injured early today when his auto veered off Route 30 east of Chester.

Larry Smith was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the forehead and the left leg suffered in the 12:07 mishap. Hancock County sheriff's deputies said Smith lost control of his 1965 auto near Taylor's Bend as he was descending the hill.

He was charged with failure to have his vehicle under control and faces a hearing before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — What can I do about bloodstains in materials?

A. — Soak the material in cold water overnight if possible, then wash in warm water and soap. If the stains prove obstinate, soak in a mixture of cold water and salt, then wash.

Q. — How can I clean marble tabletops?

A. — Wash with water and detergent, rinsing, wiping dry, and buffing. You can wax them, if you wish, using a pure, white, water-wax emulsion, not ordinary floor or furniture wax. This helps to retard soil. To polish a marble tabletop, use putty powder or jeweler's rouge.

Q. — Please, if possible, suggest something I can do to improve the appearance of an otherwise good rug that has worn spots on it.

A. — Try mixing a package of dye the color of the background of your rug with enough hot water to form a thin paste, then applying this to the worn spots on your rug. Often does a good job.

NAACP Head Proposes Meeting With Panthers

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Civil rights leader Roy Wilkins, a critic of "Black Power" in the past, says he wants to meet with Black Panthers and other Negro militants to explore areas of possible agreement and unity.

"I just feel that black organizations ought to get together and actually beat out a kind of strategy or procedure," said Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), in an interview Sunday night.

The NAACP, the nation's oldest and largest civil rights organization, opens its 60th annual convention today. About 2,000 delegates were expected.

Convention headquarters is the Hotel Heidelberg, traditional site for conventions in this Deep South city.

Wilkins aid he was considering seeking a meeting with Black Panther head Bobby Seale of Oakland, Calif. "I'm thinking strongly of doing it even though it may be misunderstood," he said.

"I m just trying to get up nerve enough to go ahead and do it, knowing it's going to strike some in our ranks with dismay," he said.

Wilkins, 66, said a move toward some kind of black cooperation on a broad scale seemed to be dictattd by racial, political, and economic factors.

Although he denounced "Black Power" as a racist slogan three years ago, Wilkins said Sunday he never had any objection to Negroes gaining power but opposed the use of "an ethnic tag or nomenclature, the flaunting of Black Power."

In other developments:

—The NAACP annual report disclosed that the organization ended 1968 with an operating deficit of $322,237—largest in its history despite a record income of $3.4 million and the highest membership, 450,673, in four years.

—Wilkins told a news conference, "It begins to look like some kind of a deal" was involved in what he said is a softening on school integration by the Nixon administration.

Wilkins said President Nixon was having trouble extending the federal income surtax and "the easiest way" to pick up votes was to ease up on school integration guidelines for southern districts.

Warning Issued In Vandalism At Thompson Park

Continuing vandalism at Thompson Park has brought a warning of impending police action from park officials.

Joseph Walters, park director, said investigation is under way and there are several suspects. He issued an appeal for anyone with information about the vandalism or witnessing any such acts to advise him or the police.

He said a light pole at the tennis court was bent over Saturday night and two lights were twisted about three weeks ago. Vandals have also ripped new wiring out of Pavilion No. 2, broken some $330 worth of windows at the swimming pool, damaged toilets at the pool, broken into the refreshment stand four times, stolen tools and snapped off a basketball hoop.

Destruction is depriving the public of full recreational facilities, and anyone apprehended will be prosecuted, Walters declared.

Simpson Leaves Job As Assistant Solicitor

Robert J. Simpson today terminated his duties as assistant city solicitor, preparing to return to Cincinnati, his home town, to continue in law practice.

Simpson will be succeeded Tuesday by Donald E. Smith, veteran local attorney, who was named to the post by Solicitor J. Michael Kapp.

When Simpson appeared in Municipal Court today to act as prosecutor for the last time, Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commended him for his "conscientious, courteous" service in the job and wished him well in his new post.

For A 'Quiet' Look

European Tour Planned By Kennedy In August

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is planning a quiet look at Europe this summer, avoiding meeting heads of state who might want to talk with a potential presidential candidate.

Kennedy, the Senate's No. 2 Democraic Leader, expects to take advantage of the August congressional recess for his trip.

But he wants none of the fanfare which marked the last trip of his late brother, Robert F. Kennedy, to European capitals.

This trip also promises to contrast sharply with the European tour which Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, is on now.

Humphrey the 1968 Democratic presidential candidate and a potential nominee in 1972 will visit England, Denmark, Finland, Switzerland as well as spending a week in Russia. He will make public appearances and may confer with Kremlin leaders.

Kennedy's journey will be made as quietly as circumstances permit as part of an effort to lower the sound level of speculation about his political future.

It is Kennedy's judgment that it is entirely too soon to make any calculation about what is going to happen three years from now. He recognizes for example, that events—particularly a settlement in Vietnam—could make President Nixon all but unbeatable.

At 37 the Massachusetts senator is young enough and politically cautious enough to wait if 1972 looks like a bad year for the Democratic nominee.

There also is the intervening matter of getting re-elected to the Senate next year. Nobody expects any real difficulty but Kennedy's decision to stick closely to Senate business this year indicates he intends to take no chances.

Despite efforts to reduce the decibels of personal publicity, Kennedy is finding it difficult to fend off hundreds of proposals to put his views in print and his face on television.

All this doesn't mean Kennedy is retiring to cloister. He is speaking out on such subjects as the draft, aid for ghetto residents and Vietnam refugees.

With the exception of his blast about Hamburger Hill and the level of American offensive actions, he has been cautious about Vietnam. He is sensitive to the possibilities of criticism that he is trying to hamstring a Republican president's efforts to get peace.

Almost without exception, Kennedy is on hand at the opening of Senate sessions.

As they say around the Senate, he has his nose in the job. But that doesn't keep him from keeping an eye cocked on the stars.

At the time of the new moon, an observer on the satellite would see a full earth, glowing about 80 times brighter than the full moon seen from earth.

Not Doing It Yourself Often Can Save Money

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Doing it yourself can save you money. But not doing it yourself can accomplish the same objective.

The idea is to save money both ways by knowing when to tackle something and when to hire a professional or at the very least, to get help from someone with more know-how and experience.

The failure to make a proper choice can bring a hatful of headaches and a sense of frustration, not to mention additional costs and possible accidents.

Most of us can do more than we think we can. New home owners who could never drive nails straight — or thought they couldn't — find themselves expert handymen after a few years. The trick is to tackle projects a little tougher than previous ones, yet not so tough as to be virtually impossible.

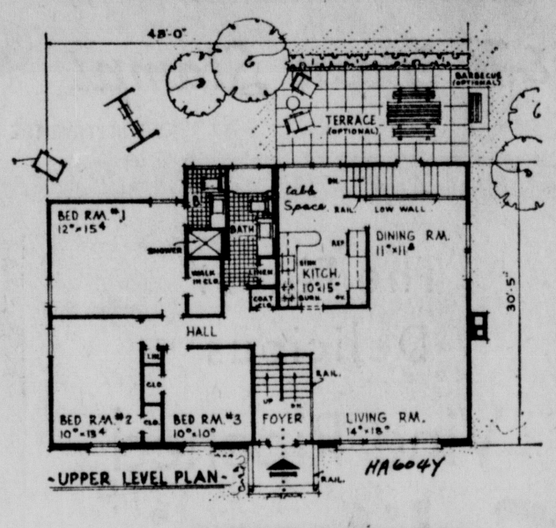
THE MAN who intends to install a concrete driveway should first have had some other experience in working with this material.

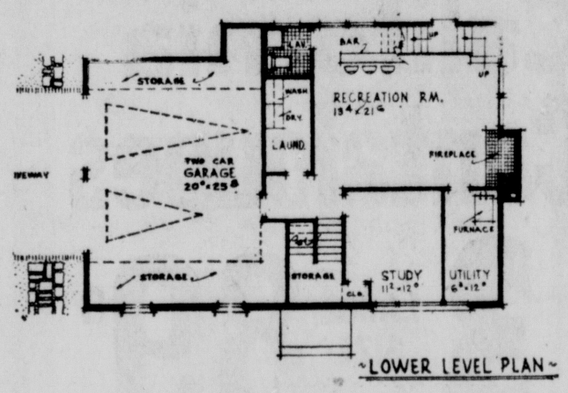
He might have repaired a section of sidewalk and then gone on to bigger things, as the installation of a terrace floor. The man who plans on refinishing a valuable piece of furniture should first have done similar jobs on less expensive wooden objects.

The man who wants to finish his basement should have gained some knowledge, through personal experience, of working with wood and glue and fasteners even though he may never have built a room.

Sadly, there are many skilled do-it-yourselfers who court trouble by ignoring the directions of manufacturers.

This occurs just as often with experienced workers as with beginners; in some cases, even more often. A man who may have painted both the inside and outside of his house on more than one occasion is quite likely to give no more than a passing glance, if anything, to the instructions on the paint can label.





ENTRANCE TO THIS raised ranch, Plan HA604Y, is through a beautiful side-lighted broken pediment Colonial doorway. Flanking railings and lamps add special interest. The multi-paned living room window is large enough to admit plenty of light. There also is a large multipaned window in the well-planned kitchen. A stair from the kitchen leads to the outside and continues down to the recreation room. Plans include an alternate front car garage placement. Architect is Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432. The home contains 1,406 square feet on the upper level and 818 on the lower level.

If Selling Your House, Have All The Answers

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Selling your house?

To facilitate the sale, call on your memory.

What was it that made you buy the house in the first place? The neighborhood? The nearness of schools and shopping facilities? The size and placement of the rooms? The generous closet space? The general all-around appearance of cleanliness?

Write down all the good points. Whether you're attempting to sell the house yourself or are using the services of a real estate agent, the list will come in handy.

Be sure to include on it the answers to all questions that are likely to be asked — the same questions you asked when you were looking over possible purchases, among them such things as taxes, utility costs, transportation, etc.

WHEN YOU don't have a ready reply to a query and make a hesitant, fumbling answer, people are inclined to think you're trying to hide something.

Better to let them know immediately, for instance, that the taxes are such -a nd - such an amount, even if they are high, than to have the figures crop up unpleasantly later on in the discussion.

When you looked at the house with the intention of buying, you may have tested the flow of water from the sink and tub, checked the ease with which closet doors opened and closed, looked for signs of peeling paint or wallpaper.

Others will do the same; therefore, make sure they will find things in proper shape. A small amount spent on repairs can save a sale that otherwise might be lost.

Ever mentally rejected a house before you even went in it because the outside had a seedy appearance? So will others.

If the outside of the house needs a painting, do it or have it done. When figuring the profit on a sale, you are permitted to take into account the amount spent for the paint job provided it was done for the specific purpose of furthering the transaction.

IT IS one of the unfortunate things about house sales that nobody believes you really want the full advertised price.

If the price is $25,000, all prospective purchasers immediately conclude that you will take several thousand dollars less, better tell your broker so say and won't take anything less, bettert ell your broker so in clear language so there is no later misunderstanding. If you're placing a newspaper ad yourself, emphasize that the price is firm.

Sometimes it saves a lot of trouble if you just ask a couple of thousand dollars more than you want so as to allow negotiating room.

It's really not an ideal situation if you're inclined to believe that a price is a price and shouldn't be a subject for haggling, but it's sometimes more difficult to battle tradition than law.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove perfume stains from clothing?

A.—These are high on the list of tough ones. However, you can try wetting them first with water, then working on the stains with glycerin and cheesecloth, then rinsing with water. If traces still remain, work on the stains some more with a 20 per cent solution of acetic acid (vinegar), then flush out with clear water.

Q.—How can I deal with moldy leather book bindings?

A.—One often-effective treatment is going over the leather with a cloth dampened in ammonia.

Hammer, Ax, Hatchet Tips

It's a shame to give up a good hammer, ax or hatchet.

Therefore, when the handle cracks or breaks, it's a natural thing to want to replace it, the metal head still being perfectly good.

It's a fine idea and one that should be pursued, but pursue it slowly and carefully. The reason a new hammer or ax hefts so nicely, seems to feel just right, is that it is a planned balance of handle and head.

When you replace the handle, it is not something you can do lightly. That old tool is not going to be the same, nor perform the same, just because you put a new handle on the old head.

TRY TO find a handle that duplicates the original as closely as possible in weight and size. Examine the wood carefully and avoid crooked grain.

Try to find one in which the edge grain goes from one end to the other. Flat grain should be on the sides. If the grain runs from one side of the handle to the other, toss it back and pick another.

Fitting the handle to the head is not difficult, but it is a slow and meticulous job. The new handle will be larger than the eye in the head of the old tool.

A light touch with a wood rasp is what you need to make it fit. But be sure to take no more off one side than the o er. Too much wood from one side of the handle will affect the balance, make the tool hang crooked.

Fit the head over the end of the handle. Do not force it. When it reaches a point where it will go no farther, take it off the remove the wood at that point with the rasp. Don't remove too much. Keep fitting and filing.

Try to maintain the original shape of the handle as you file off excess wood. Do not leave sharp corners.

WHEN THE head fits over the handle and makes contact at all surfaces, you are ready to wedge the handle. The handle probably has wedge slots already cut. You may have to cut more of them. Most hammers are better with two wedges and axes with three.

Steel wedges are what you are likely to find on your dealer's shelves, fine for tightening up an old tool but not too good for a new handle.

You are better off cutting some slim wood wedges that you can shape for better fit. Use the pieces of the old handle. It is more important that the wedges penetrate deeply than that they are fat and spread th heandle too much.

Drive the wedges gently so that you don't break them. The end surface can be crushed once the wedge is in. If the handle and wedges protrude through the head, cut off the excess with a hack saw. File the end smooth.

To finish the job, wipe on varnish well-thinned with turpentine.

Champagne, when well made and placed in cool cellars, retains its quality for from 10 to 20 years.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Bacon-Burger Poor Boys

DEAR HELOISE: Be sure and remind your readers about those wonderful bacon-wrapped, broiled hamburgers (I call them "Poor Boy Fillets"). They are easy to make and so good.

Heloise

What I do is salt and pepper the ground meat and add Worcestershire Sauce and garlic powder (if desired). I put some bits of butter in and mix all this together. Mold them just like a fillet and wrap with bacon, using toothpicks to hold the bacon on the patty.

If your bacon is fairly wide, you can cut it in half lengthwise and have enough for two patties. I also cut one piece crosswise, as the bacon is always too long to wrap around the fillet.

Now here's the easy part:

Just PREHEAT your broiler, put the meat in and let broil a half minute, then turn for another half minute. Now shut your broiler off and let the patties stay in the broiler for thirty minutes.

No watching the meat, and you come out with the juiciest hamburgers ever. To really fancy it up, mushrooms or mushroom sauce can be pured over the meat and my, oh my, what a dish!

VIRGINIA.

DEAR HELOISE: I usually took a paper sack for our dirty clothes when we went on vacation, but it was never big enough and usually tore.

This year I got the idea of taking a zippered clothes sprinkling bag. It's bigger, doesn't tear and can be placed over the suitcases or poked in a corner of the car.

The first night out, I placed our pajamas and a change of underwear in the bag and all we had to carry in the motel was that bag and our overnight case.

MRS. ED KINSLEY.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: My nephew came home one day from school and when he took off his shoes, he discovered a big hole in his brand new socks.

After turning his shoe over and looking inside and out, he turned to his mother and asked where in the world could that piece of sock have gone?

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever had a pair of drapes that would not wear out, and after about ten years you decided that you wanted new ones?

First I tore the lining out of the old drapes (it was really shot) and decided to use them unlined in my bedroom. But I still was not satisfied, so went down and bought some material to make new drapes.

Well, when I priced the cost of new lining, I nearly fainted. I sat down and thought that there must be some way to line the drapes without that great big price for the lining.

Then it struck me! Why not line the new drapes with the old ones? That I did, and they turned out just beautifully.

I sewed them so the old drapes faced the window. Now, when you are outside looking in, instead of an old plain lining staring back at you, there is a pretty print. Even though I was tired of looking at the faded design, it was refreshing to look in on it. (After all, how many of us see the outside of our own windows very often?)

To use this method, the new drapery material should be a darker shade to prevent the old drapes from showing through.

How is that for a bright idea???

HELEN AUSBURN.

Hotsy totsy, I'd say.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Last week when I was homesick, I decided I wanted to do something.

I thought it would be just great to put a puzzle together, but I couldn't find a table that I could put in bed with me. Then I spotted my sister's chalkboard. Turned it over to the part that you don't write on and used that side.

It makes a perfect table to put a puzzle on because you can tilt the board and the puzzle will stay in place.

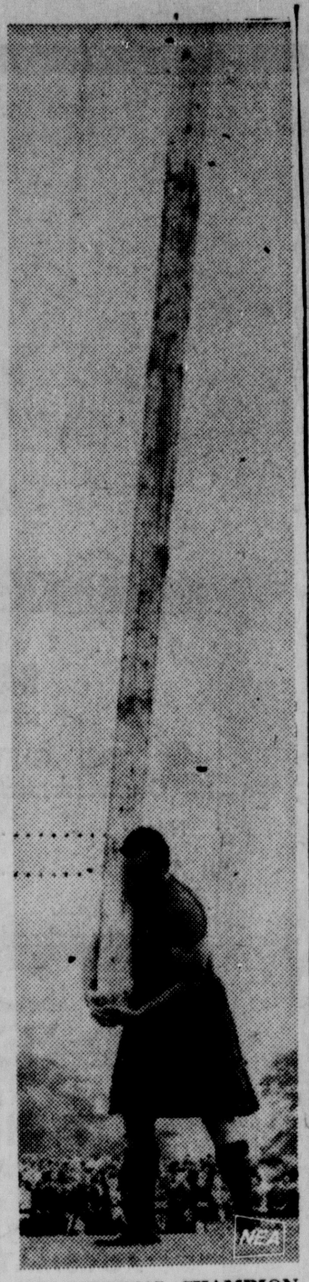
STEPHANIE SIZER.

DEAR HELOISE: We have a son in Vietnam who likes home-baked cakes and cookies. Every time I sent him a box, the icing always got messed up, so I came up with this idea.

I buy the canned frosting mix, and send it along with the baked goods.

This way he can frost the cake himself, and no more messy packages.

MRS. MARTIN MYLAND.



AMERICA'S CHAMPION caber-tosser, the Rev. Arnold Pope of Fayetteville, N.C., warms up during the Highland Games in Aberdeen, Scotland. Caber-tossing is traditional sport in Scotland. The caber, itself, is a 20-foot-long tree trunk.

Million-To-One

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Walking down a busy street to catch a bus, Thea Pretorius lost the diamond from her ring. She discovered the loss later and, at dawn the next day, returned to the city to search for the diamond. Through a million-to-one chance, she found it lying on the pavement where it had dropped, up against a wall.

Just By Luck

RIVERTON, Wyo. (AP)—The Wyoming High School Coaches Association chose Bob Robertson of Laramie as the football coach of the year. Robertson isn't even a football coach. He's the basketball coach, but when the regular football coach, John Deti Sr., became ill, Robertson took over the reins and coached Laramie to the state championship.

Not Doing It Yourself Often Can Save Money

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Doing it yourself can save you money. But not doing it yourself can accomplish the same objective.

The idea is to save money both ways by knowing when to tackle something and when to hire a professional or at the very least, to get help from someone with more know-how and experience.

The failure to make a proper choice can bring a hatful of headaches and a sense of frustration, not to mention additional costs and possible accidents.

Most of us can do more than we think we can. New home owners who could never drive nails straight — or thought they couldn't — find themselves expert handymen after a few years. The trick is to tackle projects a little tougher than previous ones, yet not so tough as to be virtually impossible.

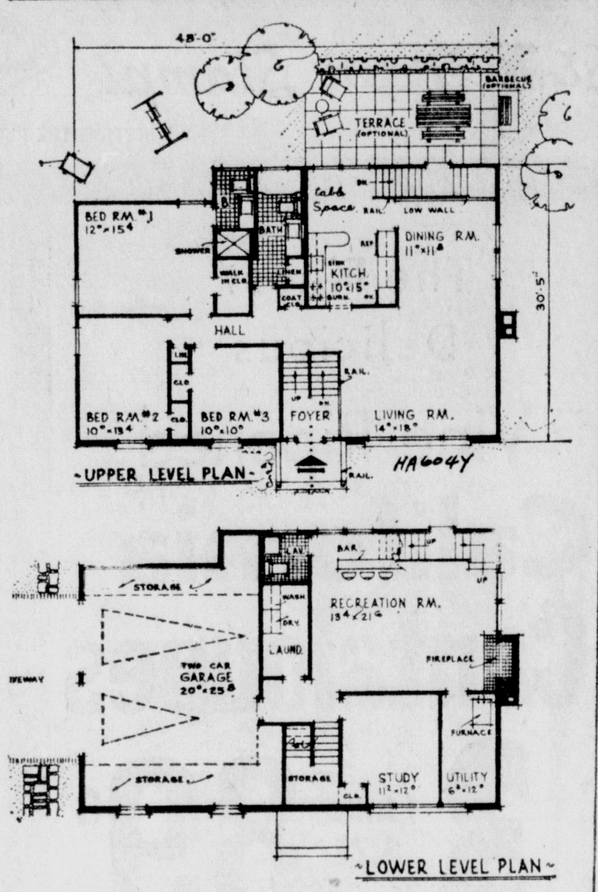
THE MAN who intends to install a concrete driveway should first have had some other experience in working with this material.

He might have repaired a section of sidewalk and then gone on to bigger things, as the installation of a terrace floor. The man who plans on refinishing a valuable piece of furniture should first have done similar jobs on less expensive wooden objects.

The man who wants to finish his basement should have gained some knowledge, through personal experience, of working with wood and glue and fasteners even though he may never have built a room.

Sadly, there are many skilled do-it-yourselfers who court trouble by ignoring the directions of manufacturers.

This occurs just as often with experienced workers as with beginners; in some cases, even more often. A man who may have painted both the inside and outside of his house on more than one occasion is quite likely to give no more than a passing glance, if anything, to the instructions on the paint can label.



ENTRANCE TO THIS raised ranch, Plan HA604Y, is through a beautiful side-lighted broken pediment Colonial doorway. Flanking railings and lamps add special interest. The multi-paned living room window is large enough to admit plenty of light. There also is a large multipaned window in the well-planned kitchen. A stair from the kitchen leads to the outside and continues down to the recreation room. Plans include an alternate front car garage placement. Architect is Herman York, 90-04 161 St., Jamaica, N.Y. 11432. The home contains 1,406 square feet on the upper level and 818 on the lower level.

If Selling Your House, Have All The Answers

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Selling your house?

To facilitate the sale, call on your memory.

What was it that made you buy the house in the first place? The neighborhood? The nearness of schools and shopping facilities? The size and placement of the rooms? The generous closet space? The general all-around appearance of cleanliness?

Write down all the good points. Whether you're attempting to sell the house yourself or are using the services of a real estate agent, the list will come in handy.

Be sure to include on it the answers to all questions that are likely to be asked — the same questions you asked when you were looking over possible purchases, among them such things as taxes, utility costs, transportation, etc.

WHEN YOU don't have a ready reply to a query and make a hesitant, fumbling answer, people are inclined to think you're trying to hide something.

Better to let them know immediately, for instance, that the taxes are such -a nd - such an amount, even if they are high, than to have the figures crop up unpleasantly later on in the discussion.

When you looked at the house with the intention of buying, you may have tested the flow of water from the sink and tub, checked the ease with which closet doors opened and closed, looked for signs of peeling paint or wallpaper.

Others will do the same; therefore, make sure they will find things in proper shape. A small amount spent on repairs can save a sale that otherwise might be lost.

Ever mentally rejected a house before you even went in it because the outside had a seedy appearance? So will others.

If the outside of the house needs a painting, do it or have it done. When figuring the profit on a sale, you are permitted to take into account the amount spent for the paint job provided it was done for the specific purpose of furthering the transaction.

IT IS one of the unfortunate things about house sales that nobody believes you really want the full advertised price.

If the price is $25,000, all prospective purchasers immediately conclude that you will take several thousand dollars less, better tell your broker so say and won't take anything less, bettert ell your broker so in clear language so there is no later misunderstanding. If you're placing a newspaper ad yourself, emphasize that the price is firm.

Sometimes it saves a lot of trouble if you just ask a couple of thousand dollars more than you want so as to allow negotiating room.

It's really not an ideal situation if you're inclined to believe that a price is a price and shouldn't be a subject for haggling, but it's sometimes more difficult to battle tradition than law.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I remove perfume stains from clothing?

A.—These are high on the list of tough ones. However, you can try wetting them first with water, then working on the stains with glycerin and cheesecloth, then rinsing with water. If traces still remain, work on the stains some more with a 20 per cent solution of acetic acid (vinegar), then flush out with clear water.

Q.—How can I deal with moldy leather book bindings?

A.—One often-effective treatment is going over the leather with a cloth dampened in ammonia.

Hammer, Ax, Hatchet Tips

It's a shame to give up a good hammer, ax or hatchet.

Therefore, when the handle cracks or breaks, it's a natural thing to want to replace it, the metal head still being perfectly good.

It's a fine idea and one that should be pursued, but pursue it slowly and carefully. The reason a new hammer or ax hefts so nicely, seems to feel just right, is that it is a planned balance of handle and head.

When you replace the handle, it is not something you can do lightly. That old tool is not going to be the same, nor perform the same, just because you put a new handle on the old head.

TRY TO find a handle that duplicates the original as closely as possible in weight and size. Examine the wood carefully and avoid crooked grain.

Try to find one in which the edge grain goes from one end to the other. Flat grain should be on the sides. If the grain runs from one side of the handle to the other, toss it back and pick another.

Fitting the handle to the head is not difficult, but it is a slow and meticulous job. The new handle will be larger than the eye in the head of the old tool.

A light touch with a wood rasp is what you need to make it fit. But be sure to take no more off one side than the other. Too much wood from one side of the handle will affect the balance, make the tool hang crooked.

Fit the head over the end of the handle. Do not force it. When it reaches a point where it will go no farther, take it off the remove the wood at that point with the rasp. Don't remove too much. Keep fitting and filing.

Try to maintain the original shape of the handle as you file off excess wood. Do not leave sharp corners.

WHEN THE head fits over the handle and makes contact at all surfaces, you are ready to wedge the handle. The handle probably has wedge slots already cut. You may have to cut more of them. Most hammers are better with two wedges and axes with three.

Steel wedges are what you are likely to find on your dealer's shelves, fine for tightening up an old tool but not too good for a new handle.

You are better off cutting some slim wood wedges that you can shape for better fit. Use the pieces of the old handle. It is more important that the wedges penetrate deeply than that they are fat and spread th heandle too much.

Drive the wedges gently so that you don't break them. The end surface can be crushed once the wedge is in. If the handle and wedges protrude through the head, cut off the excess with a hack saw. File the end smooth.

To finish the job, wipe on varnish well-thinned with turpentine.

Pennsylvania Assembly Set To Act On Stop-Gap Funds

HARRISBURG (AP) — Some $135 million in stop-gap appropriations were awaiting a final vote in the Senate today as the General Assembly returned for another work week.

The Senate was scheduled to convene at 2 p.m., the House at 3 p.m.

The stop-gap measures would finance state governmental operations through the month of July while the lawmakers continue deliberations on a budget for fiscal 1969-70.

The Senate expected to give the package of two bills final passage and sent them to the House for concurrence in an amendment.

Meanwhile, the Auditor General's Office was awaiting enactment of the legislation so that it could begin processing paychecks and welfare checks for the week.

Since Tuesday begins a new fiscal year and since the state cannot spend a dime in that year until the stop-gaps are signed by the governor, here was some consternation.

Officials said that some checks due to go out Tuesday or Wednesday would be late because it takes two days in the processing after the appropriations clear.

Meanwhile, over the weekend, House Speaker Herbert Fineman called on Gov. Shafer to throw his support behind the Democrats' proposed $2.455 billion budget.

Democrats, who control the House, came up with the figure last week as an alternative to the governor's revised $2.574 billion spending program.

Until his death, in 1922, when asked to state his profession, Alexander Graham Bell replied, "I am a teacher of the deaf."

Ohio Reports 9 Drownings

By The Associated Press

Drownings challenged traffic accidents as Ohio's biggest weekend killer.

While highways were relatively safe, with 14 victims, over the weekend, drownings took nine lives, six on Sunday.

Two other mishaps a Lucas County child run over by his father's truck and a Jackson County factory worker killed in a gas kiln explosion, raised Ohio weekend accidental death toll to 25.

There was only one multiple-death traffic accident, a one-car crash in Scioto County Friday night that killed three teenagers.

New Cumberland Changes Waited

NEW CUMBERLAND — New Cumberland will be without appointed officials, including a fire chief and a police chief, from minight tonight to July 1 at 7:30 p.m. when newly-elected Mayor Kenneth Bartley will announce his appointments.

Arthur Waston, who was defeated for re-election for mayor in the June 10 general election, stepped down from office at the time.

Bartley has been serving as acting mayor until July 1.

Police Chief William Webster is acting as constable until some one is appointed to fill the office of police chief.

2 From Hospital Attend Institute

Two members of the medical record department at City Hospital were among those who attended a three-day institute on "Management" June 25-27 at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Participating were Mrs. Lynne Brown of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. and Mrs. Ruth Ann Corsello of 3044 Meadow Rd.

The institute attracted 125 medical record librarians from 17 states. It was conducted by the American Association of Medical Record Librarians of Chicago and was sponsored by the Michigan Association of Medical Record Librarians.

Zoologists Puzzled By Strange Animal

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — It hops like a rabbit, scratches its face with its hind feet and is trying to grow a tail.

It looks something like a guinea pig, has the albino eyes of a hybrid and the soft hair of an angora rabbit.

And its got Oklahoma veterinarians and zoologists scratching their heads and consulting their textbooks.

Some people call it a guinea-bun. Its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson of Ponca City, say the mother was a guinea pig.

The father really isn't known, although the Hendersen's say the only inhabitant of the mother's cage for several months was a large, white Easter bunny.

Pilot, 22, Crashes At Home Of Parents

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) — Terry Hite, 22, of Plymouth, piloting a single-engine airplane, made a low pass over his parents' home Saturday.

The plane crashed in the front yard, apparently after striking power lines. A neighbor pulled the injured pilot from the wreckage before it caught fire. Hite suffered a broken arm and cuts.

Record Class Set To Enter Academy

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — The Coast Guard Academy Monday will open its doors to 439 new cadets, the largest entering class in the history of the academy.

The cadets begin their training more than two months before most college freshmen. The incoming class, larger than the school's total enrollment in 1955, will bring the cadet population to more than 900 for the first time.

Valuable Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — The 100-year-old American Museum of Natural History, houses 16 million animals, minerals, birds, fish, fossils, jewels, reptiles and insects. While the museum's collection can not be valued in cash, estimates have ranged from $60 to $90 million and up.

Beholder's Eyes

ETON, England (AP) — Boys at the famous school here for the sons of English aristocracy were asked recently to write an essay on poverty. One began: "There was such a terrible poor family — the mother was poor, the father was poor, the butler was poor. . . ."

Who Heard It?

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Radio Station WMHE-FM broadcast part of a City Council meeting to an exclusive, and unknown audience. The council meeting was "on the air" before the station and the telephone company determined that the broadcast was being sent to a pay telephone here instead of to the station transmitter.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Bacon-Burger Poor Boys

DEAR HELOISE: Be sure and remind your readers about those wonderful bacon-wrapped, broiled hamburgers (I call them "Poor Boy Fillets"). They are easy to make and so good.

Heloise

What I do is salt and pepper the ground meat and add Worcestershire Sauce and garlic powder (if desired). I put some bits of butter in and mix all this together. Mold them just like a fillet and wrap with bacon, using toothpicks to hold the bacon on the patty.

If your bacon is fairly wide, you can cut it in half lengthwise and have enough for two patties. I also cut one piece crosswise, as the bacon is always too long to wrap around the fillet.

Now here's the easy part:

Just PREHEAT your broiler, put the meat in and let broil a half minute, then turn for another half minute. Now shut your broiler off and let the patties stay in the broiler for thirty minutes.

No watching the meat, and you come out with the juiciest hamburgers ever. To really fancy it up, mushrooms or mushroom sauce can be pured over the meat and my, oh my, what a dish!

VIRGINIA.

DEAR HELOISE: I usually took a paper sack for our dirty clothes when we went on vacation, but it was never big enough and usually tore.

This year I got the idea of taking a zippered clothes sprinkling bag. It's bigger, doesn't tear and can be placed over the suitcases or poked in a corner of the car.

The first night out, I placed our pajamas and a change of underwear in the bag and all we had to carry in the motel was that bag and our overnight case.

MRS. ED KINSLEY.

Letter Of Laughter

DEAR HELOISE: My nephew came home one day from school and when he took off his shoes, he discovered a big hole in his brand new socks.

After turning his shoe over and looking inside and out, he turned to his mother and asked where in the world could that piece of sock have gone?

A READER.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you ever had a pair of drapes that would not wear out, and after about ten years you decided that you wanted new ones?

First I tore the lining out of the old drapes (it was really shot) and decided to use them unlined in my bedroom. But I still was not satisfied, so went down and bought some material to make new drapes.

Well, when I priced the cost of new lining, I nearly fainted. I sat down and thought that there must be some way to line the drapes without that great big price for the lining.

Then it struck me! Why not line the new drapes with the old ones? That I did, and they turned out just beautifully.

I sewed them so the old drapes faced the window. Now, when you are outside looking in, instead of an old plain lining staring back at you, there is a pretty print. Even though I was tired of looking at the faded design, it was refreshing to look in on it. (After all, how many of us see the outside of our own windows very often?)

To use this method, the new drapery material should be a darker shade to prevent the old drapes from showing through.

How is that for a bright idea???

HELEN AUSBURN.

Hotsy totsy, I'd say.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Last week when I was homesick, I decided I wanted to do something.

I thought it would be just great to put a puzzle together, but I couldn't find a table that I could put in bed with me. Then I spotted my sister's chalkboard. Turned it over to the part that you don't write on and used that side.

It makes a perfect table to put a puzzle on because you can tilt the board and the puzzle will stay in place.

STEPHANIE SIZER.

DEAR HELOISE: We have a son in Vietnam who likes home-baked cakes and cookies. Every time I sent him a box, the icing always got messed up, so I came up with this idea.

I buy the canned frosting mix, and send it along with the baked goods.

Million-To-One

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Walking down a busy street to catch a bus, Thea Pretorius lost the diamond from her ring. She discovered the loss later and, at dawn the next day, returned to the city to search for the diamond. Through a million-to-one chance, she found it lying on the pavement where it had dropped, up against a wall.

Just By Luck

RIVERTON, Wyo. (AP)—The Wyoming High School Coaches Association chose Bob Robertson of Laramie as the football coach of the year. Robertson isn't even a football coach. He's the basketball coach, but when the regular football coach, John Deti Sr., became ill, Robertson took over the reins and coached Laramie to the state championship.

Cubs Sweep St. Louis To Lead NL East By 8 Games

Clendenon Star In Mets' Victory

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tireless Billy Williams and the non-stop Chicago Cubs are swinging from their heels . . . while the startled St. Louis Cardinals hang by their thumbs.

Williams eclipsed Stan Musial's National League ironman record Sunday as the Cubs all but extinguished St. Louis' 1969 pennant hopes by sweeping a doubleheader with the defending champs 3-1 and 12-1 behind a barrage of extra base hits.

The double triumph sent the East Division leaders eight games up on second place New York and dropped the fourth place Cardinals 14 games off the pace.

Williams, flooded with gifts in a between-games ceremoney before 41,060 Wrigley Field partisans, broke Musial's mark of 895 consecutive games in the nightcap. He celebrated the occasion by smacking two triples, a double and a single . . . after doubling in the eighth inning of the opener to ignite the Cubs' winning three-run rally.

"We did what we had to do," said Ron Santo, whose five RBI in the nightcap boosted his league lead to 69. "They came to town to beat us and we beat them. They're still a strong club, but I feel we're going to win it."

"They kicked the brains out of us," said Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, whose club won the series opener last Friday and then took three straight beatings. "Catch 'em? It's possible, but awful tough. Heck, we've got two other clubs to catch before we even begin to worry about Chicago."

The Mets snapped a four-game losing string with a 7-3 victory over third place Pittsburgh; Philadelphia swept a pair from Montreal 2-0 and 5-1 for a six-game winning skein; Los Angeles defeated San Diego 3-1; Atlanta topped Houston 4-3 and Cincinnati nipped San Francisco 7-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

After Williams' eighth inning double off Bob Gibson, Ernie Banks singled home the first run of the Chicago opener and Willie Smith belted a two-run homer. Smith's blast enabled Ferguson Jenkins, 10-5, to survive Vada Pinson's ninth inning solo homer.

Banks 13th homer capped a four-run first inning salvo against Jim Grant and Santo clubbed his 15th homer in the fifth after a walk and Williams' triple.

Randy Hundley also homered for the Cubs and winner Dick Selma, 8-3, checked St. Louis on four hits, including Mike Shannon's fourth inning homer.

Smith matched Williams' five hits in the doubleheader as the Cubs made it seven victories in their last eight games.

The Mets trimmed Pittsburgh behind Tom Seaver, 12-5, who hurled a six-hitter and struck out 10. Ex-Pirate Donn Clendenon drove in three New York runs with a single and double Ed Charles, who had three hits, and Cleon Jones delivered two apiece.

Rookie right-hander Lowell Palmer pitched six hitless innings before settling for a three-hit shutout and his first major league victory and Jerry Johnson weatherd 10 Montreal hits in the second game as the Phillies continued to win despite the absence of slugger Richie Allen.

First inning singles by Rick Joseph and Larry Hisle knocked in the only runs in the opener. Hisle and Ron Stone each sent two runs home in the nightcap.

Willie Crawford drove in one run with a third inning single and tripled and scored in the seventh as the Dodgers handed San Diego its 13th loss in 14 starts and remained atop the West Division by one half game. Alan Foster and reliever Jim Brewer combined to stop the Padres on six hits.

The runner-up Braves struck for three ninth inning runs—the last one on Felipe Alou's single—to overtake Houston and keep pace with the Dodgers. Joe Morgan's two-out throwing error kept the rally alive and allowed the tying run to score.

San Francisco's Willie McCovey crashed a two-run homer, becoming the first National Leaguer ever to hit 26 before the end of June, but the Reds tied the Giants with a three-run burst in the ninth and beat them on Chico Ruiz' bases-loaded single in the 10th.

ED BRINKMAN of the Senators slides in with the winning run in the 9th inning of the twin bill to give Washington a 5-4 win over the Boston Red Sox. Brinkman was on 2nd when the play started. The bags were loaded with one out. Del Unser hit a roller to Sox shortstop Rico Petrocelli, who threw home to force Sam Bowens. Sox catcher then pegged the ball wildly to first trying to get Unser. Carl Yastrzemski, the first baseman, retieved the ball but his throw to catcher Tom Satriano (4) was too late.

Baltimore Splits; A's Sweep Sox

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Tigers went into Baltimore like Tigers and came out like sheep, toothless and all but sheered of their American League title.

Entering the four-game series with the Orioles, last Friday Detroit Manager Mayo Smith called at least three victories for the Tigers a must if they entertained any hopes of catching the runaway Orioles in the Eastern Division.

Instead, it was the Orioles who captured three of four, beating the Tigers 4-3 on Frank Robinson's run-scoring pinch-hit single in the ninth inning Suday after Detroit had rallied for three rus in the ninth for a 3-2 triumph in the opener of the doubleheader.

Now, with July already upon them, the third place Tigers' growl sounded more like a baa as they stood 13½ games behind Baltimore.

The Orioles also increased their lead over second place Boston to 1 games after the Red Sox bowed twice to Washington Senators 5-4 and 11-4.

Oakland was not having such an easy time in the Western Division, but the A's did raise their lead over Minnesota to 1½ games with a 3-2, 6-5 sweep over the Chicago White Sox with help from the power hitting of Reggie Jackson, who hit his 29th homer.

The Twins split with Kansas City, dropping the first game 7-2 before rolling to a 12-2 rout behind Tony Oliva's five hits, including two homers.

In other games, Cleveland beat the New York Yankees 5-1 before losing 6-3 and California crushed Seattle 8-2.

The Tigers, after dropping the first two games of their series with Baltimore, had only two hits off Mike Cuellar and trailed 2-0 entering the ninth inning of the doubleheader opener before making some noise.

Two walks and Tom Tresh's run-scoring single ousted Cuellar and Al Kaline followed with a two-run, two-out single off Eddie Watt, giving Mickey Lolich, 10-1, the victory.

Bill Freehan's two-run homer gave them a 3-3 tit in the third inning of the nightcap, but then Dave Leonhard 6-0, silenced them the last 6 1-3 innings and the Orioles applied the crusher in the ninth.

Chico Salmon opened with a single and after a force out, a ground out and a walk, Robinson delivered.

Boston threw away its chances in the first game when the Senators scored three times against a major league record-tying five pitchers.

One run scored on reliever Bill Landis wild throw on a bunt and another on Brant Alyea's sacrifice fly. Then with the bases loaded and one out, Del Unser forced a runner at the plate, but catcher Tom Satriano threw wild to first base, trying for the double play, and Ed Brinkman raced home with the winning run.

The Senators wasted little time in the nightcap as Mike Epstein, who hit his 16th homer in the first game, capped a six-run second inning with a three-run smash. Frank Howard added his 24th homer and Unser hit his fourth.

MORE MORE

Jackson's homer, which left him one short of Babe Ruth's record as the only player ever to hit 30 homers before July 1, gave Oakland a 3-3 tie in its second game. Jackson, who singled in an earlier run, also scored the decisive tally on Danny Cater's single in the eighth inning after hitting into a force out in his last at bat in June—Oakland is idle today.

Jim Hunter, 5-6, scattered seven hits and drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and the win-first game.

Mike Fiore's three-run homer and a two-run belt by Bob Oliver backed Wally Bunker as Kansas City beat Minnesota. But then Oliva, who had three singles in the first game, took over.

He bashed two homers for five runs and added a double and two singles as Jim Kaat, 8-6, breezed with a seven-hitter.

The Yankees overcame a 2-0 deficit in their nightcap as Gene Michael doubled in two runs and Billy Cowan slugged a pinch-hit two-run homer for four runs in the fourth inning.

Luis Tiant, 6-8, cruised in the opener with a seven-hitter with Ken Harrelson hitting a two-run homer.

Jay Johnstone drove in four runs with three singles and Rich Reichardt tripled for two more and was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded for another in California's victory.

Small Crowd Sees West Win Without Simpson

ATLANTA (AP)—The West won without O.J. Simpson but the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern Cal was sorely missed at the ninth annual Coaches All-America football game.

Officials of the game, fighting slumping attendance, had hoped Simpson would help lure a big crowd and revive interest in the all-star battle.

Simpson skipped the game along with 11 other first-round choices in the pro draft, and most Atlantans skipped it, too.

The turnout of 17,008 Saturday night was the smallest since the game was moved to Atlanta and renewed speculation that the game might be moved.

Should all parties involved agree to move the game, the managing owner of the Oakland Raiders said he would be interested in staging the affair in California.

"I think it would go in Oakland," said Al Davis, "and I would be receptive to a bid."

Scorching weather added to the game's troubles, with the temperature at 96 degrees at the kickoff. Neither team displayed much of an attack, but the West won 14-10 with fourth-quarter touchdowns from Paul Gipson of Houston and Bill Enyart of Oregon State.

Gipson, who set a record by returning a kickoff 74 yards, was voted the game's Most Valuable Player. The East standout was running back Bob Campbell of Penn State, who scored on a plunge set up by his 35-yard pass reception.

Buster O'Brien, the Richmond quarterback headed for a pro career in Canada, was the passing standout. He hit on nine of 19 throws for 109 yards for the East. Marty Domres of Columbis, the East starter, connected on six of 13 throws for 49 yards.

Bobby Douglass of Kansas, opening quarterback for the West, missed on his first 12 throws and finished with two completions in 15 tosses for 33 yards. Edd Hargett of Texas A&M connected on two of eight throws for 20 yards.

Ulbright Pitches Win For Newell

Newell raised its record to 10-0 in the South Side League's Junior Division behind the one-hit pitching of Jamie Ulbright.

Newell had little trouble romping to a 19-0 victory at Hanover Saturday.

Ulbright had nine strikeouts in hurling the shutout.

Leading the 17-hit attack were Anthony Laneve with two triples and a pair of singles, Dan Eckleberry with four singles and Joe Gamble three hits.

Rams' Meador Gains Whizzer White Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Ed Meador, defensive back for the Los Angeles Rams, Sunday night won the Justice Byron R. "Whizzer" White Award at the third annual awards dinner of the National Football League Players Association.

The award is presented to the NFL player judged to have made he greatest contribution to his team, to the league, and to his community.

The selection of Meador from among five finalists was the highlight of the dinner attended by more than 2,000, including pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Wins By Two Strokes

Coody Forgets Masters, Captures Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND (AP)—The spectre of a dramatic, three-hole collapse was haunting Charles Coody when the big, mild guy came trudging down the last three holes in the Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

"On the 16th, I hit a poor chip about 20 feet from the hole and I had a putt that had to go over two humps," he said. "The first one was five feet short and I thought, oh, good gosh this is the 16th. I'm on the last three.

"That's the first time I thought about it. I didn't want to think about it but it's hard not to."

He was referring to his blow-up in the last three holes at the prestigious Masters in Augusta, Ga., earlier this year.

But it was a different story Sunday.

He finished with a 271, nine strokes under par on the 6,661-yard Aurora Country Club course and was two strokes ahead of Bruce Crampton, an Australian now living in Dallas. Crampton had a 69 for 273.

It was the sixth second-place finish since last September for Crampton, whose last triumph in this country was in 1965. Bob Murphy closed with a 65 for 275 and was alone in third.

Bert Yancey, with a 65, and Frank Beard, 66 followed at 276 while John Schlee tied with Crampton for second place going into the final round had a 71 for 277.

Arnold Palmer couldn't get it going and had a par 70 for 279 and a tie with five others for ninth place. Julius Boros had a 71 for 280, Jack Nicklaus a 74 for 289 and was tied at the figure, far back in the pack, with Lee Trevino and Masters title holder George Archer.

U.S. Open champion Orville Moody had a two-stroke lead going into the final round but bogeyed the first hole when he missed the green and failed on a six-foot par putt.

But he birdied the fourth from eight feet and the sixth from 20, turned in 34 and had a three-stroke margin over Crampton, who was out in par.

That was cut to one when Crampton birdied the 11th and Coody took a bogey on 12, again missing the green.

It stayed that way for the next three holes, and then came the final three when Coody fought off the gnawing thoughts of the Masters collapse.

"On the 17th (a par 3), I started to hit a four iron" the 6-foot-2 Coody said. "But I thought, that's just what you did at the Masters. Tried to safe it. So I took out a three iron, but I missed the green. But at least I took a club and hit it."

He chipped on to within three feet and dropped the putt. On the 18th, needing only a par to win, he pitched 12 feet past the pin, but made the putt.

He won $22,000 boosting his winnings for the year to $67,000.

His Highness became the first wo - year - old horse to win nore than $100,000 in one season. Most of his 1891 earnings of $106,900 came when he won $61,675 in the Futurity.

McWilliams Wins Dirt Track Title By 3 Car Lengths

WEST CHESTER Ohio (AP) — Chuck McWilliams won the pole position and then led the entire 100 laps to win the Ohio Half Mile Dirt Track Championship Sunday night at Tri County Speedway.

McWilliams of Union, Ky., won the race by three cars lengths after leading by more than half a lap at different times. A yellow flag on the 99th lap helped second place finisher Larry Moore of Green Forks, Ind., in a 1969 Chevelle to pick up some distance.

Pennsylvania Assembly Set To Act On Stop-Gap Funds

HARRISBURG (AP) — Some $135 million in stop-gap appropriations were awaiting a final vote in the Senate today as the General Assembly returned for another work week.

The Senate was scheduled to convene at 2 p.m., the House at 3 p.m.

The stop-gap measures would finance state governmental operations through the month of July while the lawmakers continue deliberations on a budget for fiscal 1969-70.

The Senate expected to give the package of two bills final passage and sent them to the House for concurrence in an amendment.

Meanwhile, the Auditor General's Office was awaiting enactment of the legislation so that it could begin processing paychecks and welfare checks for the week.

Since Tuesday begins a new fiscal year and since the state cannot spend a dime in that year until the stop-gaps are signed by the governor, here was some consternation.

Officials said that some checks due to go out Tuesday or Wednesday would be late because it takes two days in the processing after the appropriations clear.

Meanwhile, over the weekend, House Speaker Herbert Fineman called on Gov. Shafer to throw his support behind the Democrats' proposed $2.455 billion budget.

Democrats, who control the House, came up with the figure last week as an alternative to the governor's revised $2.574 billion spending program.

Until his death, in 1922, when asked to state his profession, Alexander Graham Bell replied, "I am a teacher of the deaf."

Ohio Reports 9 Drownings

By The Associated Press

Drownings challenged traffic accidents as Ohio's biggest weekend killer.

While highways were relatively safe, with 14 victims over the weekend, drownings took nine lives, six on Sunday.

Two other mishaps a Lucas County child run over by his father's truck and a Jackson County factory worker killed in a gas kiln explosion, raised Ohio weekend accidental death toll to 25.

There was only one multiple-death traffic accident, a one-car crash in Scioto County Friday night that killed three teenagers.

New Cumberland Changes Waited

NEW CUMBERLAND — New Cumberland will be without appointed officials, including a fire chief and a police chief, from minight tonight to July 1 at 7:30 p.m. when newly-elected Mayor Kenneth Bartley will announce his appointments.

Arthur Waston, who was defeated for re-election for mayor in the June 10 general election, stepped down from office at the time.

Bartley has been serving as acting mayor until July 1.

Police Chief William Webster is acting as constable until some one is appointed to fill the office of police chief.

2 From Hospital Attend Institute

Two members of the medical record department at City Hospital were among those who attended a three-day institute on "Management" June 25-27 at Ann Arbor, Mich.

Participating were Mrs. Lynne Brown of the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. and Mrs. Ruth Ann Corsello of 3044 Meadow Rd.

The institute attracted 125 medical record librarians from 17 states. It was conducted by the American Association of Medical Record Librarians of Chicago and was sponsored by the Michigan Association of Medical Record Librarians.

Zoologists Puzzled By Strange Animal

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — It hops like a rabbit, scratches its face with its hind feet and is trying to grow a tail.

It looks something like a guinea pig, has the albino eyes of a hybrid and the soft hair of an angora rabbit.

And its got Oklahoma veterinarians and zoologists scratching their heads and consulting their textbooks.

Some people call it a guinea-bum. Its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Henderson of Ponca City, say the mother was a guinea pig.

The father really isn't known, although the Henderson's say the only inhabitant of the mother's cage for several months was a large, white Easter bunny.

Pilot, 22, Crashes At Home Of Parents

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (AP) — Terry Hite, 22, of Plymouth, piloting a single-engine airplane, made a low pass over his parents' home Saturday.

The plane crashed in the front yard, apparently after striking power lines. A neighbor pulled the injured pilot from the wreckage before it caught fire. Hite suffered a broken arm and cuts.

Record Class Set To Enter Academy

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — The Coast Guard Academy Monday will open its doors to 459 new cadets, the largest entering class in the history of the academy.

The cadets begin their training more than two months before most college freshmen. The incoming class, larger than the school's total enrollment in 1955, will bring the cadet population to more than 900 for the first time.

Valuable Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — The 100-year-old American Museum of Natural History, houses 16 million animals, minerals, birds, fish, fossils, jewels, reptiles and insects. While the museum's collection can not be valued in cash, estimates have ranged from $60 to $90 million and up.

Beholder's Eyes

ETON, England (AP) — Boys at the famous school here for the sons of English aristocracy were asked recently to write an essay on poverty. One began: "There was such a terrible poor family — the mother was poor, the father was poor, the butler was poor. . . ."

Who Heard It?

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Radio Station WMHE-FM broadcast part of a City Council meeting to an exclusive, and unknown audience. The council meeting was "on the air" before the station and the telephone company determined that the broadcast was being sent to a pay telephone here instead of to the station transmitter.

Muncey's Hydroplane Wins Race

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Muncey, a self-styled "foxy driver with a lot of old tricks", had another trophy to add to his collection today after sizzling to a come-from-behind win in the World Hydroplane Mett Sunday.

Muncey went into the last heat trailing two other Detroit boats, Myr's Special and Miss Schweppes by 100 points, but he outsped then in a sizzling duel for two laps. The latter two encountered engine troubles almost simultaneously well into the third lap and from then on it was a question of Muncey covering the remaining two laps with virtually to competition. Vteran driver Fred Alter, 42, of Detroit, driving Miss Schweppes and Dean Chenoweth, 32, of Xenia, Ohio, in Myr's Special, got their boats running fairly well again but by that time Muncey was way out in front.

Muncey and Chenoweth each finished the day with 1,100 points but under the rules of the American Power Boating Association, first place and its $7,500 prize money went to the winner of the final heat.

Cubs Sweep St. Louis To Lead NL East By 8 Games

Clendenon Star In Mets' Victory

Associated Press Sports Writer

Tireless Billy Williams and the non-stop Chicago Cubs are swinging from their heels . . . while the startled St. Louis Cardinals hang by their thumbs.

Williams eclipsed Stan Musial's National League ironman record Sunday as the Cubs all but extinguished St. Louis' 1969 pennant hopes by sweeping a doubleheader with the defending champs 3-1 and 12-1 behind a barrage of extra base hits.

The double triumph sent the East Division leaders eight games up on second place New York and dropped the fourth place Cardinals 14 games off the pace.

Williams, flooded with gifts in a between-games ceremoney before 41,060 Wrigley Field partisans, broke Musial's mark of 895 consecutive games in the nightcap. He celebrated the occasion by smacking two triples, a double and a single . . . after doubling in the eighth inning of the opener to ignite the Cubs' winning three-run rally.

"We did what we had to do," said Ron Santo, whose five RBI in the nightcap boosted his league lead to 69. "They came to town to beat us and we beat them. They're still a strong club, but I feel we're going to win it."

"They kicked the brains out of us," said Cards Manager Red Schoendienst, whose club won the series opener last Friday and then took three straight beatings. "Catch 'em? It's possible, but awful tough. Heck, we've got two other clubs to catch before we even begin to worry about Chicago."

The Mets snapped a four-game losing string with a 7-3 victory over third place Pittsburgh; Philadelphia swept a pair from Montreal 2-0 and 5-1 for a six-game winning skein; Los Angeles defeated San Diego 3-1; Atlanta topped Houston 4-3 and Cincinnati nipped San Francisco 7-6 in 10 innings in other NL games.

After Williams' eighth inning double off Bob Gibson, Ernie Banks singled home the first run of the Chicago opener and Willie Smith belted a two-run homer. Smith's blast enabled Ferguson Jenkins, 10-5, to survive Vada Pinson's ninth inning solo homer.

Banks 13th homer capped a four-run first inning salvo against Jim Grant and Santo clubbed his 15th homer in the fifth after a walk and Williams' triple.

Randy Hundley also homered for the Cubs and winner Dick Selma, 8-3, checked St. Louis on four hits, including Mike Shannon's fourth inning homer.

Smith matched Williams' five hits in the doubleheader as the Cubs made it seven victories in their last eight games.

The Mets trimmed Pittsburgh behind Tom Seaver, 12-5, who hurled a six-hitter and struck out 10. Ex-Pirate Donn Clendenon drove in three New York runs with a single and double Ed Charles, who had three hits, and Cleon Jones delivered two apiece.

Rookie right-hander Lowell Palmer pitched six hitless innings before settling for a three-hit shutout and his first major league victory and Jerry Johnson weatherd 10 Montreal hits in the second game as the Phillies continued to win despite the absence of slugger Richie Allen.

First inning singles by Rick Joseph and Larry Hisle knocked in the only runs in the opener. Hisle and Ron Stone each sent two runs home in the nightcap.

Willie Crawford drove in one run with a third inning single and tripled and scored in the seventh as the Dodgers handed San Diego its 13th loss in 14 starts and remained atop the West Division by one half game. Alan Foster and reliever Jim Brewer combined to stop the Padres on six hits.

The runner-up Braves struck for three ninth inning runs—the last one on Felipe Alou's single—to overtake Houston and keep pace with the Dodgers. Joe Morgan's two-out throwing error kept the rally alive and allowed the tying run to score.

San Francisco's Willie McCovey crashed a two-run homer, becoming the first National Leaguer ever to hit 26 before the end of June, but the Reds tied the Giants with a three-run burst in the ninth and beat them on Chico Ruiz' bases-loaded single in the 10th.

ED BRINKMAN of the Senators slides in with the winning run in the 9th inning of the twin bill to give Washington a 5-4 win over the Boston Red Sox. Brinkman was on 2nd when the play started. The bags were loaded with one out. Del Unser hit a roller to Sox shortstop Rico Petrocelli, who threw home to force Sam Bowens. Sox catcher then pegged the ball wildly to first trying to get Unser. Carl Yastrzemski, the first baseman, retieved the ball but his throw to catcher Tom Satriano (4) was too late.

Baltimore Splits; A's Sweep Sox

By The Associated Press

The Detroit Tigers went into Baltimore like Tigers and came out like sheep, toothless and all but sheered of their American League title.

Entering the four-game series with the Orioles, last Friday Detroit Manager Mayo Smith called at least three victories for the Tigers a must if they entertained any hopes of catching the runaway Orioles in the Eastern Division.

Instead, it was the Orioles who captured three of four, beating the Tigers 4-3 on Frank Robinson's run-scoring pinch-hit single in the ninth inning Suday after Detroit had rallied for three rus in the ninth for a 3-2 triumph in the opener of the doubleheader.

Now, with July already upon them, the third place Tigers' growl sounded more like a baa as they stood 13½ games behind Baltimore.

The Orioles also increased their lead over second place Boston to 1 games after the Red Sox bowed twice to Washington Senators 5-4 and 11-4.

Oakland was not having such an easy time in the Western Division, but the A's did raise their lead over Minnesota to 1½ games with a 3-2, 6-5 sweep over the Chicago White Sox with help from the power hitting of Reggie Jackson, who hit his 29th homer.

The Twins split with Kansas City, dropping the first game 7-2 before rolling to a 12-2 rout behind Tony Oliva's five hits, including two homers.

In other games, Cleveland beat the New York Yankees 5-1 before losing 6-3 and California crushed Seattle 8-2.

The Tigers, after dropping the first two games of their series with Baltimore, had only two hits off Mike Cuellar and trailed 2-0 entering the ninth inning of the doubleheader opener before making some noise.

Two walks and Tom Tresh's run-scoring single ousted Cuellar and Al Kaline followed with a two-run, two-out single off Eddie Watt, giving Mickey Lolich, 10-1, the victory.

Bill Freehan's two-run homer gave them a 3-3 tit in the third inning of the nightcap, but then Dave Leonhard 6-0, silenced them the last 6 1-3 innings and the Orioles applied the crusher in the ninth.

Chico Salmon opened with a single and after a force out, a ground out and a walk, Robinson delivered.

Boston threw away its chances in the first game when the Senators scored three times against a major league record-tying five pitchers.

One run scored on reliever Bill Landis wild throw on a bunt and another on Brant Alyea's sacrifice fly. Then with the bases loaded and one out, Del Unser forced a runner at the plate, but catcher Tom Satriano threw wild to first base, trying for the double play, and Ed Brinkman raced home with the winning run.

The Senators wasted little time in the nightcap as Mike Epstein, who hit his 16th homer in the first game, capped a six-run second inning with a three-run smash. Frank Howard added his 24th homer and Unser hit his fourth.

MORE MORE

Jackson's homer, which left him one short of Babe Ruth's record as the only player ever to hit 30 homers before July 1, gave Oakland a 3-3 tie in its second game. Jackson, who singled in an earlier run, also scored the decisive tally on Danny Cater's single in the eighth inning after hitting into a force out in his last at bat in June—Oakland is idle today.

Jim Hunter, 5-6, scattered seven hits and drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and the winfirst game.

Mike Fiore's three-run homer and a two-run belt by Bob Oliver backed Wally Bunker as Kansas City beat Minnesota. But then Oliva, who had three singles in the first game, took over.

He bashed two homers for five runs and added a double and two singles as Jim Kaat, 8-6, breezed with a seven-hitter.

The Yankees overcame a 2-0 deficit in their nightcap as Gene Michael doubled in two runs and Billy Cowan slugged a pinch-hit two-run homer for four runs in the fourth inning.

Luis Tiant, 6-8, cruised in the opener with a seven-hitter with Ken Harrelson hitting a two-run homer.

Jay Johnstone drove in four runs with three singles and Rich Reichardt tripled for two more and was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded for another in California's victory.

Wins By Two Strokes

Coody Forgets Masters, Captures Cleveland Open

CLEVELAND (AP)—The spectre of a dramatic, three-hole collapse was haunting Charles Coody when the big, mild guy came trudging down the last three holes in the Cleveland Open Golf Tournament.

"On the 16th, I hit a poor chip about 20 feet from the hole and I had a putt that had to go over two humps," he said. "The first one was five feet short and I thought, oh, good gosh this is the 16th. I'm on the last three.

"That's the first time I thought about it. I didn't want to think about it but it's hard not to."

He was referring to his blow-up in the last three holes at the prestigious Masters in Augusta, Ga., earlier this year.

But it was a different story Sunday.

He finished with a 271, nine strokes under par on the 6,661-yard Aurora Country Club course and was two strokes ahead of Bruce Crampton, an Australian now living in Dallas. Crampton had a 69 for 273.

It was the sixth second-place finish since last September for Crampton, whose last triumph in this country was in 1965. Bob Murphy closed with a 65 for 275 and was alone in third.

Bert Yancey, with a 65, and Frank Beard, 66 followed at 276 while John Schlee tied with Crampton for second place going into the final round had a 71 for 277.

Arnold Palmer couldn't get it going and had a par 70 for 279 and a tie with five others for ninth place. Julius Boros had a 71 for 280, Jack Nicklaus a 74 for 289 and was tied at the figure, far back in the pack, with Lee Trevino and Masters title holder George Archer.

U.S. Open champion Orville Moody had a two-stroke lead going into the final round but bogeyed the first hole when he missed the green and failed on a six-foot par putt.

But he birdied the fourth from eight feet and the sixth from 20, turned in 34 and had a three-stroke margin over Crampton, who was out in par.

That was cut to one when Crampton birdied the 11th and Coody took a bogey on 12, again missing the green.

It stayed that way for the next three holes, and then came the final three when Coody fought off the gnawing thoughts of the Masters collapse.

"On the 17th (a par 3), I started to hit a four iron" the 6-foot-2 Coody said. "But I thought, that's just what you did at the Masters. Tried to safe it. So I took out a three iron, but I missed the green. But at least I took a club and hit it."

He chipped on to within three feet and dropped the putt. On the 18th, needing only a par to win, he pitched 12 feet past the pin, but made the putt.

He won $22,000 boosting his winnings for the year to $67,000.

His Highness became the first wo - year - old horse to win nore than $100,000 in one season. Most of his 1891 earnings of $106,900 came when he won $61,675 in the Futurity.

McWilliams Wins Dirt Track Title By 3 Car Lengths

WEST CHESTER Ohio (AP) — Chuck McWilliams won the pole position and then led the entire 100 laps to win the Ohio Half Mile Dirt Track Championship Sunday night at Tri County Speedway.

McWilliams of Union, Ky., won the race by three cars lengths after leading by more than half a lap at different times. A yellow flag on the 99th lap helped second place finisher Larry Moore of Green Forks, Ind., in a 1969 Chevelle to pick up some distance.

Small Crowd Sees West Win Without Simpson

ATLANTA (AP)—The West won without O.J. Simpson but the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern Cal was sorely missed at the ninth annual Coaches All-America football game.

Officials of the game, fighting slumping attendance, had hoped Simpson would help lure a big crowd and revive interest in the all-star battle.

Simpson skipped the game along with 11 other first-round choices in the pro draft, and most Atlantans skipped it, too.

The turnout of 17,008 Saturday night was the smallest since the game was moved to Atlanta and renewed speculation that the game might be moved.

Should all parties involved agree to move the game, the managing owner of the Oakland Raiders said he would be interested in staging the affair in California.

"I think it would go in Oakland," said Al Davis, "and I would be receptive to a bid."

Scorching weather added to the game's troubles, with the temperature at 96 degrees at the kickoff. Neither team displayed much of an attack, but the West won 14-10 with fourth-quarter touchdowns from Paul Gipson of Houston and Bill Enyart of Oregon State.

Gipson, who set a record by returning a kickoff 74 yards, was voted the game's Most Valuable Player. The East standout was running back Bob Campbell of Penn State, who scored on a plunge set up by his 35-yard pass reception.

Buster O'Brien, the Richmond quarterback headed for a pro career in Canada, was the passing standout. He hit on nine of 19 throws for 109 yards for the East. Marty Domres of Columbis, the East starter, connected on six of 13 throws for 49 yards.

Bobby Douglass of Kansas, opening quarterback for the West, missed on his first 12 throws and finished with two completions in 15 tosses for 33 yards. Edd Hargett of Texas A&M connected on two of eight throws for 20 yards.

Ulbright Pitches Win For Newell

Newell raised its record to 10-0 in the South Side League's Junior Division behind the one-hit pitching of Jamie Ulbright.

Newell had little trouble romping to a 19-0 victory at Hanover Saturday.

Ulbright had nine strikeouts in hurling the shutout.

Leading the 17-hit attack were Anthony Laneve with two triples and a pair of singles, Dan Eckleberry with four singles and Joe Gamble three hits.

Rams' Meador Gains Whizzer White Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Ed Meador, defensive back for the Los Angeles Rams, Sunday night won the Justice Byron R. "Whizzer" White Award at the third annual awards dinner of the National Football League Players Association.

The award is presented to the NFL player judged to have made he greatest contribution to his team, to the league, and to his community.

The selection of Meador from among five finalists was the highlight of the dinner attended by more than 2,000, including pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Jean-Pierre Is Winner In Rich Cup

Racing Roundup
By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jean-Pierre won't get the Croix de Guerre for winning the Yankee Gold Cup, but maybe he'll be made a Kentucky Colonel.

The 5-year-old chestnut horse with the French name, but bred in Kentucky, stormed to victory last Saturday in the inaugural running of the $252,750 Gold Cup at Suffolk Downs.

The next three finishers in the field of 14—they were French breds.

"It was a magnificent race," said Bill Veeck, president of Suffolk Downs. And it was a costly one, too.

In other key races across the country, Desert Law won the $81,350 Vanity andicap at Hollywood Park, Best Turn took the $58,800 Twilight Tear Handicap at Arlington Park and Singing Rain won the $39,200 Molly Pitcher Handicap at Monmouth Park.

Carrying 113 pounds 170 yards less than two miles on the grass, Jean-Pierre, ridden by Walter Blum and owned by Thomas S. Nichols was timed in 3:11 4-5 in finishing 1¼ lengths ahead of Barney Lobel's Taneb, 116.

Flag Is Up Farm's and Eddie Constantine's Petrone, 125, was second and Comtesee Margi Batthyany's Samos II, 124 was third. Next came Gustave Ring's favored Czar Alexander, who was highweighted at 128.

Jean-Pierre paid a winning mutuel of $13.40 in picking up the $164,287 first prize from the richest turf race in North America.

Desert Law beat her stablemate Gamely by 1½ lengths in the Vanity Handicap and then the William Haggin Perry pair withstood a foul claim. Manuel Ycaza, aboard Rokeby Stable's Amerigo Lady, who finished third in the field of fillies and mares, claimed the Perry entry interferred with his mount in the stretch, but it was disallowed.

Desert Law, ridden by Laffit Pincay and toting 119 pounds, nine less than the top-weighted Gamely and six less than Amerigo Lady, returned $3.80 after running the 1⅛ miles in 1:48 1—5.

Calumet Farm's Best Turn, ridden by Eddie Belmonte, romped home by five lengths over Aisco Stable's Prevailing in the one-mile Saranac for 3-year-olds on closing day at Belmont Park. Greentree Stable's Buck Run was third, ahead of Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Godspeed and Ogden Phipps' King of the Castle, the highweight under 122 pounds.

Best Turn, 112, covered the mile in 1:35 2—5 and returned $16.

Miss Swapsco, owned by Roban Stables and highweighted at 118 pounds in the field of 10 fillies and mares, led all the way to score by a half length over Royal Fillet, with Faneuil Hall third in the twilight Tear Handicap. The winner, $12, stepped the seven furlongs under Craig Perrett in 1:22 4—5.

Ray Broussard sent Walter M. Jeffords Jr.'s Singing Rain topweighted at 119, over 1 1—16 miles in 1:43 4—5 to score by 1½ lengths over Gay Sailorette, with Clem's Fairy Gold third, in the Molly Pitcher Handicap for fillies and mares. The winning mutuel was $3.40.

Ohio Netter Wins

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Unseeded Turner Howard of Knoxville, Tenn., upset fourth-ranked Jamie Pressly of Palm Beach, Fla., and won the men's singles title of the 84th Southern Tennis Championships Sunday 6-2, 6-3.

Connie Capozzi of Middletown, Ohio, won the women's singles crown over Tish Adams of Charleston, S.C., 6-1, 6-2.

Post 374 Handed 9-8 Loss At Tiltonsville

A home run by Bill Nameth with two outs in the last of the seventh gave Tiltonsville new life and finally a 9-8 victory in extra innings over visiting Post 374 Sunday.

Post 374 led 6-5 going into the last of the seventh when Nameth tied the score. The East Liverpool nine scored two runs in the top of the ninth but Tiltonsville scored three in the last of the ninth to win.

Jim Moore started for Post 374 and was relieved by Al Parsons. Bob Flint finished the game for Post 374 and gave up three runs in the ninth on two singles, a hit batsman, a walk and an error.

Vic Reed's double in the sixth inning put Post 374 in front 6-5.

Post 374 plays Salem Thursday at Colt Field and a doubleheader Friday at Midland.

Ryun Drops Out Of Mile Run; Evans Sets 440-Yard Record

MIAMI (AP)—World champion miler Jim Ryun dropped back into last place and then dropped out of the mile race at the National AAU track and field meet Sunday.

The heralded rematch between Ryun and Marty Liquori, who topped him last week with an NCAA record of 3:57.7, quickly turned into no match at all as Liquori won the race in 3:59.5.

Olympic record holder Lee Evans outdistanced th rest of the field to take the 440-yard dash with another AAU record of 45.6 seconds.

John Carlos sliced two-tenths of a second off the 220-yard dash AAU record with a 20.2 second run.

Other AAU records toppled during the meet at Miami-Dade Junior College North Stadium were the discus, the javelin and the two-mile walk events.

Ron Laird sheared his own AAU record in the two-mile walk. Laird, of the New York Athletic Club, hit the tape with a time of 13:31.6.

A Pacific Coast Club athlete, John Cole, set a discus meet record of 208 feet, 10 inches. Cole, named outstanding athlete by the meet sportswriters, beat out world record holder Jay Silvester of Provo, Utah.

Silvester's toss fell one-half inch short of Cole's meet record. The old record was set in 1967 by Gary Carlson with a throw of 205-10.

The AAU javelin record fell to a 230-pound Arizona State sophomore. Mark Murro's toss was a 284-foot, 3-inch record that bettered the old meet mark of 271-9 set by Al Centello of the U.S. Marines in 1960.

Ryun aid, "I just quit." He said he left the stadium immediately after he quit the track because "I was emotionally upset."

But he said he returned to the stadium later because "I wanted to straighten this whole thing out."

He said he didn't have any immediate plans, and said he planned to do a lot of serious thinking about his running future.

Bad Storms Rip Midwest

By The Associated Press

High winds, hail, tornadoes and torrential rains rampaged through the Midwest early today, leaving two persons dead with another missing and feared drowned.

Near Chicago, wind unroofed an apartment building injuring two persons and flattened utility poles that briefly plunged 11,000 persons in darkness. A St. Louis backout affected 75,000 persons.

Iowa officials reported a 16-year-old youth was killed when lightening set fire to his farm home near Rockwell. A Mason City youth was missing and feared drowned in the Winnebago River.

Robert Holcomb of East St. Louis, Ill., an electrical repairman, was electrocuted while working on storm damaged power lines.

Twisters and funnel clouds were sighted in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Trials Slated For 2 Drivers

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today slated trials later this week for two drivers who pleaded not guilty on charges filed by local police and the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The court set a hearing Thursday for Edward C. Moore of Post Office Box 6, accused of failure to stop after his auto had been involved in a mishap resulting in property damage.

The patrol alleged he was the driver of an auto which veered off County Rd. 15 May 30 at 2:10 a. m. and struck a mailbox, a newspaper delivery tube and a guy wire supporting an Ohio Power Co. pole.

A hearing is due Wednesday for James D. Rawson, 27, of Joliet, Ill., cited Saturday night on a charge of operating a truck with an insecure load. Officers said eight coils of steel fell off Rawson's rig at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St.

Meanwhile, George T. Clark, 33, of 1556 Wyoming Ave. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle. Cited by the patrol June 16 at 7:55 p.m. on Route 7, he told the court the alleged defects in the auto now have been repaired.

Raymond M. Householder, 36, of Hammondsville was fined $20 and costs on a charge of driving a truck 70 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited by the patrol Sunday at 6:50 a.m. JoAnn Ruth Brown, 36, of 1281 Allen Ave. paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. She was cited by the patrol after a traffic mishap Thursday at 5:25 p.m. on Route 267.

The court ordered a warrant for the arrest of Franklin P. Watkins of 722 Sophia St., who failed to appear on a charge of driving 52 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was cited Sunday at 8:06 p.m. on St. Clair Ave. by Patrolman James Woods.

Floyd Gallagher, 18, of 822 Daisy Allen was given a suspended 10-day jail term when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license. He was cited by Acting Lt. William A. Devon Saturday at 4:53 a.m. in Diamond Alley.

Donna Caponi Overcomes Rain, Heat To Win Tourney

Associated Press Sports Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Exuberant Donna Caponi, who surged forward through rain and heat while her rivals wilted, had a feeling she could win the U.S. Womn's Open Golf Championship even before she teed off.

"I shot 74-76-75 and thought I was due for a good round," the stocky, 24-year-old Californian said Sunday after she nailed down the $5,000 first prize with a 69 for a two-over par 294 and her first tournament victory.

Donna, on the brink of victory after two runnerup finishes in the last three tournaments, shot a 34 in blistering, 108-degree heat on the front nine.

She then weathered a thunderstorm and interruption in play, coming in for a 35 to notch the most prestigious victory in women's golf.

The victory increased her earnings over the past five years to mort than $60,000.

"I still can't believe its me," she said over champagne after finishing play over the tight, tree-lined par 73 Scenic Hills Country Club course. "I still can't believe I actually won the Open."

The brown-haired, blue-eyed champion, nicknamed "Watusi Kid" because of her exuberance, surged in from five strokes back going into the final round.

She was challenged until the last shot by Peggy Wilson, who had wanted to win the Open since she dreamed 11 years ago of the thrill of playing bfore a huge gallery.

The plucky 30-year-old former physical education teacher matched Donna's birdie on the final green but it wasn't enough. She finished with a 73 for 295, a broken dream and a $2,500 second priz.

Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner on the tour, charged into contention from 11 strokes off the pace with a 69 Saturday, but fell to 73 in the final round for 296 and a $1,500 third prize.

Shapely veteran Jo Ann Prentice, who never found her game after leading the second round, shot a 75 for 298 and tied for fourth with third-round leader Ruth Jessen, who shot 78 and veteran Sybil Griffin, who had 72. Each won $1,330.

Muncey's Hydroplane Wins Race

DETROIT (AP) — Bill Muncey, a self-styled "foxy driver with a lot of old tricks", had another trophy to add to his collection today after sizzling to a come-from-behind win in the World Hydroplane Mett Sunday.

Muncey went into the last heat trailing two other Detroit boats, Myr's Special and Miss Schweppes by 100 points, but he outsped then in a sizzling duel for two laps. The latter two encountered engine troubles almost simultaneously well into the third lap and from then on it was a question of Muncey covering the remaining two laps with virtually to competition. Vteran driver Fred Alter, 42, of Detroit, driving Miss Schweppes and Dean Chenoweth, 32, of Xenia, Ohio, in Myr's Special, got their boats running fairly well again but by that time Muncey was way out in front.

Muncey and Chenoweth each finished the day with 1,100 points but under the rules of the American Power Boating Association, first place and its $7,5000 prize money went to the winner of the final heat.

Jean-Pierre Is Winner In Rich Cup

109SPTczcqyqyxsuee b21 eg30
Racing Roundup
By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jean-Pierre won't get the Croix de Guerre for winning the Yankee Gold Cup, but maybe he'll be made a Kentucky Colonel.

The 5-year-old chestnut horse with the French name, but bred in Kentucky, stormed to victory last Saturday in the inaugural running of the $252,750 Gold Cup at Suffolk Downs.

The next three finishers in the field of 14—they were French breds.

"It was a magnificent race," said Bill Veeck, president of Suffolk Downs. And it was a costly one, too.

In other key races across the country, Desert Law won the $81,350 Vanity andicap at Hollywood Park, Best Turn took the $58,800 Twilight Tear Handicap at Arlington Park and Singing Rain won the $39,200 Molly Pitcher Handicap at Monmouth Park.

Carrying 113 pounds 170 yards less than two miles on the grass, Jean-Pierre, ridden by Walter Blum and owned by Thomas S. Nichols was timed in 3:11 4-5 in finishing 1¼ lengths ahead of Barney Lobel's Taneb, 116.

Flag Is Up Farm's and Eddie Constantine's Petrone, 125, was second and Comtesee Margi Batthyany's Samos II, 124 was third. Next came Gustave Ring's favored Czar Alexander, who was highweighted at 128.

Jean-Pierre paid a winning mutuel of $13.40 in picking up the $164,287 first prize from the richest turf race in North America.

Desert Law beat her stablemate Gamely by 1½ lengths in the Vanity Handicap and then the William Haggin Perry pair withstood a foul claim. Manuel Ycaza, aboard Rokeby Stable's Amerigo Lady, who finished third in the field of fillies and mares, claimed the Perry entry interferred with his mount in the stretch, but it was disallowed.

Desert Law, ridden by Laffit Pincay and toting 119 pounds, nine less than the top-weighted Gamely and six less than Amerigo Lady, returned $3.80 after running the 1⅛ miles in 1:48 1—5.

Calumet Farm's Best Turn, ridden by Eddie Belmonte, romped home by five lengths over Aisco Stable's Prevailing in the one-mile Saranac for 3-year-olds on closing day at Belmont Park. Greentree Stable's Buck Run was third, ahead of Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Godspeed and Ogden Phipps' King of the Castle, the highweight under 122 pounds.

Best Turn, 112, covered the mile in 1:35 2—5 and returned $16.

Miss Swapsco, owned by Roban Stables and highweighted at 118 pounds in the field of 10 fillies and mares, led all the way to score by a half length over Royal Fillet, with Faneuil Hall third in the twilight Tear Handicap. The winner, $12, stepped the seven furlongs under Craig Perrett in 1:22 4—5.

Ray Broussard sent Walter M. Jeffords Jr.'s Singing Rain topweighted at 119, over 1 1—16 miles in 1:43 4—5 to score by 1½ lengths over Gay Sailorette, with Clem's Fairy Gold third, in the Molly Pitcher Handicap for fillies and mares. The winning mutuel was $3.40.

Ohio Netter Wins

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Unseeded Turner Howard of Knoxville, Tenn., upset fourth-ranked Jamie Pressly of Palm Beach, Fla., and won the men's singles title of the 84th Southern Tennis Championships Sunday 6-2, 6-3.

Connie Capozzi of Middletown, Ohio, won the women's singles crown over Tish Adams of Charleston, S.C., 6-1, 6-2.

Gain Hall Of Fame

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Clark Shaughnessy and Abe Mickal, college football stars of years ago, have been inducted into Louisiana's Sports Hall of Fame.

Post 374 Handed 9-8 Loss At Tiltonsville

A home run by Bill Nameth with two outs in the last of the seventh gave Tiltonsville new life and finally a 9-8 victory in extra innings over visiting Post 374 Sunday.

Post 374 led 6-5 going into the last of the seventh when Nameth tied the score. The East Liverpool nine scored two runs in the top of the ninth but Tiltonsville scored three in the last of the ninth to win.

Jim Moore started for Post 374 and was relieved by Al Parsons. Bob Flint finished the game for Post 374 and gave up three runs in the ninth on two singles, a hit batsman, a walk and an error.

Vic Reed's double in the sixth inning put Post 374 in front 6-5.

Post 374 plays Salem Thursday at Colt Field and a doubleheader Friday at Midland.

Ryun Drops Out Of Mile Run; Evans Sets 440-Yard Record

MIAMI (AP)—World champion miler Jim Ryun dropped back into last place and then dropped out of the mile race at the National AAU track and field meet Sunday.

The heralded rematch between Ryun and Marty Liquori, who topped him last week with an NCAA record of 3:57.7, quickly turned into no match at all as Liquori won the race in 3:59.5.

Olympic record holder Lee Evans outdistanced th rest of the field to take the 440-yard dash with another AAU record of 45.6 seconds.

John Carlos sliced two-tenths of a second off the 220-yard dash AAU record with a 20.2 second run.

Other AAU records toppled during the meet at Miami-Dade Junior College North Stadium were the discus, the javelin and the two-mile walk events.

Ron Laird sheared his own AAU record in the two-mile walk. Laird, of the New York Athletic Club, hit the tape with a time of 13:31.6.

A Pacific Coast Club athlete, John Cole, set a discus meet record of 208 feet, 10 inches. Cole, named outstanding athlete by the meet sportswriters, beat out world record holder Jay Silvester of Provo, Utah.

Silvester's toss fell one-half inch short of Cole's meet record. The old record was set in 1967 by Gary Carlson with a throw of 205-10.

The AAU javelin record fell to a 230-pound Arizona State sophomore. Mark Murro's toss was a 284-foot, 3-inch record that bettered the old meet mark of 271-9 set by Al Centello of the U.S. Marines in 1960.

Ryun aid, "I just quit." He said he left the stadium immediately after he quit the track because "I was emotionally upset."

But he said he returned to the stadium later because "I wanted to straighten this whole thing out."

He said he didn't have any immediate plans, and said he planned to do a lot of serious thinking about his running future.

Bad Storms Rip Midwest

By The Associated Press

High winds, hail, tornadoes and torrential rains rampaged through the Midwest early today, leaving two persons dead with another missing and feared drowned.

Near Chicago, wind unroofed an apartment building injuring two persons and flattened utility poles that briefly plunged 11,000 persons in darkness. A St. Louis backout affected 75,000 persons.

Iowa officials reported a 16-year-old youth was killed when lightening set fire to his farm home near Rockwell. A Mason City youth was missing and feared drowned in the Winnebago River.

Robert Holcomb of East St. Louis, Ill., an electrical repairman, was electrocuted while working on storm damaged power lines.

Twisters and funnel clouds were sighted in Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Meanwhile, a record-breaking heat wave continued in the South, with temperatures soaring to 103 degrees in Meridian, Miss., Sunday.

In Albuquerque, N.M., the mercury hit 102 setting a June record.

Skies across most of the nation were clear.

A few thunderstorms were also developing the southeast.

Early morning temperatures around the nation ranged from 92 in Blythe, Calif., to 46 in Meachem, Ore.

McCovey Sets Record

CINCINNATI (AP)—Willie McCovey has set a National League record for the most home runs before the end of June. He cracked three homers in San Francisco's last two games with the Cincinnati Reds for 26 for the season.

Trials Slated For 2 Drivers

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today slated trials later this week for two drivers who pleaded not guilty on charges filed by local police and the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The court set a hearing Thursday for Edward C. Moore of Post Office Box 6, accused of failure to stop after his auto had been involved in a mishap resulting in property damage.

The patrol alleged he was the driver of an auto which veered off County Rd. 15 May 30 at 2:10 a. m. and struck a mailbox, a newspaper delivery tube and a guy wire supporting an Ohio Power Co. pole.

A hearing is due Wednesday for James D. Rawson, 27, of Joliet, Ill., cited Saturday night on a charge of operating a truck with an insecure load. Officers said eight coils of steel fell off Rawson's rig at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St.

Meanwhile, George T. Clark, 33, of 1556 Wyoming Ave. was ordered to pay court costs on a charge of operating an unsafe vehicle. Cited by the patrol June 16 at 7:55 p.m. on Route 7, he told the court the alleged defects in the auto now have been repaired.

Raymond M. Householder, 36, of Hammondsville was fined $20 and costs on a charge of driving a truck 70 miles an hour in a 55-mile zone on Route 30. He was cited by the patrol Sunday at 6:50 a.m. JoAnn Ruth Brown, 36, of 1281 Allen Ave. paid a fine of $10 and costs on a charge of failure to stop in the assured clear distance. She was cited by the patrol after a traffic mishap Thursday at 5:25 p.m. on Route 267.

The court ordered a warrant for the arrest of Franklin P. Watkins of 722 Sophia St., who failed to appear on a charge of driving 52 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was cited Sunday at 8:06 p.m. on St. Clair Ave. by Patrolman James Woods.

Floyd Gallagher, 18, of 822 Daisy Allen was given a suspended 10-day jail term when he pleaded guilty to a charge of operating an auto without a driver's license. He was cited by Acting Lt. William A. Devon Saturday at 4:53 a.m. in Diamond Alley.

Donna Caponi Overcomes Rain, Heat To Win Tourney

Associated Press Sports Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Exuberant Donna Caponi, who surged forward through rain and heat while her rivals wilted, had a feeling she could win the U.S. Womn's Open Golf Championship even before she teed off.

"I shot 74-76-75 and thought I was due for a good round," the stocky, 24-year-old Californian said Sunday after she nailed down the $5,000 first prize with a 69 for a two-over par 294 and her first tournament victory.

Donna, on the brink of victory after two runnerup finishes in the last three tournaments, shot a 34 in blistering, 108-degree heat on the front nine.

She then weathered a thunderstorm and interruption in play, coming in for a 35 to notch the most prestigious victory in women's golf.

The victory increased her earnings over the past five years to mort than $60,000.

"I still can't believe its me," she said over champagne after finishing play over the tight, tree-lined par 73 Scenic Hills Country Club course. "I still can't believe I actually won the Open."

The brown-haired, blue-eyed champion, nicknamed "Watusi Kid" because of her exuberance, surged in from five strokes back going into the final round.

She was challenged until the last shot by Peggy Wilson, who had wanted to win the Open since she dreamed 11 years ago of the thrill of playing bfore a huge gallery.

The plucky 30-year-old former physical education teacher matched Donna's birdie on the final green but it wasn't enough. She finished with a 73 for 295, a broken dream and a $2,500 second priz.

Kathy Whitworth, the leading money winner on the tour, charged into contention from 11 strokes off the pace with a 69 Saturday, but fell to 73 in the final round for 296 and a $1,500 third prize.

Shapely veteran Jo Ann Prentice, who never found her game after leading the second round, shot a 75 for 298 and tied for fourth with third-round leader Ruth Jessen, who shot 78 and veteran Sybil Griffin, who had 72. Each won $1,330.

Says Power Lines Hit

Israeli Announces Big Raid Made Into Egypt

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli army said today its commandos launched their deepest raid into Egypt since the 1967 Middle East war and ruptured a high tension power line linking Cairo and the Aswan Dam. But Egypt denied all knowledge of the raid.

A spokesman in Cairo said: "I contacted all authorities and power experts in Egypt and all of them reported there was no power failure or rupture of electric lines. Israelis might be the victims of false reports."

The attack Sunday night was the fourth commando raid into Egypt since the war and the closest to Cairo. The army said the commandos hit Suhaj, 240 miles south of the Egyptian capital and 135 miles west of the Egyptian-Israeli border.

As usual the army did not say how the commandos reached the target, by land or in troop-carrying aircraft. Spokesmen would only say the commando squad returned to base without suffering any casualties.

It was the third Israeli raid directed against power installations on the Nile River, coming only a few days after naval commandos attacked an Egyptian radar station on the Gulf of Suez. They claimed killing 25 Arab soldiers in that raid and destroying most of the post's installations.

It was believed the commandos in Sunday night's raid moved out of the Sinai Desert and across the Gulf of Suez south of the Suez Canal.

Besides rupturing the 500 kilovolt Cairo-Aswan line, the commandos damaged a second power line supplying Suhaj, the army said. It added the attackers met no resistance or interference on the ground.

An army spokesman said the raid took place at El-Walid Salameh, a small village near Suhaj.

In Tel Aviv, police questioned about 20 Arab suspects in connection with the city's worst bomb blast this year. Ten persons were injured today when a stolen Israeli civilian jeep packed with at least 100 pounds of explosives blew up near Tel Aviv's main entertainment strip.

Authorities said the vehicle had been stolen the night before from a Jaffa resident.

The explosion wrecked a nearby auto, damaged six others and shattered windows in several houses causing most of the casualties, police said.

It was the worst terrorist incident since an explosion in the Tel Aviv central bus station killed 1 person and wounded 51 last September.

The army also announced two Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla position inside Jordan this morning, south of the Sea of Galilee. It said Arab guerrillas fired at an army patrol an the patrol fired back without suffering any casualties.

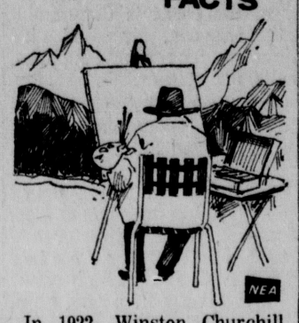
The planes were in action about 20 minutes a spokesman said.

Historical Society Seeking More Funds

PERRYSBURG, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Historical Society will seek $425,000 in state funds for work on Phase II in the restoration of Fort Meigs, a famous fort of the War of 1812 located near here.

The society has used all but $5,000 of the $160,000 appropriated for work on Phase I of the restoration program.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS



In 1922, Winston Churchill lost his cabinet post, his bid for re - election and his appendix. So, "without office, without a seat, a party or an appendix," he was forced into one of his famous "retirements." During such periods, Churchill fell back on his extraordinary versatility, writing, painting and brick-laying. He even joined the Building Workers Union in 1928.

Bomb Blast Demolishes Freight Car

WELLS, Nev. (AP) — A carload of military bombs blew up Sunday night as a Western Pacific freight train rolled through the rail siding community of Tobar 150 miles west of Salt Lake City.

"We were just riding along, and all of a sudden there were flashes and explosions," said Morris Tipton, 48, a transient from Ponca City, Okla. riding on the train Sunday and one of four persons injured.

Highway Patrolman Jerome Richards said there was one explosion but that fire threatened for a time to set off other bombs.

Richards said Army officials at the scene told him some of the bombs were of a type that become sensitive to shock when exposed to prolonged heat.

"There was no immediate explanation for the explosion" said Richards.

"The blast scattered bombs for several hundred yards around the flat sagebrush country and started several fires. They looked like pretty good sized bombs, maybe 500 pounds."

The engineer of the first of four diesel units pulling the 71-car train uncoupled his locomotive and ran it into Wells to report the accident.

Most seriously injured was conductor Taylor M. Johnson, 53, operated on at Elko, Nev., for a skull fracture. Doctors said he had a good chance of surviving.

Tipton another transient and a brakeman, Freeman J. Stevens, were treated for burns and released.

Two Army demolition experts from Ft. Douglas at Salt Lake City flew to the scene. The public was barred from the area for five miles around and the Federal Aviation Agency forbade planes to fly over.

Army authorities at the Pentagon said only conventional ordnance was involved in the shipment.

Western Pacific officials in San Francisco said the train picked up the explosives at Cornhusker Ammunition Plant in Grand Rapids, Neb., and was taking it to Port Chicago, Calif., a shipping point for Vietnam.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rabbi Louis Finkelstein of New York has presided at the first Jewish services in President Nixon's interdenominational series, and the first such religious ceremony in White House memory.

Some of the 350 guests Sunday expressed surprise when the Doxology with "Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost" was included in the order of worship.

Though counter to Judaism's basic tenets, a White House spokesman said the Doxology had been sung at previous Protestant and Roman Catholic services and Finkelstein had asked that the practice continue.

Finkelstein concluded the service by saying:

"I hope it is not presumptuous of me, in the presence of the President of the United States, to say that future historians, looking back at our generations, may say that in a period of great trials the finger of God pointed to Richard Milhous Nixon, giving him the vision and the wisdom to save the world and civilization, opening the way for our country to realize the good that the century offered mankind."

President Nixon has had seven of the services. He plans to have the sermons published, Mrs. Nixon said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fiscal year for the U.S. government ends today and as far as Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., is concerned it should be the last.

Langen, one of many congressman who would prefer to have government spending on a calendar year basis, wants an extra six months for Congress to process the budget.

Invariably, Langen says, July 1 rolls around without Congress having appropriated funds for the executive branch and "I think it is sheer folly."

House Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., adds, "We need to consider more than merely the date for the beginning of fiscal year.

"We need to consider the adoption of better legislative habits," Mahon said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Roger C. B. Morton, chairman of the Republican National Committee, will give the keynote address at the Young Republican convention opening next Sunday in Chicago.

About 1,000 delegates and their guests are expected to attend.

Capital Footnote

An estimated 50,000 people jammed the Washington Monument grounds Sunday night for a jazz and rock show. Mrs. Nixon was there to open the city's free summer park entertainment program.

Auto Demolished In Area Mishap

The auto of an Ohio motorist was demolished when it left Route 644 north of Salineville Sunday at 8:20 p.m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Mark Emerick, 21, of 4441 Jefferson St., Greenfield, failed to negotiate a curve and his 1965 model car struck an embankment, rolled over and finally came to rest on its wheels.

Emerick was cited for speeding. Officers said Emerick apparently was not treated for any injuries he may have suffered.

Rep. Brown Boosts Postal Reform Bill

NEW CARLISLE, Ohio (AP) —Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, says postal reforms he proposes in a bill currently before Congress would save this country $1 billion a year.

The bill calls for replacing the Post Office Department with a government-owned corporation, Brown said Sunday at a dedication ceremony for a new post office here.

The legislation was requested by the Nixon administration after a presidential commission recommended the new system, Brown said.

He added that this nation "has too many other problems that need the dollars presently being thrown away in a postal system that can be made to operate efficiently."

Man Scores 'Birdie' While Playing Tennis

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — Don Sieffert got a birdie Sunday—surprising since he was playing tennis, not golf.

The tennis pro was playing an exhibition match with three amateurs at Highland Park Country Club when a sparrow swooped into the path of a hard-hit serve. Sieffert's ball knocked the bird to the ground.

Harrisburg Quiet After Race Riots

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The capital city returned to normal today after six nights of curfew that began in the midst of racial violence and the fatal shooing of a Negro teenager by a policeman.

City police said they couldn't remember when a weekend had produced so few arrests.

The dusk-to-dawn curfew order expired at 5 a.m., and Mayor Albert H. Straub said in advance it wouldn't be extended as long as order as maintained State police, who had accompanied the Harrisburg force on patrols, were withdrawn late Saturday, although they were available for call.

Harrisburg police, who had been drawing 12 - hour shifts, were back on their normal eight-hour tricks.

A major fire that broke out early Sunday was being investigated by state police and fire officials. Police said arson was definitely suspected in the blaze that destroyed the Sanitary Laundry in the city's Hill section, scene of considerable violence the past week. Fire officials estimated damage in excess of $100,000.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Autograph albums first became popular in the United States in the 1820s. Writing a witty yet characteristic inscription in an album is a challenge. One fellow, criticized as being as stubborn as a mule for not making an entry in a girl's album, finally wrote: "On a mule you find two feet behind; Two feet you find before: You stand behind before you find What the two behind be for."

Senate Vote Due

Assembly Set To Tackle Appropriations Package

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Now that the on-again, off-again county income tax issue finally has been resolved, the Ohio General Assembly is expected to put in its first really productive week of business.

Most pressing item is the administration's $4.1 billion appropriations bill, covering the biennium beginning tonight at midnight.

The Senate was to vote on the bill today at an afternoon session, while the House was to rule at an evening session on 22 Senate amendments, most of which have the backing of House leaders.

The amendments include one to eliminate $2.5 million to finance a state meat inspection program, and one to change he composition of the State Controlling Board.

The administration's indecision on a tax plan for education has been blamed for the legislature's lack of progress during its 25 weeks in session.

Before Gov. James A. Rhodes withdrew his latest permissive county aincome tax proposal last week, some weary and congesting that they shut down and go home.

The administration substituted the income tax proposal with a plan to increase cigarette, utility and corporate franchise taxes.

The proposal, which is expected to produce an additional 166 million annually for education, probably will come up for a House vote before the legislature adjourns for the July 4 weekend.

Among other bills scheduled for a House vote tonight is one to authorize the Ohio Building Authority to build two, rather than one, legislative office buildings.

The bill, passed by the Senate, proposes removal of the Statehouse annex and construction of two buildings flanking the Capitol to house legislative offices, the Supreme Court and attorney general's offices.

In meetings Tuesday night, the Senate Finance Committee will consider the $23.5 million state employe pay increse bill, the Senate Ways and Means Committee will hear a measure to increase the gallonage tax on liquor and wine, and the Senate Committee on Elections, Commerce and Labor will continue hearings on a Sunday liquor sales bill and three anti-discrimination measures.

Course In 'Trivia' Offered Students At Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Students at Bowling Green State University soon may be able to major in trivia.

Trivia?

That's right, only the school refers to it by another name, "popular culture."

Bowling Green recently opened its Center for the Study of Popular Culture after two years of planning.

The only one of its kind in the country, the center emphasizes phases of American life that are not primarily intellectual or creative.

Its director, Dr. Ray B. Browne, believes the center will make education more relevant to today's mobile, changing society. He said a streamlined program for masters and doctorate degrees in popular culture is being planned.

Already, the center has collected 35,000 records, 20,000 books and hundreds of radio broadcasts underground newspapers magazines, comic books, and posters.

The items include Sears and Roebuck catalogues of the 1920s, the "Bobbsey Twins" series, National Geographic magazines since 1927 and such modern fantasies as psychedelic posters.

More than half of the Americana collection has been donated, Browne said, and donations continue to come in at the rate of about 1,000 items a month.

Browne is a leading publisher and expert in popular culture and folklore. He sees the collection as a means of tracing the development of today's culture and today's world.

As a source of nonintellectual history, Browne said, the center "is a way to make education more meaningful and more timely . . . a way to fill the growing gap between life on the campus and life in the outside world."

Browne's plans call for the school to expand the curriculum to enable students to major or minor in popular culture. Also included in the plans is a requirement that education majors take at least one course in popular culture and mass media.

2 Firemen Killed In Gas Explosion

MONROEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Exploding butane or aceteleyne tanks that ripped apart a burning shed took the lives of two firemen and injured six persons in a weekend fire in this Pittsburgh suburb.

Killed by the blast late Saturday night were Vince Mezevitch, 58, and Edward Palenchak, 45, both of Monroeville. They were members of Monroeville's No. 3 Fire Co.

One of the injured, 10-year-old Nora Stender, was in fair condition at Pittsburgh's Columbia Hospital. Five others were treated and released.

The fire erupted in a shed near the home of contractor Frank Rizzi. Just before the explosion demolished the shed, firemen thought the blaze was under control.

The dead and injured were hit by flying debris.

Police said the fire was the work of an arsonist, but the exact cause of the explosion had not been determined.

Fire Chief Dale Bittner said it appeared butane or aceteleyne tanks were stored in the shed and exploded because of the heat.

Lions Club Hears Talk On Student Eye Needs

"Architects design college rooms wrong so far as students study desks are concerned," Dr. Stephen Sinclair told members of the Lions Club during the noon meeting Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

Dr. Sinclair said when a desk is built against a wall, the student looks up and there is no place for him to relax his eyes. "The desk should be built with the chair behind it, so that when the student looks up, he has the distance across the room in which to relax his eyes."

He said this is why so many students never study at their desks.

Dr. Sinclair explained what an ophthalmologist does, discussed eye surgery, and reviewed the differences between an optician, optometrist and ophthalmologist.

Add grated cheddar cheese to biscuit mix and use tomato juice instead of other liquid when making biscuits. Delicious served with a cooked vegetable salad for lunch.

Says Power Lines Hit

Israeli Announces Big Raid Made Into Egypt

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Israeli army said today its commandos launched their deepest raid into Egypt since the 1967 Middle East war and ruptured a high tension power line linking Cairo and the Aswan Dam. But Egypt denied all knowledge of the raid.

A spokesman in Cairo said: "I contacted all authorities and power experts in Egypt and all of them reported there was no power failure or rupture of electric lines. Israelis might be the victims of false reports."

The attack Sunday night was the fourth commando raid into Egypt since the war and the closest to Cairo. The army said the commandos hit Suhaj, 240 miles south of the Egyptian capital and 135 miles west of the Egyptian-Israeli border.

As usual the army did not say how the commandos reached the target, by land or in troop-carrying aircraft. Spokesmen would only say the commando squad returned to base without suffering any casualties.

It was the third Israeli raid directed against power installations on the Nile River, coming only a few days after naval commandos attacked an Egyptian radar station on the Gulf of Suez. They claimed killing 25 Arab soldiers in that raid and destroying most of the post's installations.

It was believed the commandos in Sunday night's raid moved out of the Sinai Desert and across the Gulf of Suez south of the Suez Canal.

Besides rupturing the 500 kilovolt Cairo-Aswan line, the commandos damaged a second power line supplying Suhaj, the army said. It added the attackers met no resistance or interference on the ground.

An army spokesman said the raid took place at El-Walid Salameh, a small village near Suhaj.

In Tel Aviv, police questioned about 20 Arab suspects in connection with the city's worst bomb blast this year. Ten persons were injured today when a stolen Israeli civilian jeep packed with at least 100 pounds of explosives blew up near Tel Aviv's main entertainment strip.

Authorities said the vehicle had been stolen the night before from a Jaffa resident.

The explosion wrecked a nearby auto, damaged six others and shattered windows in several houses causing most of the casualties, police said.

It was the worst terrorist incident since an explosion in the Tel Aviv central bus station killed 1 person and wounded 51 last September.

The army also announced two Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla position inside Jordan this morning, south of the Sea of Galilee. It said Arab guerrillas fired at an army patrol an the patrol fired back without suffering any casualties.

The planes were in action about 20 minutes a spokesman said.

In 1922, Winston Churchill lost his cabinet post, his bid for re - election and his appendix. So, "without office, without a seat, a party or an appendix," he was forced into one of his famous "retirements." Bomb Blast Demolishes Freight Car

WELLS, Nev. (AP) — A carload of military bombs blew up Sunday night as a Western Pacific freight train rolled through the rail siding community of Tobar 150 miles west of Salt Lake City.

"We were just riding along, and all of a sudden there were flashes and explosions," said Morris Tipton, 48, a transient from Ponca City, Okla. riding on the train Sunday and one of four persons injured.

Highway Patrolman Jerome Richards said there was one explosion but that fire threatened for a time to set off other bombs.

Richards said Army officials at the scene told him some of the bombs were of a type that become sensitive to shock when exposed to prolonged heat.

"There was no immediate explanation for the explosion" said Richards.

"The blast scattered bombs for several hundred yards around the flat sagebrush country and started several fires. They looked like pretty good sized bombs, maybe 500 pounds."

The engineer of the first of four diesel units pulling the 71-car train uncoupled his locomotive and ran it into Wells to report the accident.

Most seriously injured was conductor Taylor M. Johnson, 53, operated on at Elko, Nev., for a skull fracture. Doctors said he had a good chance of surviving.

Tipton another transient and a brakeman, Freeman J. Stevens, were treated for burns and released.

Two Army demolition experts from Ft. Douglas at Salt Lake City flew to the scene. The public was barred from the area for five miles around and the Federal Aviation Agency forbade planes to fly over.

Army authorities at the Pentagon said only conventional ordnance was involved in the shipment.

Western Pacific officials in San Francisco said the train picked up the explosives at Cornhusker Ammunition Plant in Grand Rapids, Neb., and was taking it to Port Chicago, Calif., a shipping point for Vietnam.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rabbi Louis Finkelstein of New York has presided at the first Jewish services in President Nixon's interdenominational series, and the first such religious ceremony in White House memory.

Some of the 350 guests Sunday expressed surprise when the Doxology with "Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost" was included in the order of worship.

Though counter to Judaism's basic tenets, a White House spokesman said the Doxology had been sung at previous Protestant and Roman Catholic services and Finkelstein had asked that the practice continue.

Finkelstein concluded the service by saying:

"I hope it is not presumptuous of me, in the presence of the President of the United States, to say that future historians, looking back at our generations, may say that in a period of great trials the finger of God pointed to Richard Milhous Nixon, giving him the vision and the wisdom to save the world and civilization, opening the way for our country to realize the good that the century offered mankind."

President Nixon has had seven of the services. He plans to have the sermons published, Mrs. Nixon said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fiscal year for the U.S. government ends today and as far as Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., is concerned it should be the last.

Langen, one of many congressman who would prefer to have government spending on a calendar year basis, wants an extra six months for Congress to process the budget.

Invariably, Langen says, July 1 rolls around without Congress having appropriated funds for the executive branch and "I think it is sheer folly."

House Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., adds, "We need to consider more than merely the date for the beginning of fiscal year.

"We need to consider the adoption of better legislative habits," Mahon said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Roger C. B. Morton, chairman of the Republican National Committee, will give the keynote address at the Young Republican convention opening next Sunday in Chicago.

About 1,000 delegates and their guests are expected to attend.

"The people want reform now, not later"—Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., on income tax reform.

Capital Footnote

An estimated 50,000 people jammed the Washington Monument grounds Sunday night for a jazz and rock show. Mrs. Nixon was there to open the city's free summer park entertainment program.

Auto Demolished In Area Mishap

The auto of an Ohio motorist was demolished when it left Route 644 north of Salineville Sunday at 8:20 p.m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Mark Emerick, 21, of 4441 Jefferson St., Greenfield, failed to negotiate a curve and his 1965 model car struck an embankment, rolled over and finally came to rest on its wheels.

Emerick was cited for speeding. Officers said Emerick apparently was not treated for any injuries he may have suffered.

Rep. Brown Boosts Postal Reform Bill

NEW CARLISLE, Ohio (AP) —Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, says postal reforms he proposes in a bill currently before Congress would save this country $1 billion a year.

The bill calls for replacing the Post Office Department with a government-owned corporation, Brown said Sunday at a dedication ceremony for a new post office here.

The legislation was requested by the Nixon administration after a presidential commission recommended the new system, Brown said.

He added that this nation "has too many other problems that need the dollars presently being thrown away in a postal system that can be made to operate efficiently."

Man Scores 'Birdie' While Playing Tennis

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP) — Don Sieffert got a birdie Sunday—surprising since he was playing tennis, not golf.

The tennis pro was playing an exhibition match with three amateurs at Highland Park Country Club when a sparrow swooped into the path of a hard-hit serve. Sieffert's ball knocked the bird to the ground.

Harrisburg Quiet After Race Riots

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The capital city returned to normal today after six nights of curfew that began in the midst of racial violence and the fatal shooing of a Negro teenager by a policeman.

City police said they couldn't remember when a weekend had produced so few arrests.

The dusk-to-dawn curfew order expired at 5 a.m., and Mayor Albert H. Straub said in advance it wouldn't be extended as long as order as maintained State police, who had accompanied the Harrisburg force on patrols, were withdrawn late Saturday, although they were available for call.

Harrisburg police, who had been drawing 12 - hour shifts, were back on their normal eight-hour tricks.

A major fire that broke out early Sunday was being investigated by state police and fire officials. Police said arson was definitely suspected in the blaze that destroyed the Sanitary Laundry in the city's Hill section, scene of considerable violence the past week. Fire officials estimated damage in excess of $100,000.

Senate Vote Due

Assembly Set To Tackle Appropriations Package

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Now that the on-again, off-again county income tax issue finally has been resolved, the Ohio General Assembly is expected to put in its first really productive week of business.

Most pressing item is the administration's $4.1 billion appropriations bill, covering the biennium beginning tonight at midnight.

The Senate was to vote on the bill today at an afternoon session, while the House was to rule at an evening session on 22 Senate amendments, most of which have the backing of House leaders.

The amendments include one to eliminate $2.5 million to finance a state meat inspection program, and one to change he composition of the State Controlling Board.

The administration's indecision on a tax plan for education has been blamed for the legislature's lack of progress during its 25 weeks in session.

Before Gov. James A. Rhodes withdrew his latest permissive county aincome tax proposal last week, some weary and congesting that they shut down and go home.

The administration substituted the income tax proposal with a plan to increase cigarette, utility and corporate franchise taxes.

The proposal, which is expected to produce an additional 166 million annually for education, probably will come up for a House vote before the legislature adjourns for the July 4 weekend.

Among other bills scheduled for a House vote tonight is one to authorize the Ohio Building Authority to build two, rather than one, legislative office buildings.

The bill, passed by the Senate, proposes removal of the Statehouse annex and construction of two buildings flanking the Capitol to house legislative offices, the Supreme Court and attorney general's offices.

In meetings Tuesday night, the Senate Finance Committee will consider the $23.5 million state employe pay increse bill, the Senate Ways and Means Committee will hear a measure to increase the gallonage tax on liquor and wine, and the Senate Committee on Elections, Commerce and Labor will continue hearings on a Sunday liquor sales bill and three anti-discrimination measures.

Course In 'Trivia' Offered Students At Bowling Green

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) —Students at Bowling Green State University soon may be able to major in trivia.

Trivia?

That's right, only the school refers to it by another name, "popular culture."

Bowling Green recently opened its Center for the Study of Popular Culture after two years of planning.

The only one of its kind in the country, the center emphasizes phases of American life that are not primarily intellectual or creative.

Its director, Dr. Ray B. Browne, believes the center will make education more relevant to today's mobile, changing society. He said a streamlined program for masters and doctorate degrees in popular culture is being planned.

Already, the center has collected 35,000 records, 20,000 books and hundreds of radio broadcasts underground newspapers magazines, comic books, and posters.

The items include Sears and Roebuck catalogues of the 1920s, the "Bobbsey Twins" series, National Geographic magazines since 1927 and such modern fantasies as psychedelic posters.

More than half of the Americana collection has been donated, Browne said, and donations continue to come in at the rate of about 1,000 items a month.

Browne is a leading publisher and expert in popular culture and folklore. He sees the collection as a means of tracing the development of today's culture and today's world.

As a source of nonintellectual history, Browne said, the center "is a way to make education more meaningful and more timely . . . a way to fill the growing gap between life on the campus and life in the outside world."

Browne's plans call for the school to expand the curriculum to enable students to major or minor in popular culture. Also included in the plans is a requirement that education majors take at least one course in popular culture and mass media.

2 Firemen Killed In Gas Explosion

MONROEVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Exploding butane or aceteleyne tanks that ripped apart a burning shed took the lives of two firemen and injured six persons in a weekend fire in this Pittsburgh suburb.

Killed by the blast late Saturday night were Vince Mezevitch, 58, and Edward Palenchak, 45, both of Monroeville. They were members of Monroeville's No. 3 Fire Co.

One of the injured, 10-year-old Nora Stender, was in fair condition at Pittsburgh's Columbia Hospital. Five others were treated and released.

The fire erupted in a shed near the home of contractor Frank Rizzi. Just before the explosion demolished the shed, firemen thought the blaze was under control.

The dead and injured were hit by flying debris.

Police said the fire was the work of an arsonist, but the exact cause of the explosion had not been determined.

Fire Chief Dale Bittner said it appeared butane or aceteleyne tanks were stored in the shed and exploded because of the heat.

Lions Club Hears Talk On Student Eye Needs

"Architects design college rooms wrong so far as students study desks are concerned," Dr. Stephen Sinclair told members of the Lions Club during the noon meeting Friday at the Travelers Hotel.

Dr. Sinclair said when a desk is built against a wall, the student looks up and there is no place for him to relax his eyes. "The desk should be built with the chair behind it, so that when the student looks up, he has the distance across the room in which to relax his eyes."

He said this is why so many students never study at their desks.

Dr. Sinclair explained what an ophthalmologist does, discussed eye surgery, and reviewed the differences between an optician, optometrist and ophthalmologist.

Four Killed In Shootings

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four persons were fatally wounded--one during an incident involving white and Negro youths--in separate shootings late Saturday and Sunday in three Southwestern Ohio cities.

In Middletown, Wayne Chester, 19, was shot to death Saturday night and another white youth was knifed at a tavern. Butler County police were investigating the incident today and were holding four Negroes on charges of juvenile delinquency and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. All deny any knowledge of the shooting and knifing.

Steven Wagers, 19, of Hamilton was treated and released from Middletown Hospital for a knife cut on the chin. He said he learned that there were several Negro youths outside the tavern and when he walked to the door to see, he was slashed. Police ssaid the shooting occurred about the same time.

Ray Carmack, about 50, allegedly shot his wife — seriously — and then killed himself at their home in Hamilton Sunday after an off - duty policeman asked him to put down his gun.

Police said that Carmack reportedly shot his wife, Elsa, also about 50, during a quarrel and then began to walk away from the house. Hamilton Sgt. Ben Fox, who lives near the house, said he saw Carmack with a gun which Carmack pointed at him. Fox said he tried to talk Carmack into putting the weapon down, but he turned it on himself.

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

Light The Candles, Liberace's Back.

In his magnificently rococo 27-room palace, overflowing with priceless bric-a-brac, jewel-encrusted pianos and more than a score of portraits of its owner, Wladziu Valentino Liberace talked of television past and present.

Cecil Smith

"You really can't compare the two," he said, moving through windowed rooms, "and personally I think something is lost that we used to have. There was a simplicity, an intimacy that I think you don't find in television now."

He flashed a glittering, dimpled smile.

"I CAN'T complain. It has sent people out of their houses, and they're coming to my concerts."

He paused and said: "You must see this. It's the Tom Mix silver. Did you know he was a great collector? Look at this cup. See the 'M' monogram. Isn't it exquisite?"

For the first time in a dozen years, Liberace will be back this summer on the air weekly with a series of 10 shows made in England that CBS will offer in place of the Red Skelton show, beginning July 15.

LIBERACE said they are very elaborate shows involving full symphony orchestras, stunning costumes and sets and guest stars of the caliber of Jack Benny, Lena Horne and Terry-Thomas.

"It's surprising how far $100,000 will go in London," he said. "For example, I do my Palladium shows there for $82,000. It would cost a quarter of a million to do the same show in this country.

"I think we spent not more than $12,000 for any one of the shows in the old half-hour series. We didn't know what writers were. For example, when I wanted to play 'Kitten on the Keys,' one of the stagehands went out in the alley and found a cat to put on the piano. In London, I used a dog in one show which arrived not only with its trainer but its stand-in!

"WE MADE 113 shows in the old series. It had a net profit of $17 million before I took it off the air. I own all the shows. I won't let them be run now. There are some bootleg prints around.

"Recently, there was a big spurt in my record sales in Australia and we checked and, sure enough, a station was playing bootleg films from the old series."

In recent years, Liberace has made hay (and lots of it) kidding his flamboyant, candelabra-and-sequined image in nightclubs and concert halls around the world. He's a highly gifted comedian for all the gold lame jackets and unabashed momism. But the old shows took themselves very seriously.

"We couldn't do any kidding," said Liberace, "we had all those banks sponsoring us. Now, of course, there are no taboos, anything goes, and on these new shows we have a lot of fun."

IN THE QUARTER century since TV turned a saloon pianist into an international celebrity, one thing has become very clear: he is a master showman.

Even the princely palace in the Hollywood Hills he maintains as part of his public image, and he has had wars with Internal Revenue, claiming it as a business expense. He kids about his shimmering wardrobe ("If I wore these suits on the street I'd be arrested") but he knows their shock value on a stage.

Of more weekly television, he said: "I wouldn't have the time. I'm almost solidly booked every year. I worry about overexposure. I think of these shows as 10 specials. I'd love to do 10 each year. But as for doing a series, doing 30 — I don't think so."

Sen. Young Involved In Cat-Dog Dispute

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Senator Stephen M. Young has stepped into a cat-and-dog fight with officials of suburban Maple Heights.

Young has urged Maple Heights voters to campaign against any official supporting a proposed city ordinance which would prohibit each household from keeping more than two animals.

Cleveland Woman Wins Pageant Title

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Kathleen Polster, 22, of East Cleveland, the wife of Army Lt. Harmon Polster who is stationed in Vietnam has been crowned Miss Cleveland and will compete for the Miss Ohio title in the Miss World pageant Aug. 8-9.

Miss World pageants do not bar married women. Competing before marriage as Kathleen Prouty, she was Miss Columbus and twice was runnerup in Miss Ohio contests in the Miss Universe pageant.

Four Killed In Shootings

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four persons were fatally wounded--one during an incident involving white and Negro youths--in separate shootings late Saturday and Sunday in three Southwestern Ohio cities.

In Middletown, Wayne Chester, 19, was shot to death Saturday night and another white youth was knifed at a tavern. Butler County police were investigating the incident today and were holding four Negroes on charges of juvenile delinquency and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. All deny any knowledge of the shooting and knifing.

Steven Wagers, 19, of Hamilton was treated and released from Middletown Hospital for a knife cut on the chin. He said he learned that there were several Negro youths outside the tavern and when he walked to the door to see, he was slashed. Police ssaid the shooting occurred about the same time.

Ray Carmack, about 50, allegedly shot his wife — seriously — and then killed himself at their home in Hamilton Sunday after an off - duty policeman asked him to put down his gun.

Police said that Carmack reportedly shot his wife, Elsa, also about 50, during a quarrel and then began to walk away from the house. Hamilton Sgt. Ben Fox, who lives near the house, said he saw Carmack with a gun which Carmack pointed at him. Fox said he tried to talk Carmack into putting the weapon down, but he turned it on himself.

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

Light The Candles, Liberace's Back.

In his magnificently rococo 27-room palace, overflowing with priceless bric-a-brac, jewel-encrusted pianos and more than a score of portraits of its owner, Wladziu Valentino Liberace talked of television past and present.

Cecil Smith

"You really can't compare the two," he said, moving through windowed rooms, "and personally I think something is lost that we used to have. There was a simplicity, an intimacy that I think you don't find in television now."

He flashed a glittering, dimpled smile.

"I CAN'T complain. It has sent people out of their houses, and they're coming to my concerts."

He paused and said: "You must see this. It's the Tom Mix silver. Did you know he was a great collector? Look at this cup. See the 'M' monogram. Isn't it exquisite?"

For the first time in a dozen years, Liberace will be back this summer on the air weekly with a series of 10 shows made in England that CBS will offer in place of the Red Skelton show, beginning July 15.

LIBERACE said they are very elaborate shows involving full symphony orchestras, stunning costumes and sets and guest stars of the caliber of Jack Benny, Lena Horne and Terry-Thomas.

"It's surprising how far $100,000 will go in London," he said. "For example, I do my Palladium shows there for $82,000. It would cost a quarter of a million to do the same show in this country.

"I think we spent not more than $12,000 for any one of the shows in the old half-hour series. We didn't know what writers were. For example, when I wanted to play 'Kitten on the Keys,' one of the stagehands went out in the alley and found a cat to put on the piano. In London, I used a dog in one show which arrived not only with its trainer but its stand-in!

"WE MADE 113 shows in the old series. It had a net profit of $17 million before I took it off the air. I own all the shows. I won't let them be run now. There are some bootleg prints around.

"Recently, there was a big spurt in my record sales in Australia and we checked and, sure enough, a station was playing bootleg films from the old series."

In recent years, Liberace has made hay (and lots of it) kidding his flamboyant, candelabra-and-sequined image in nightclubs and concert halls around the world. He's a highly gifted comedian for all the gold lame jackets and unabashed momism. But the old shows took themselves very seriously.

"We couldn't do any kidding," said Liberace, "we had all those banks sponsoring us. Now, of course, there are no taboos, anything goes, and on these new shows we have a lot of fun."

IN THE QUARTER century since TV turned a saloon pianist into an international celebrity, one thing has become very clear: he is a master showman.

Even the princely palace in the Hollywood Hills he maintains as part of his public image, and he has had wars with Internal Revenue, claiming it as a business expense. He kids about his shimmering wardrobe ("If I wore these suits on the street I'd be arrested") but he knows their shock value on a stage.

Of more weekly television, he said: "I wouldn't have the time. I'm almost solidly booked every year. I worry about overexposure. I think of these shows as 10 specials. I'd love to do 10 each year. But as for doing a series, doing 30 — I don't think so."

Sen. Young Involved In Cat-Dog Dispute

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Senator Stephen M. Young has stepped into a cat-and-dog fight with officials of suburban Maple Heights.

Young has urged Maple Heights voters to campaign against any official supporting a proposed city ordinance which would prohibit each household from keeping more than two animals.

DON'T LET DEATH TAKE THE DRIVER'S SEAT

This July 4th Holiday Week will not only be a big holiday but will also be the start of many people's vacations, so let's face facts, live drivers are safe drivers. Whether you think you're the world's greatest driver or not, there's always the other guy. The guy who runs the light, who drinks too much, who didn't see the sign. Over the holiday, there are always more of them. And the only way to avoid serious accidents is to be a careful driver. Keep a safe and steady hand on that wheel. If you don't death can be in your driver's seat, too!

STOP

A FEW SAFETY POINTERS

- DON'T PASS ON CURVES OR HILLTOPS
- STAY CALM, REMEMBER THAT TEMPER ROBS YOU OF JUDGMENT.
- DRIVE A MECHANICALLY SAFE AUTOMOBILE AT ALL TIMES.
- DON'T DRIVE AT ALL WHEN YOU'VE HAD A DRINK
- DRIVE WITH CAUTION WHEREVER THERE MAY BE ANY CHILDREN AT PLAY.
- GIVE A SIGNAL FOR EVERY MOVE, AND GIVE AMPLE TIME FOR OTHERS TO ACT.
- TRY DRIVING WITH YOUR LIGHTS ON — IT HAS PROVED SUCCESSFUL.

. . . LET'S FOLLOW THE RULES OF SAFE DRIVING AND STAY ALIVE

IN THE INTEREST OF SAFETY, WE THE FOLLOWING, SPONSOR THIS REMINDER—IF IT PREVENTS THE INJURY OR DEATH OF JUST ONE PERSON WE WILL FEEL WELL REPAID!!

Junior Editors Quiz on CROP ROTATION

QUESTION: Why does a wise farmer not plant the same crop year after year?

ANSWER: To the wise farmer, his land is precious. He knows it will care for him and his family, but he must care for it. He must be careful not to take more of the nourishment or richness out of the soil than he can put back in various ways. It is to put back this nourishment that he applies manure or fertilizer to the fields; otherwise, the land will wear out. Different crops take out different things from the soil. The farmer uses crop rotation to prevent any one crop from taking out too much. Corn, for example, takes out much nitrogen. So farmers, after raising corn for a couple of years, often plant oats, which take out different plant foods. Alfalfa may then be planted. This, when plowed under, will restore the missing nutrients so the cycle can start again. Another reason for crop rotation (top) is that many insects, adjusted to eating certain crops, will die out if a different crop is planted. There is a kind of fly, for example, which does a great deal of damage. But farmers checkmate him by planting a rotation of corn, potatoes and clover. Disgusted, the fly leaves.

(Alvin Ward of Alexandria, Va., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. — How can I care for leather upholstery to prevent its drying out and cracking?

A. — By rubbing it occasionally (once or twice a year) with castor oil, neat's - foot oil, or a leather conditioner. On light-colored leathers, use a white conditioner or white petroleum jelly, since most oils tend to darken leather. After rubbing the oil well in with the fingertips or a soft cloth, wipe off every trace with another cloth. If using neat's-foot oil, remember that, while this is an excellent leather conditioner, it leaves a dull, rather than glossy, finish.

Q. — How can I deal with candy stains on fabrics?

A. — Almost all candy stains, except chocolate, are removable with hot water. In the case of chocolate, cleaning fluid is a better bet . . . or peroxide, if the fabric is white.

Q. — How can I improvise a good starch?

A. — The water from cooked rice makes an excellent starch.

Q. — What is a good, quick method of mending a torn lace curtain?

A. — One often - effective repair can be effected just by pressing a piece of starched lace over the tear.

Ancient Industry

STIBBINGTON, England (AP) — Archaeologists have discovered the remains of a 1,600-year-old industry in a field near here. In 10 minutes of exploration they dug up two 4th century pottery kilns, a stone floor and hundreds of pottery fragments dating from the Roman occupation of Britain.
